THE IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

The irrigation congress is in session at Denver. We are a firm believer in irrigation, having been raised in a country where nothing could be grown without it. We believe that wherever small streams, or for that matter large ones, can be utilized to irrigate lands already farmed, that is to raise alfalfa or clover to enable the farmer to raise his hay, pasture, etc., it would be proper. With the proposition for the government to go into the making of reservoirs and taking charge of the streams for the purpose of extending the farming area, we are not in sympathy. The time will come when it will be proper to do so; but with the present over-production of grain and other crops, we do not believe the country requires it or would be benefited by it.

There is no use in increasing the area of producing lands. What we need is a larger market, not a larger production. Irrigation on a small scale on lands already farmed permits of a larger range of crops, and so would tend to lessen the congestion of the cereal markets. In Eastern Oregon it would be beneficial because it would permit the farmer to raise hogs and cattle, and thus put him in condition to feed his wheat and put it on the market in a shape that would not tend to the further lowering of prices of the cereals. Irrigation on this plan would be of great benefit; but irrigation calculated to simply increase the agricultural area and the growing of still more produce would at the present, at least, be a positive injury to the farmer, who already has all the load he can carry.

RAISE HOGS.

The fact is being demonstrated more forcibly every year that the world is producing more wheat than is yearly consumed, and some means must be devised to dispose of the surplus, or prices must necessarily decline. The United States has found numerous competitors in the foreign wheat market, and with the completion of the new Russian transcontinental railway, will have still another which will pour millions of bushels into the foreign market. The steady and growing demand for pork furnishes a means of meeting this competition and will have the advantage of creating a firm and steady home market, which is always a more formidable competitor than the foreign market. Wheat raisers must breed hogs the same as farmers in the corn belt do, and packing houses will be established which will take the stock, and the farmer will have the double advantage of securing paying returns for his wheat crop and the benefit which accrues to the farm from consuming its products and returning the offal to enrich the soil.—West Coast Trade.

FOR OFFICE ONLY.

There is no need of a populist party in California since both republicans and democrats are making their fight on a populist platform. It is a case wherein politics have gone mad. Principles have been lost sight of, and the campaign has degenerated into a wild scramble for the offices. Each side advocates free silver, each out-vies the other in damning the Southern Pacific railroad. These are the issues each party has with itself, for they are both on the same side. The tariff cuts no figure, and free trade is not heard, but the orange groves echo with the clamor against the railroads, and the orchards murmur in silvery tones to 1. There is no abuse of opponents, for they are all opponents; all populists except in name, and all things to all men in their inordinate desire to get office.

The craze has extended into Nevada, only there republicans and democrats have combined and are having a picnic of their own.

Our charity is broad enough to forgive even the editor of the Salem Statesman for the unkind things he said about us the other day. Nay more, the spontaneous uprising of those generous impulses indigenous to our system, compels us to congratulate our friend of the Statesman upon the establishing of another industry at the state capital, and this, too, without its being compelled to be located there by a broken down constitution. The moving of the Keeley institute from Forest Grove to Salem is a move in the right direction, especially so now that the legislature is about to meet. The institute was prospering where it was, doing a good business on the single standard basis; but its change of location is one of those delicate bits of flattery that only the tact of a Ward McAllister and the keen perception of a Tom Reed could have suggested.

According to the instructions received from Washington Major Post will soon survey a route for the boat railway on the Oregon side around the Celilo-Dalles rapids, and will also purchase a right of way if prices are satisfactory. It will no doubt be several years before this work will be completed, but that an appropriation has been made gives promise that it will be accomplished some time. It is seldom the government abandons any work of this kind it undertakes, though it is often dreadfully slow about completing it. It is, therefore, safe to presume that the road will be finished some time.

Reports concerning the hop crop are anything but encouraging. About Eugene it is said many yards are worthless and the hops are rotting owing to mould and lice. Many of those who had made arrangements to pick the crop have abandoned it on account of the sudden change in conditions. Prices are very low, and only the very best quality will pay for picking. This will prove a serious loss to the country around Eugene, as well as to other portions of the Willamette valley.

"You are old, my dear grandma," the little girl said.
"As she lay by the fire with Dolly."
"For as white as the snow are the hairs on your head."
"Yet you always look rosy and jolly."

"Pray tell me, dear grandma, the reason of this. Why you always look healthy and sprightly. Why you never are pale when you give me a kiss."
"Why you take such long walks morn and night!"

"The reason, my darling," her grandma replied "is simple, it needs no description. I've always been well, for I keep by my side A bottle of Pierce's Prescription."

All ages, and all conditions of womanhood will find just the help that woman needs, in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That's a matter that's guaranteed. If it can't be done, then the medicine costs you nothing—it's makers don't want your money.

For all derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to the sex, "Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy positively cures catarrh.

Arenic and quinine are dangerous drugs to accumulate in one's system, and it is to be hoped that these poisons, as a remedy for ague, have had their day. Ayer's Ague Cure is a sure antidote for the ague, is perfectly safe to take, and is warranted to cure.

Don't buy a blood-purifier because it is "cheap." The best—the Superior Medicine—Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is in the end, the cheapest blood-purifier in the market. The ingredients of which it is composed are the most expensive and medicinally efficacious that can be obtained.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but, concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would not be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.
