SENATOR JONES REASONS.

The most sensational thing in the political line that has happened for some the republican party, in whose councils posted Corbett lost his centerboard. he has held so high a station. His action, he says, is caused by his beliefs concerning silver; beliefs which he claims are not in accord with the policy of the republican party.

Senator Jones is personally wellknown by the writer, and a personal acquaintance and contact with him serves only to give one a higher opinion of his great abilities than can be found from a knowledge of his public life only. He is an indefatigable student, and on the silver question perhaps is the best in- River. formed man in the state. That he should have joined the populists, however, is something hard to understand, if viewed only as a matter of political belief, for while the policy of the republican party may be different from Ilwaco beach. his ideas on the silver question, he is in harmony with it on all other matters. On the other hand, while agreeing with the populists on the silver question, he does not agree with them on dozens of other questions. The solution must be local field the change may be accounted them again.

Nevada has a party of its own, known as the silver party. It does not affiliate with populists, but is near that doctrine. The one central object of the Nevada silver party is to remonetize silver, and to make it a legal tender for all debts at the ratio of 16 to 1. No man can be elected to the United States senafe from Nevada, who is not a firm believer in this doctrine, and without meaning any disparagement to the Nevada senator we believe his action was taken because he wants to go back to the senate. Senator Stewart of Nevada made the same change and Senator Jones realizes the necessity of making the same play. This land. necessity is emphasized by the fact that Frank G. Newlands, son-in-law of Senator Sharon, has taken hold of the political helm in Nevada and is after Senator Jones' place. Senator Jones' allegiance has caused a change of policy. SLIGHTLY MIXED.

The Printer's Guide says:

The question of feeding wheat to hogs has been taken up by all the papers in the state. We hope that the agitation of the subject will cause the farmers to make the experiment. If the money could be had to send East and bring in a few train loads of "feeders" from the country east of us where crops are a failure, not only would the experiment be made but we believe that the fact would be demonstrated that with pork at three cents wheat can be made to yield from fifty to sixty cents per bushel.

It is said that Will Carleton considers the poem "Over the Hills to the Poor House," one of the poorest poems he ever wrote. It is seldom an author is so close a measurer of his own ability. It is not only one of the poorest he ever wrote, but at the same time one of his best. Will Carleton's poetry is like hash with the onions left out, or circus lemonade or any other thing that is the synonym, so to speak, for insipidity.

Latest accounts from the burned districts of Minnesota and Wisconsin indicate that the loss of life will be less than at first reported. Up to date a careful account has been kept, and the number of known dead is considerably less than 400. Heavy rains have fallen in most of the burned sections, and it is be-

Governor Waite has been renominated by the populists. This is the gentleman who was going to ride through blood up to his horses' bits, but forgot the way to Cripple Creek when the riots were going on there. The centerboard dropped out of his valor too.

Portland has a sensation in the shape of a haunted call box, from which some ghostly policeman sends in calls for the patrol wagon, which he always wants in a hurry. From this latter fact we judge that the spirit is not that of a Portland policeman.

It seems assured now that Corbett and Jackson will not fight. They met time is the action of Senator Jones of recently and had perfected arrangements Nevada in renouncing his allegiance to for a battle; but before the money was No Better Medicine, and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where dicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recomded me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."-II. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.
