AND SHE KILLED HIM

Logan Kills Two Men, and His Wife Kills Him.

KNOX ARRESTED AT SACRAMENTO

But Two Parties, Those Who Violate the Law and Those Who Do Not.

The Strike in Court.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Judge Grosscup called the grand jury before him this morning and instructed them if evidence is presented that the railway managers agreed to have the mails or interstate commerce stopped they are guilty of conspiracy. Then, after hearing a statement from the foreman, the jurors decided to adjourn until Tuesday, in order to return to their homes for Sunday. In giving his consent the court said:

"It is my duty to give you further instructions. No man is above the law. The line of criminality is drawn between those who violate the law and those who do not. The fact that a man occupies a lower position does not prevent him from making known his grievances. Your door ought to be open to all who may come with evidence that is tangible and not based upon mere hearsay. It is stated in the public prints that some of our fellow citizens believe that the interference with the mails and interstate commerce was the result of a conspiracy among men higher in the roads than the employees.

"If two or more men wrongfully agree, either for the purpose of creating public sympathy or for any other purpose, to have the mails or interstate commerce stopped, they are guilty of conspiracy. If two or more men agree wrongfully among themselves for the purpose of creating public sympathy, to discharge men, intending that their discharge would stop the passage of the mails or interstate commerce, they are guilty of conspiracy. If two or more men wrongfully agree not to employ men to take the places of men who had quit work, and allowed trains to stand still in order to create public sympathy, they would be guilty of conspiracy, unless the circumstances were such that the employment of new men would lead to the danger of those men or to the public interests. Every man is entitled to bring his complaint in, if he bring it with tangible evidence. It is the duty as well as the pleasure of the district attorney to submit such evidence to you if it is presented, and it is your duty to hear it."

It is probable that the grand jury will send for the telegrams sent and received by the managers during the strike, as was done with the telegrams of Debs and other leaders of the strike. The grand jury adjourned until Tuesday, and the investigation of the railways may not begin till next week.

He Killed Two Men and Was Then Killed by His Wife.

LOVELOCK, Nev., July 13.—A triple murder, due to jealousy, occurred about twenty miles from here last night. Robert Logan shot and killed Dan Lovelock and Fred Sullivan and was in turn killed by his own wife. Logan's wife had applied for divorce, and Logan was insanely jealous of her, and threatened to kill some of her male friends. A few days ago Mrs. Logan went to Cottonwood. Logan followed and attacked Dan Lovelock, the stage driver, wounding him severely in the head. Lovelock was unable to return here, and Mrs. Logan drove the stage. She returned to Cottonwood Wednesday to bring Lovelock home. On the return trip, Mrs. Logan drove, Lovelock was on the front seat, and Fred Sullivan a passenger, was on the rear seat.

At dusk Logan rode up, armed with a Winchester, and said he was going to town with his wife. He rode on behind the stage, and after going some distance, shot Sullivan from behind, the bullet passing through his heart. Then he picked off Lovelock, and the second victim fell dead in Mrs. Logan's lap. Logan then said he was going to drive the stage to a well five miles distant, where he intended to throw the bodies of the murdered men, after which he was going to cut his wife into small pieces and throw her in after the men.

Instead she persuaded him to water the horses, and when he stooped to secure a bucket under the stage, she took a pistol from Lovelock's pocket and shot her husband. He cried for mercy, but she shot again and he fell behind the stage. She dismounted and gave him one more bullet as a settler. She left Logan's body lying in the dust and drove into town with the other bodies. Lovelock was stage proprietor and driver, and there was no known intimacy between him and the woman. The people here denounce Logan as a coward and praise Mrs. Logan's courage.

Will Benefit the Northwest.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The appointment of Senator Dolph as one of the conferees on the river and harbor bill means that many of the increases in the bill for Oregon and Washington will be retained. It is probable that the appropriation for the boat railway will now stay in the bill. Squire called up and passed the bill granting the Columbia Irrigation Company the right-of-way over the Yakima reservation. The bill has passed the house, and will no doubt be signed by the president. Squire's canal project went through the senate without the least objection. An attack was made on the boat railway, which Dolph defended.

Due to the Round Pond Trouble.

ENID, O. T., July 13.—A freight train went through a small bridge near South Enid today. A bent and braces in the bridge had been sawed. Brakeman Cordray and Harry Lyons, a painter, were injured slightly. The wrecking is supposed to be due to the Round Pond trouble. At noon nearly 1000 people began tearing up the railroad tracks here.

Knox Arrested.

SACRAMENTO, July 14.—Harry Knox, leader of the strikers, was arrested this afternoon on a warrant charging him with connection in ditching the train Wednesday. His bonds are fixed at $25,000.

To Work Up Sentiment.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Directors of the American Railway Union have decided to send out men to work up a sentiment in favor of the order.

DIAMOND MOLECULES.

The Gem Is Said to Be a Mass of Very Lively Atoms.

Sir R. Ball, who is fond of revealing the marvelous, has been studying the mysterious action of molecules; and what he has to say concerning the movements of the molecules of a diamond is as truly surprising as anything he has told us about the sun and the planets. Every body is composed of a multitude of extremely, but not infinitely, small molecules, and it might be thought, says Sir Robert (according to a contributor in the Newcastle [England] Chronicle), that in a solid, at all events, the little particles must be clustered together in a compact mass. But the truth is far more wonderful. Were the sensibility of our eyes increased so as to make them a few million times more powerful, it would be seen that the diamond atoms, which form the perfect gem when aggregated in sufficient myriads, are each in a condition of rapid movement of the most complex description.

Each molecule would be seen swinging to and fro with the utmost violence among the neighboring molecules and quivering from the shocks it receives from encounters with other molecules, which occur millions of times in each second. The hardness and impenetrability so characteristic would at first sight seem to refute the supposition that it is no more than a cluster of rapidly moving particles; but the well-known impenetrability of the gem arises from the fact that, when attempt is made to press a steel point into the stone, it fails, because the rapidly moving molecules of the stone batter the metal with such extraordinary vehemence that they refuse to allow it to penetrate or even to mark the crystallized surface. When glass is cut with a diamond the edge which seems so hard is really composed of rapidly moving atoms. The glass which is cut is also merely a mass of moving molecules and what seems to happen is that as the diamond is pressed forward its several particles, by their superior vigor, drive the little particles of glass out of the way.
