

PURELY VEGETABLE
 —Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're a compound of refined and concentrated botanical extracts. These tiny, sugar-coated Pellets—the smallest and the easiest to take—absolutely and permanently cure Constipation, Indigestion, Sick and Bilious Headaches, Dizziness, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels. They cure permanently, because they act naturally. They don't shock and weaken the system, like the huge, old-fashioned pills. And they're more effective. One little Pellet for a corrective or laxative—three for a cathartic. They're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

For a perfect and permanent cure of Catarrh, take Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors offer $500 reward for an incurable case.

An International Family.
 A typical southern African household described by Oliver Schriener had an English father, a half Dutch mother with a French name, a Scotch governess, a Zulu cook, a Hottentot housemaid, and a Kaffir stable boy, while the little girl who waited on the table was a Basuto.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
 By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; worse cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Help Is Wanted.
 by the women who are ailing and suffering, or weak and exhausted. And, to every such woman, help is guaranteed by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For young girls just entering womanhood; women at the critical "change of life"; women approaching confinement; nursing mothers; and every woman who is "run-down" or overworked, it is a medicine that builds up, strengthens, and regulates, no matter what the condition of the system.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and bracing nerve, and the only guaranteed remedy for "female complaints" and weaknesses. In bearing-down sensations, periodical pains, ulceration, inflammation, and every kindred ailment, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The fortune of Cecil Rhodes, premier of Cape Colony, in Africa, is set at somewhere from $60,000,000 to $75,000,000—all made in the diamond mines of that country.

Last June, Dick Crawford brought his twelve months old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and being sickly everything ran through it like water through a sieve. I give it the usual treatment in such cases, but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used, a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and pany constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this remedy. J. T. Marlow, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. DRIVERS TURN TO THE LEFT.

How a Peculiar Road Rule Observed by the English Was Originated.

"I came near having several collisions while driving in and about London on a recent visit in England, because I couldn't get the hang of turning to the left instead of the right upon meeting a vehicle, as we do in this country," said a globe-trotter to a Cincinnati Times-Star reporter a few days ago. "You know we always turn to the right in this country, and but for the vigilance of the English driver I would have been mixed up in more than one smash up. I asked dozens of Englishmen why they had such an abominable custom, and not one could tell, except that they had always done it. One day I stepped into a newspaper office and asked one of the editors. He couldn't tell. He appealed to a young reporter in the room and the boy gave the explanation that in olden times the foot traveler passed to the right that the shield on the left arm might be interposed to ward off a treacherous blow, and the right, or sword arm, be free to strike.

"Horsemen, however, usually had coats of mail to protect them, and there was more safety in being near the antagonist than in having to strike across the neck of the horse, as would have been necessary had they turned to the right. When vehicles came in use later the drivers instinctively followed the old horseback custom and turned to the left. And I believe I have found why we have fallen into the habit of turning to the right. Horses were scarce for several generations in this country after the first saddles came here, and the English custom for foot travelers naturally prevailed, for we were very English in those early days, as you know. We got in the habit of turning to the right, and when conveyances became common we kept turning to the right, because more used to it. A nation will drop into a habit as easily as an individual."

"SACRED WATER" ANALYZED.

A Scientific Examination of Some from a Well at Mecca.

A scientific analysis has lately been made in England of the Zem-Zem water from the sacred well at Mecca, which, according to the Arabs, is the well that the angel showed to Hagar, and whose water saved the life of Ishmael. After reading the results of this analysis, one cannot wonder that pilgrims who drink the water are frequently attacked by cholera. The specimen examined, says the Youth's Companion, which was hermetically sealed in tin bottles forty years ago by Sir Richard Burton during his visit to Mecca in the disguise of a dervish, contained sixty-nine grains of chlorine to the gallon. Water which contains so little as nine grains of chlorine to the gallon is ordinarily regarded as scarcely fit for human consumption.

Moreover, in the case of the Zem-Zem well, it is believed that the chlorine originates from the custom of pouring the water over the pilgrims and allowing it to run back into the well. The sacred water was found to possess an extraordinary degree of "hardness," three times as great as that of average water. It also held twenty times as much ammonia compounds as drinking water should contain.

No bacteria were discovered, but this is accounted for by the fact that the water had remained for so long a time sealed up in entire darkness. Forty years of such confinement had completely sterilized it, but the chemical impurities remained.

THE BLIND PLANT.

A Fungoid Growth That Preys Upon the Human Eye.

It may seem strange to some but, according to one of the best opticians west of the Mississippi, twenty-two per cent. of the fifty or sixty thousand blind persons in the United States were rendered so by the growth of a remarkable fungus plant which seems to be perfectly at home in the human eye. The little plant which causes this terrible affliction belongs to the lowest order of the fungi and is a single celled organism known as a coccus. It propagates simply by division—that is, a single cell, growing to its full size, splits into two or more, usually four, perfect plants, these again subdividing as before.

These plants grow upon the external covering of the eye, and soon destroy the clear medium so necessary to vision. The propagation of the mischiefmaker is very rapid, and its growth in the tissues covering the eyeball causes much irritation, cutting off the supply of nutriment, and resulting in congestion. So far as is known it is spread only by infection and must be planted directly upon suitable soil before it can grow. This, in brief, is what is known as the bacterial cause of blindness.

TRAVELING HARD WORK.

Railway Service Is Uncomfortable in Darkest India.

A graphic description of railway travel in India is sent to the Daily Graphic by its lady commissioner. As one may have to spend several days in a train, it is essential that comfortable sleeping accommodation should be provided. The seats run sideways along a carriage so that one can lie at full length upon them, and for night accommodation two extra bunks are provided above the lower ones. The weary traveler provides herself with a proper bedding kit, including two razors or quilts, made of gayly-printed cotton, and wadded like cider-down with cotton wool, a blanket or two and two pillows. One's outer clothing is removed and replaced by a lace-trimmed flannel dressing-gown. The ladies' waiting-rooms on some of the lines are models of what these should be. Baths may be had in privacy and comfort, and at some of the junctions retiring rooms are provided, furnished with couches and long chairs, in which one can rest for a few hours.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.
 It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.
 The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.
 The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.
 It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these other stones she stands.
