THAYER AS A PETTIFOGGER.

About the smallest piece of pettifogging we have heard of in years was that of Judge Thayer before U. S. Judge Bellinger Tuesday in making a request for extension of time in the matter of sentencing C. J. Mulkey. Judge Bellinger should have brought him up with a round turn, for it was a piece of business not compatible with Bellinger's position—an attempt to influence the court by flourishing the name of the president. He said: "Behind me is sitting one nearer and closer to the president of the United States than all others. He is a man who has had good opportunities to judge of Mr. Mulkey's standing in the community in which he lives, and who seeks to have a further continuance granted." The man Mr. Thayer alluded to was Dr. Dean Richmond Babbett.

Thayer says, in effect, that because a friend of the president wanted to see a favor extended by a U. S. judge, who had been appointed by that president, that it was the duty of that judge to accommodate that friend. If the time has come when Mr. Cleveland's friends are to interfere in the administration of justice, we would suggest that they receive not only the contempt with which Judge Bellinger treated this masterful argument of Thayer's, but that the civil service be extended to selecting the president's friends for him. We do not believe the president would countenance Babbett's interference, and that when he hears of it Mr. Babbett will not be as close to the president as he claims to be.

A strong effort has been made to keep Mulkey out of the penitentiary on account of his relatives. This has been accomplished. He has had more than six months in which to produce further testimony, and has failed to find any. There was no reason why the sentence should have been deferred before, and none now. Had it been a plain, everyday citizen, instead of an Hon., his sentence would have been half served out now. There is one law for the rich and another for the poor, and, while we have nothing personally against Mr. Mulkey, we are pleased to note that the U. S. judge has had backbone enough to sentence him, in spite of the fact that a man near the president didn't want it done.

RED, AND WHITE SAVAGES.

The latest about the strike situation is that hereafter the distribution of United States troops is to be made on a different plan. Instead of being scattered over the frontier to hold in check the red savages, they are to be stationed at the large cities to hold the white ones in subjection. The civilized West can now speak slightly of the Wild and Woolly East. It is no longer the wild red man of the plains that requires the presence of an army to maintain peace, but the uncivilized savage of the great business centers. It is not Logan, the chief of the Mingoes, who addresses his people, but Debs, the chief of the Jingoists.

What a vast field is opened up thereby for the modern novel writer, and when the Fenimore Cooper of the occasion comes to the front, how thrilling will be the tales of Poinatowsky, the chief; Jesu Marie Antoine Bacigaluppi Giovanni Dondoro, the untutored savage of Butchertown, etc.

But seriously, for the circumstances are serious, does it not speak loudly in favor of preventing a further influx of this kind of savages? The whites drove the Indian across the continent. Does it not look as though they in turn would be driven out, unless something is done to check the matter now?

The Oregonian recently made a bitter attack on California and Californians, particularly the "venal press." It accused the men of cowardice, and generally gave everything and everybody south of the southern boundary of Oregon a roasting. Of course so great an insult could not go unnoticed, and now the Oregonian is getting such a roasting as few papers have ever received. The beauty of it is that our big contemporary is taking it as meekly as if it wasn't in it.

The appointment of Arnold to the office of surveyor general of this state, will not create any enthusiasm among democrats. Indeed he has never been heard of out of Umatilla county, and doubt is expressed as to his being a democrat. However if he said "I am a democrat" it had to go with this administration for who can find the measuring stick by which democracy may be sized up?

We greatly admire the editorial pages of our esteemed contemporary the Tomahawk, though not indorsing all the political ideas therein expressed; but surely that paper has been ungenerous and unkind to the profession in crediting the writing of speeches delivered in the U. S. senate to newspaper correspondents. The newspapers of these degenerate days have sins enough of their own to answer for. A six-column apology would be about the correct thing, and should be tendered at once.

The federal troops are leaving Chicago and the militia are preparing to go home. This is a pretty sure sign that the authorities, at least, consider the strike as ended.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. R. B. Hood went to Portland this morning.

Mr. J. P. VanHouten and son are in from Hay Creek.

Mr. S. F. Remington, train dispatcher, is in the city.

Mrs. D. M. French and children left this morning for Ilwaco.

Fred M. Smith, the leading sheepman of Paulina, is in the city.

Mr. Oscar Fredenburg, postmaster at Mt Hood, is in the city.

Mr. Fred Rogers, the popular traveling man of California, is in the city.

Mr. H. H. Sutcliffe of Goldendale was in the city yesterday, going to Portland today.

Mrs. Eliza Young came up from Portland last night and is visiting her son Sidney.

Thomas M. Spencer, the traveling men's mentor and post prandial favorite, is in the city.

Col. J. B. Eddy and family were in the city yesterday, and left this morning for the seaside.

Harry Bulger, after a week's visit to relatives at 8-Mile, left for home, Albina, this morning.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson and son, Parker, Miss Georgia Sampson and several others went to Collins' landing this morning.

Mr. Geo. W. McCoy came in from Wapinitia yesterday and left for Portland this morning. Mr. McCoy is engaged in constructing irrigating canals, and is in charge of that being built at Wapinitia.

Messrs. C. H. Gilbert and K. Otaki, the fish experts, arrived here last night from Sherr's bridge, bringing with them a basket supposed by the curious to contain fish eggs, opal seed, snakes and 1001 other things. At least those were the suggestions we heard as the delayed passengers who had nothing else to do, held a verbal inquest on it.

THE INDIGO BIRD.

A Little Songster Who is Highly Prized in Europe.
The indigo bird is about the size of a German canary, and of a deep blue all over, with a metallic luster in certain lights that adds much to his beauty. A graceful little fellow inhabiting a lightly-wooded country, where he pours forth his melody from the top of some high tree to his nesting mate below. His song, says Harper's Young People, though not very powerful, is extremely sweet, and combined with his rich plumage makes him a desirable cage-bird. Large numbers are shipped to Europe every year, showing that he is appreciated there. He is not hard to tame, and should be fed, as a regular thing, on canary-seed—now and then a little green food; while in his estimation no kinds of insects come amiss.

If given the freedom of the room for a flight he is very happy, and will catch flies in a rapid way. Very graceful when flying, the indigo bird will dart from one side of the room to the other, stopping instantly, and hovering on the wing for a moment, like the humming-bird. He is inquisitive, too, and is apt to fly into any dark hole that he finds. The writer once nearly lost his bird by his lighting on a wire fender to gaze up the dark chimney.

To restore gray hair to its natural color as in youth, cause it to grow abundant and strong, there is no better preparation than Hall's Hair Renewer.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now weigh 150 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."
