NEVADA HAS THE STRINGS

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, it is said, is about to begin an action to separate herself from her husband. It seems they do not get along nicely together, it being stated that she exacts too much and her husband concedes too little.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, having to draw the line somewhere, naturally objected to Mrs. Neustatter's servants wearing the Vanderbilt livery. She very properly desired the public to know the Vanderbilt uniform only accompanied the Vanderbilt family, and objected to that uniform being so used as to place her in a false position.

A WRATHY ANT.

An article in this family journal a few days ago concerning Salem and the state fair, aroused the wrath of the Statesman, which makes a personal attack on the writer hereof.

"We are happily aware of the fact that when the newspaper slyster Cradlebaugh presumes to speak as 'Eastern Oregon,' he does so in an equally representative capacity with the three London tailors who spoke for 'we, the people of England,' and it is not particularly to reply to him that this article is intended.

A careful perusal of the Statesman's statement concerning our personal and political proclivities will convince any fair-minded man that Salem is not swinish, and that there is no ill-feeling between Eastern Oregon and Salem.

BEATS THE RECORDS.

If Edward Folsom, aged 27, under arrest at Hammondport, N. Y., is as black a villain as he is painted, he is easily the worst outlaw that ever lived.

eloped with the prettiest girl in the village and after the arrest twice attempted suicide. A companion obtained money for him on forged notes. One was refused payment, and he plotted to kill the cashier.

Over thirty fires have occurred in Hammondport within the last two months. On Monday last five houses, four barns and a gristmill were destroyed.

Just for a little comparison to show that our worthy friend of the Salem Statesman is a consistent gentleman, we quote two sentences from the article in which he makes a personal attack on the editor of THE CHRONICLE. He says: "It is not our purpose now to discuss the legal aspect of the branch asylum question, as there is doubtful merit in the position of a man who stands forth and openly advocates a disregard of fundamental law which happens to stand in the way of local ambition."

It is a pity that the starving stock of Kansas and Nebraska cannot be shipped to Oregon to fatten on the ten cent wheat that is piled up through this country. If our wheat growers had the capital to purchase hogs—feeders—and put their wheat into them, we feel certain that instead of ten cents a bushel it would net from fifty to seventy cents.

August 30th has come and and is gone, the earth has not quaked and the tidal wave has not waded. The conjunction of Saturn, Jupiter and the other inhabitants of space did not affect the crust of the earth to make it heave.

What Caused the Hard Times.

From the Conductor and Driver. Judge Hubbard, of Iowa, says it is the existence of private corporations. George Gould says it is the hostility to corporations. The farmers say it is the low price in wheat.

The silver man says it is the action of Wall street. The manufacturer says it is the fear of free trade.

The consumer says it is the tariff. The debtor says it is the creditor. The creditor says it is the debtor. The democrats say it is the republicans. The republicans say it is the democrats.

The populists say it is both. The prohibitionists say it is whiskey. The preachers say it is the devil. Now, what is your idea?

A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 217 Genessee St., Lockport, N. Y., says:

"Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippe, which assumed the form of a catarrh, soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the coughing during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to lie down at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments, I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a teaspoonful of the Pectoral every night for a week, then gradually decreased the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured."

O'RAFFERTY'S LITTLE JOKE.

It Got Him a Good Threshing, and Landed Mr. Dolan in Jail.

"What have you to say to this charge of assaulting Michael Rafferty?" asked the Judge.

"O'licked 'im," replied Mr. Dolan, looking the court in the eye. "An' wid no disrespect to anybody to whom respect is due, it's hopin' Oi am that Oi done it good."

"Was there any provocation?" "They wor thot same."

"What was it?" "Oi hov a goat, yer 'anner; a foine animal, too. Does yer goat give milk?" says Rafferty to me. "It does," says Oi. "Thin," says he, "it's butter-milk." "It's as swate an' foine as any ye iver saw," says Oi. "Certainly; but it is butter-milk," says he, "an' thin we came together. Though I mus say, yer 'anner, thot whin Oi come to repate it over a few toimes an' consider the nature av the goat, Oi'm compelled to say Oi wer a bit hashy. P-dad, if the court'll give me lave, Oi'll apologize to Rafferty, so Oi will."
