GORMAN ON GROVER

He Makes a Bitter Attack on the President.

JAPAN OPENS THE COREAN WAR

The Labor Leaders in Court, But Say They Will Fight Until Congress Decides Their Appeal.

The Democratic War.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The battle over the conferees report on the tariff bill was resumed in the senate today. The attendance is larger than on Friday, and the fight is confined to the democrats, the republicans conceding it to be their fight. President pro-tem Harris is in the chair. After the routine business was finished Voorhees called for the conference report on the tariff bill, and then the storm broke. Gorman addressed the senate at length, speaking from carefully prepared notes. After reviewing the condition of the senate which made a compromise necessary, he delivered his defiance in dramatic tones. The infamous calumnies heaped on the head of the senate, forced from his lips, he said, this plain, unvarnished statement. Referring to the president's letter, he said: "It is the most uncalled for, the most extraordinary, and the most unwise communication that ever came from a president of the United States." Gorman then proceeded to detail the manner in which to meet the objections and secure the support of certain disaffected democrats, the changes had been agreed upon. He stated emphatically that during this work, Vest and Jones had frequent conferences with Cleveland himself. He charged directly every one of the senate amendments had been seen by Secretary Carlisle before they were agreed upon. He read the interview with Secretary Carlisle on April 30th, in which the secretary gave this same bill his sweeping endorsement.

"The secretary of the treasury necessarily spoke in a great measure for the president on matters relating to his department," said Gorman. In response to an appeal from Gorman, Jones of Arkansas related a conversation he had with President Cleveland before he proposed the Jones amendments to the tariff bill. He said he told the president he would not go one step further with the compromise measure until he was assured it would have the president's support. The president told him he would favor almost any compromise to secure the passage of the bill. Vilas asked whether President Cleveland had not expressed a desire for free coal and iron? Jones replied he had, but had urged the senate to get the compromise bill through.

Gorman resumed with one of the most sensational references heard in the senate for many a day. He said the senate had been traduced. Attempt had been made to try and gibbet them before the country. Charges had been "foully made coming from distinguished sources," and these must be met and refuted. These charges were echoed by men who chirped when he talked. The senators who had been traduced had fought for the tariff reform bill when "cowards in high places would not show their heads." He said he could conceive of no reason for the remarkable action taken by the president unless perhaps the one responsible for it was "condemned by vanity" in having the country regard him as the author of all that was right in the tariff reform bill. Never before since the declaration of independence had the president of the United States been guilty of such violation of the spirit of the constitution as had Cleveland in writing his letter to Chairman Wilson. Gorman had Blackburn read an extract from Washington's farewell address about the encroachment of the executive on the powers of congress as subversive of the principles of the republic. "The liberty of the senate has been invaded," he said, in thunderous tone, "but we stand here to maintain our rights and the rights of the people, though a thousand hirelings write us down and traduce us."

They Will Fight to a Finish.
CHICAGO, July 23.—What is considered by labor leaders as one of the most important legal battles in this nation's history was begun in the United States circuit court today when President Debs, Vice-President Howard, Secretary Keifer and Director Rogers, officers of the American Railway Union, filed their answer to the contempt rule. The defense proposes to carry the case to the supreme court in the event of an adverse decision here, and if defeated will appeal to congress.

Stage Driver Killed at Government Camp.

PORTLAND, July 23.—Word was received here that two masked men held up the Mount Hood stage near Government Camp this morning. The driver, a man named Bromfield, was shot and killed and one of the horses suffered the same fate. The stage contained six or seven ladies who were relieved of all their valuables. A posse has gone in pursuit of the highwaymen.

The Senate Bill or None.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A gentleman who is very close to the Gorman-Brice wing of the senate, is positive that the assertion that the tariff bill will either be the senate or the McKinley bill, will be proven correct. The senators are indignant at the president, and will not consent to any concession or compromise. The house must come to the senate and concede everything, or there will be no tariff legislation.

In Favor of the Railroad.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Secretary Smith today affirmed the action of the general land office in rejecting the applications in the cases of Ferdinand Garbarro, Theodore Barlan, Isaac L. Williams, Zerafin Wunderle, Lou Wark, James Brown, John Anderson and Timothy Healy to enter lands near Oregon City on the ground of a previous patent given to the Oregon & California railroad.

Issue Joined in the Courts.

CHICAGO, July 23.—An answer was filed today by the officers of the American Railway Union in the contempt proceedings before the United States court, growing out of the alleged violation of the federal injunction against interference with the mails and interstate commerce. The answer contains only specific denials of the allegations contained in the information.

Try Troops on These.

UNIONTOWN, Penn., July 23.—This morning a bomb was exploded under the house of a non-union man named Dunbar. The house was literally blown to pieces, and that the family escaped uninjured, is miraculous. Nearly 2000 strikers have gathered here today to attend a meeting; they are in an ugly mood, most of them drinking and all armed.

South Carolina Opens Its Saloons.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 23.—Governor Tillman issued a proclamation today declaring that all state liquor dispensaries would be opened August 1st. Although there is no further armed resistance to the state militia in their efforts to close saloons run by individuals, the law is looked on with disfavor, and trouble will begin as soon as the dispensaries are again opened.

Drowned in the Lake.

HARRISON, Idaho, July 23.—Frank Brammel and Alfred Mott of Pullman, Wash., were drowned in St. Joe lake while swimming horses last evening. Frank was the son of President Brammel, of the Farmers' and Traders' bank, aged 21, and Alfred was the son of A. W. Mott, a merchant, aged 14.

Japan Opens the Fight.

LONDON, July 23.—A private dispatch says a Japanese gunboat opened fire on one of the Korean ports today.

The Wheat Market.

PORTLAND, July 23.—Wheat unchanged. San Francisco—New, seller, .90½; Chicago—Cash, .53½.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville, Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this because the remedy is a certain cure for the diseases for which it is intended and he knows it. It is for sale by Blakely & Houghton.

GOOD Food - - -
Digestion - - - Complexion - - - are all intimately connected—practically inseparable. Though the fact is often ignored, it is nevertheless true that a good complexion is an impossibility without good digestion, which in turn depends on good food.

There is no more common cause of indigestion than lard. Let the bright house-keeper use

COTTOLENE

UNDAUNTED BY POLAR COLD.

The Pursuit of Food Tempts Birds to Brave the Most Rigorous Climate.

In the countries bordering on the polar seas, where the changing seasons bring alternately the two extremes of dearth and plenty birds are more numerous in the short summer than anywhere else all the world over and in winter are absent altogether. All are immigrants there by force of circumstances. In like manner the birds of temperate climates are affected by the seasonal changes, though in a less degree, through the influence of cold and heat upon their food supplies, rather than by effect of cold upon their well-protected bodies. According to Littell's Living Age, a coat of mail is not to be compared to a coat of feathers for safety, so far as a bird's life is concerned. Layer upon layer of feathers can withstand any amount of water or any degree of cold. In proof of this, see how the delicate tern, after wintering in comparatively mild weather, go back to the ice floes of the polar sea and lay their eggs on the bare ice.

For two or three weeks the tender breast of the sea swallow is pressed against a cold block of ice. Again, as another example of the influence of food rather than climate in governing bird action, take the colony of bee-eaters. The bee-eater is a Mediterranean bird common on the southern shores of Spain and Italy, in the Grecian islands, Sicily and Malta and on the northern shores of Africa. Formerly it was quite unknown in the British isles, but some years ago a large orchard of fig trees was planted near Brighton, and the bee-eaters discovered the fact and come over to share the spoil. Doubtless the nightingales told them the story of English figs and showed them the way over. Be this as it may, the little birds from the warm shores of the Mediterranean bid fair to become established as naturalized British subjects.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New-Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawaba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Snipes & Kinersly.

Taxes in China.

The Chinese are the most lightly-taxed people in the world. They have no chancellor of the exchequer worried over budget making. All the land there belongs to the state, and a trifling sum per acre, never altered through long centuries, is paid as rent. This is the only tax in the country, and it amounts to about five dollars per head yearly.
