LOUISIANA DEMOCRATS ON SUGAR

The Count of Paris, the Head of the Royal House of France, Died Saturday Morning.

Politics in Louisiana.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—A Washington special to the Sun says: The bolt of sugar planters and others interested in sugar is likely to cause many political complications and revolutions in Louisiana, and no one can foretell the future. Each day it becomes more and more evident that the break is an irremediable one and that the bolters have carried with them nearly all the sugar interests of the state. Here and there a prominent planter announces his intention to stick by the national democracy. State Senator Dudley Avery stopped the revolt in Iberia parish, and State Senator Shaeffer, of Terre Bonne, declares that he will remain a democratic representative. Dymond of Plaquemine refuses to go over to the republican camp, but will remain a protection democrat. Congressman Andrew Price, it is said by his friends, will remain with the democrats and will probably be the democratic candidate in the third district against the candidate of new republicans. He is the strongest man they can put up. With these exceptions nearly all the prominent planters and other sugar men have gone over, apparently forever, to the republicans. They control probably 60,000 votes which have usually been given to the democratic ticket, and if they can get these votes counted they will carry three congressional districts and render the state very close, if not republican, on the presidential contest. Great interest is felt in the attitude of Governor Foster. Both he and Senator Caffery come from St. Mary, the largest sugar parish in Louisiana, which seems to have gone heartily into this new republican movement. It is well understood that, although some of the bolters contributed largely to the election of Governor Foster, he will take a strong position against the movement. It is urged by the stalwarts that he ought to remove from office all his appointees who have become republicans this week, as it is impossible, they say, to be a national republican and state democrat at the same time. The bolters expect to be removed, but say that in Ascension parish, for instance, which usually gives 4000 democratic majority, it will be impossible for the governor to find enough men of standing clinging to the national democratic party to fill the offices. The leading paper here opposes the new movement and has denounced it as the greatest political folly ever committed. What caused the bolt was the passage of the free sugar bill in the house, and the refusal to pay the due and earned bounty. The old-time republicans are a great deal staggered at their sudden accession of strength. The leaders appear to welcome it, but it is difficult to say just how the party organization will be retained.

Arthur Langell Shot.

HEMATH FALLS, Or., Sept. 8.—Arthur Langell, a wealthy pioneer cattle man and rancher, well known in Southern Oregon and brother of Nat Langell, ex-internal revenue collector for the southern district, was shot and probably mortally wounded last night near his big ranch in Langell valley, this county. The deed was committed by Frank Swingle, a neighboring cattle raiser. Particulars are hard to obtain, but a courier, who arrived here this morning, states that Swingle had driven a band of cattle on a piece of land he had rented, but which had been fenced by Langell. While engaged in tending the cattle, Langell rode down on Swingle, yelling, "I will kill you," and brandished a hatchet. Swingle warned him to stop, and as Langell paid no heed, Swingle shot him. The latter then gave himself up. The only witness was Swingle's 7-year-old son. Excitement runs high here, for Langell was a prominent and respected citizen.

Two Bad Men Killed Each Other.

BURNS, Or., Sept. 8.—Last Thursday night, in Scott Bailey's saloon, Fil Glaze and Bud Howard shot and instantly killed each other. Their trouble grew out of a dispute over a horse race on the Burns track. Both men had made records, of their kind. Glaze had killed his man at Prineville where he formerly lived, and Howard his while temporarily absent also, it is said, he served in the Oregon penitentiary. Jake Parker, jockey for Glaze, is under arrest as an accomplice. A coroner's inquest was held. Justice of the peace W. C. Bryd acted as coroner, and W. L. Marsden, M. D., made an autopsy of the body of Howard in the presence of the jury. The town is quiet. No further trouble is anticipated, and the race programme is being carried out.

Was Not the Cholera.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Passed Assistant Surgeon Geddings has returned from Cumberland, Md., and reports to the surgeon-general that a bacteriological examination made by him of the body of the cholera suspect, Walker, shows the man did not die of cholera. He died from eating improperly cooked food.

counsel went on the vessel in distress. All the houses of the women had been destroyed and they had been robbed and maltreated by the Chinese soldiers. The women had been rescued and hidden by Europeans until they could be sent aboard the vessel. They were taken to the vessel two at a time in disguise. The steamer was soon surrounded by boats full of Chinese, seeking to capture the refugees. Two soldiers actually boarded the vessel, but were quickly ejected. No further attempt to board her was made. On the afternoon of the 2nd a military official came to the steamer and advised that she leave port the same night, otherwise the authorities might be unable to prevent trouble. Word has not been received of the arrival of the steamer at Kobe, Japan. Mr. O'Connor, the British minister, has returned to Peking.

Count of Paris Dead.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Comte de Paris died at 9 o'clock this morning at the Stowe house. During the night the count several times appeared to have passed away, so feeble was his pulse. Dr. Pecomier had the most extreme difficulty frequently in feeling the light beats of the heart, and the weakness of the distinguished sufferer during the last hours of sickness was so great he was unable to speak, although he succeeded in making it appear that he desired to utter a few more words of farewell to those around. The family and old servants were all in attendance, and to each one the head of the royal house of France feebly said a few additional kind words of farewell, after which the family knelt at the bedside and offered up heartfelt prayers for the dying. He rarely, however referred to his approaching death, always trying to soothe the sorrow of those around him. Now and then a deep sigh would escape from the sufferer, and he would mutter a phrase, oft repeated during the past week, "C'est bien long," equivalent to saying he was very weary of waiting for death. Le Gaulois says a council of ministers will be held to discuss the question of permitting the interment of the Count of Paris at Dreux, should the family request it.

Salvadoreans Making Threats.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Failing to get the United States to accede to their demands for the extradition of Bennington's refugees, some friends of the Salvadorean government have begun to threaten to take the life of Lieutenant F. W. Coffin, of the United States navy, an officer of the Bennington, on account of the friendliness he has shown to the refugees. The navy department has just received from Commander Thomas, of the Bennington, a report inclosing a letter containing threats which Lieutenant Coffin received. Rear Admiral Ramsay refused to give a correspondent the report for publication, saying it had come to the department only for its information.

The Opposite.—Jones (facetiously)—Got a wife at last, eh? Smith (solemnly)—No, my wife got a husband at last.—Vogue.

Fashionable Invalid—I came here for hay fever you know. Irascible Bachelor—Well, you've got it, haven't you?—Life.

Did Canter use his money on fast horses?—"No, sir: it was the slow ones that got away with it."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Lost! Five Dollars Reward.

Strayed from my west pasture, one iron-grey horse, branded (half circle) on left shoulder and two S's crossed on right shoulder; rather thin cinch sore on left ribs; foretop roached back to the place for halter. Probably went towards Tygh Ridge. Will give $5 reward for his return to me at my ranch, or a liberal reward for any information leading to his recovery.

Notice to Taxpayers.
