

SOMETHING UNUSUAL, as a medicine, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And, because of that, there's something unusual in the way of selling it. Where every other medicine of its kind only promises, this is guaranteed. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It's the only guaranteed remedy for every disease caused by a disordered liver or impure blood. Dyspepsia, Biliousness, the most stubborn Skin, Scalp and Scrofulous affections, even Consumption (or Lung-scorfula) in its earliest stages, all are cured by it.

It purifies and enriches the blood, rouses every organ into healthful action, and restores strength and vigor. In building up both flesh and strength, of pale, puny, Scrofulous children, or to invigorate and brace up the system after "Grippe," pneumonia, fevers, and other prostrating acute diseases, nothing can equal the "Discovery."

You pay only for the good you get.

There are whispers of knickerbockers or Turkish trousers for tennis girls. The trousered or divided skirted bicyclennes who travel in the wake of Mrs. Bowman and Mrs. Germain and Mrs. Cheney are no longer a novelty, though in numbers not yet a host.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo. W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakely & Houghton, druggists.

An investigation by the Kansas City Times indicates that hog raisers find it more profitable to feed wheat in the grain than to grind it. Cattle feeders, on the other hand, observe a profit in feeding the milled product of wheat.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is inclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Priano, Campbell Co., Tenn. The codfish is the most prolific fish of the sea, yielding 45,000,000 eggs each season. As many as 8,000,000, 9,000,000, and even 9,500,000 eggs have been found in a roe of a single cod.

"I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhoea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Edward Shumplik, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have sold the remedy in this city for seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for bowel complaints." 25 and 50 cent bottles of this remedy for sale by Blakely & Houghton druggists.

SMUGGLING GOODS TO MEXICO.

Baled in New York for Transportation Across the Texas Border.

Passing through Hudson street recently with a friend, says a New York Herald writer, I chanced to pass the establishment of a firm of "folders and repackers" of dry goods. Before the door were a hundred or more little bales of goods, bearing odd markings, but showing that they were destined for a firm in Texas, doing business in a town near the Mexican line.

"Do you know," asked my companion, "why those goods are put up in such small packages?"

Upon replying in the negative he continued: "They are to be smuggled across the Mexican line. The goods are purchased in their original packages and delivered here. The wooden boxes are discarded and the goods subjected to hydraulic pressure and baled. Each bale contains about thirty pieces or half the number of an ordinary dry goods case.

"The goods are then shipped to Texas, and all marks removed. When all is arranged some night the little bales are slung across the backs of mules, two bales to each animal, and with an armed escort the train proceeds over the border to some distributing point in Mexico, where the goods are sold to Mexican traders at a good profit.

"Smuggling in this manner is quite extensively carried on between this country and Mexico, the United States getting in return for its dry goods, which are the most easily handled, cheap Mexican coffee and cigars. Of course there is a suspicion that the illicit traffic is known to the custom officers of both countries and connived at, but that would be a hard matter to prove."

TALK THE "JARGON."

Mixed Tongues That German-Russo-Polish Immigrants Speak.

"He talks the jargon" is a remark often made by a despairing interpreter when he attempts to translate the language of an earnest witness, says the Philadelphia Press. "The jargon" is a recognized term for a dialect so common that it is distinguished by the delicate article from all the other numerous jargons known in the city. It is spoken by Hebrews from Poland and Russia. It consists mainly of an imperfect German, with occasional Hebrew or Polish words. Those who have studied its history say that those who speak it are descended from Hebrews who formerly lived in Germany, and spoke the German tongue.

When they migrated to Poland they preferred among themselves, as far as possible, the German language. It became somewhat corrupted, but in the main was the language spoken by those who originally left Germany. The language of Germany itself became changed in time, and now there is considerable difference between the words spoken by the Polish descendants of the German Hebrews and those spoken by educated Germans.

The difference is said to be slight when a few corruptions of the original tongue are known. Educated Germans, however, cannot understand at first the peculiar Polish-Hebrew style. It is now very common in many parts of the great east side, and shopkeepers there have to learn, not only German, but also "the jargon" of the immigrants from Poland and Russia.

FIRST OF HOOFED ANIMALS.

Supposed to Have Lived on Western Prairies 500,000 Years Ago.

In the rooms of Prof. E. D. Cope, at Philadelphia, the person fortunate enough to gain admission, says the St. Louis Republic, may see the creature which all naturalists are unanimous in pronouncing the first representative of the hoofed-animal species. The animal is not alive, neither is it entire so far as flesh and blood are concerned, but to the paleontologist, who cares only for the fossilized bones, the specimen is perfect. It is not larger than a yearling calf, and not nearly so tall, and was found in the Wind river country in Wyoming. Prof. Cope named it Therapsodus primævus when it was first discovered, giving it as his opinion that it was akin to a specimen which was found several years ago in France (the paleotherium), and which gave Cuvier and the other naturalists so much trouble to classify. At the time of the discovery of the French specimen the savants of Europe decided that it was the ancestor of "hoofed critters," but the Wind river fossil, which is easily distinguished as being a type of the same, is believed to be much more ancient. Cope's curiosity was found in rocks belonging to the eocene period and the time when it grazed on the western prairies has been placed as far back as five hundred thousand years. Every bone is perfect and in place, and the specimen could not be purchased for ten thousand dollars.

A Profitable Dream.
Tunis must be a capital place for those who live and thrive on the credulity of their fellowmen. It is said that a lady there recently announced that she had a dream, which she considered as a Divine revelation, that whoever drank the water of her cistern would not be liable to take the cholera, and she offered to furnish the water at a penny a drink. The people thronged to taste the water, and in two days more than twenty thousand persons had paid their pennies, and imagined that they had obtained immunity from the dread disease.

Clerical Presence of Mind.
An English paper tells a good story of clerical presence of mind. A curate who had entered the pulpit provided with one of the late Rev. Charles Bradley's most recent homilies, was for a moment horror-struck at the sight of Rev. Charles Bradley himself in a pew beneath him. Immediately, however, he recovered enough self-possession to be able to say: "The beautiful sermon I'm about to preach is by Rev. Charles Bradley, who I'm glad to see in good health among us assembled here."
