TUE-DAY, JULY 24, 1894

A DECAYING BODY.

The senate is indignant at the action of the president. Gorman has pulled the string on the safety valve, and the sibilant hissing of the escaping steam is audible the country over. The cause of all this overflow of oratorical sulphuretted hydrogen is the letter written by the president to Congressmen Wilson requesting him to stand firm in the fight over the tariff bill. Gorman says, and his fellow senators say he says right, that the president is usurping the authority of the senate; that he is trying to dictate to one branch of congress, and that the whole country is going to the everlasting bow-wows, because—well, because the president wrote a letter to a congressman without getting the consent of the senate, which has assumed the right to dictate to him what he shall or shall not do, forgetful of the fact that the president's opinions (unlike his appointments) are not made with the advice and consent of the senate. Besides, the senate is something of a usurper itself. The constitution provides that all measures for raising revenue shall originate in the house. Yet the senate, taking the Wilson bill as a starter, so changes it that it is no longer the same measure, and retaining only its name, originates a bill of its own. Not only does it do this, but it boldly says, "Our bill or none" to the house conferees.

The truth is, the country is exceedingly tired of that fossilized gang of purchasable thieves known as the United States senate. It is no longer a body of statesmen, but a gang of corporation henchmen fattening at the public crib, selling the rights of the citizen to private corporations, and turning the American laborer over to the Havemeyers, Searles and Pullmans to be plundered. We care nothing about the merits of the fight. If the democratic brethren want to pull each other's hair because neither of them know what else to do, they are welcome to do so. It is not our fight, and while they are fighting one another the country is safe. The senators, however, want to crawl down off the perch, and instead of posing as a dignified body, learn that the great mass of the American people have more respect for an Indian or a Chinaman than for the venal and corrupt body known as the United States senate.

There is one consolation in dwelling on the subject, and that is that in the near future either the senators will be elected by the people, instead of by the corporations, or else there will be no senate.

A RISKY EXPERIMENT.

From the ashes of Debsism has risen the idea of making the federal troops useful. The ease with which they did things the militia was powerless to accomplish, has awakened the public to the possibilities of using the troops for other utilitarian purposes. It is proposed to have the government run trains managed by enlisted men; to put the management of the Indians in control of the army, and lastly to put the military in charge of the customs service on the northern border.

It is a curious making of history, as well as making of the country, that is upon us just now. The doctrine of states rights is being weakened, and the fear of a strong centralized government is giving place to a desire for it. The country is drifting rapidly away from its old anchorings, and just where it will bring up is a problem. A firm hold on the constitution is a good anchor to windward, and if this is lost, a wreck is apt to follow. This country got along well enough for more than a hundred years with its affairs in the hands of civilians, and the attempt to put the army in charge of what have heretofore been civil departments, we fear is a serious mistake.

DO YOU WANT THE NEWS.

A newspaper is largely what its surroundings and patrons make it. A dead town naturally has a moribund paper and a bustling city will just as naturally have a live, wide awake paper. The Chronicle is spending its money to maintain the latter style of paper. It is getting the news of the outside world, as well as the local happenings, and it feels that it is entitled to liberal support. Whether the telegraphic service will be maintained and increased, depends entirely on the people of this community. If its patronage will justify it, the telegraphic service will be continued, otherwise not.

A DEAD COLONY.

The co-operative colony located at White Salmon on the Jewett property has gone to pieces. It worked all right for a little while, and then it didn't work some more. Why? Because some of the people, as always occurs, wanted to spend the money earned and the other fellows either didn't want it spent, or else desired to do the spending themselves. Then some of them were good workers and some were not, and so between crimonations and recriminations the peace and quietness of the colony was disturbed and its back was broken. It died young, but painlessly.

Dafur Dolags

Weather unchangeable, very warm and sultry. The farmers up near the timber and out on the ridge say "fair and warm weather," while we Dafurites think a shower might lay the dust and be quite acceptable.

The general health of Dafur is somewhat improved at present, whether on account of our new doctor or the settled state of the weather we are unable to say.

The haying season is about over and the farmers are doing some proper stacking this season and a great many are building larger barns and sheds and all will be on time for the thresher this year.

Mr. Harry Clarke from Portland has been visiting his friend S. E. Johnston. Col. Laing of Portland made a short visit to his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Johnston, taking home with him Miss Hazel.

Miss Gerlie Laird has returned from the agency, where she has been employed the past year.

Rev. Mr. Adams preached his farewell sermon on the 15th.

There was a dance out at Hendrix hall Friday evening. Guess they had an enjoyable time by the jolly crowd we saw going.

Mr. S. B. Johnston met with a serious and almost fatal accident Friday. He was hauling hay and while on the load driving, the double trees gave way, frightening the horse, at the same time jerking him violently. He fell with all force on the slab or stake in front of the wagon, striking on his breast and dragging him to the ground, where he was picked up insensible and in a precarious condition. Had the blow been two inches lower we shudder to think of the result. Dr. Deitrich was summoned immediately. He pronounced his injuries dangerous, but we are pleased to state this morning he is improving somewhat but great care must be taken to avoid fatal results.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Dr. Wm. B. Clowe of Walls Walls passed down this morning.

Mr. S. Waters, the Goldendale merchant, went below this morning.

Mrs. Thornbury and Mrs. T. A. Hudson and children went to Clatsop yesterday.

Mr. Geo. R. Rooper, a Boeton wool huyer, arrived this morning and will interview our wool men.

Mr. W. F. Cook, proprietor of the hotel Pendleton, went down on the Regulator this morning.

Mr. C. M. Ingram was the originator of the trip to the Cascades on the Gypsy yesterday. Mr. Ingram is a success as an originator.

Captain Pratt, superintendent of the Indian school at Carlisle, Penn., was a passenger on the Inland Star for the Locks yesterday. Lieut. Fitzgerald and wife were also among the passengers.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a cough, cold, or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from the grippe find it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and thorough recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense, and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at Snipes & Kinersley's drug store. Large size 50c and $1.

The publishers at first refused Pridoux's "Connections" because the book had no humor.

The best selling books of the present day are primers, readers, hymn books and spelling books.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville, Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this because the remedy is a certain cure for the diseases for which it is intended and he knows it. It is for sale by Blakely & Houghton.

Whether Pasteur and Koch's peculiar modes of treatment will ultimately prevail or not, their theory of blood-contamination is the correct one, though not original. It was on this theory that Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., nearly fifty years ago, formulated Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Notice to I. O. E. M. Charter Members. The Independent Order of Red Men will be instituted at K. of P. hall next Tuesday evening, July 24th, 1894. All parties interested should not fail to attend said meeting.

Malaria in any of its forms, Chills and fever, congestive chills, can be prevented or cured by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, a purely vegetable medicine, superior to calomel and quinine.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. Brockwell, Harris, Tenn., says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine, and have induced many to use it.

Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 216 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. E. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

Terrible Prisons.
It is said that the prisons of Morocco are the worst in the world. No care or attention whatever is given to the prisoners. They are left dependent on their friends for food, and if they have no friends the government provides only a bit of bread or a handful of grain daily to keep them alive.
