BETTER LOOK AT HOME.

A company of Englishmen with nothing else to do, have arranged to come to this country for the purpose of examining into the lynching of negroes in the South.

The people of this state are quite able to administer their own affairs, and they are doing it in full justice to the negro, as our laws and conduct attest.

While we have irregularities at the South and negroes are sometimes lynched, they are never slaughtered by the wholesale, as Englishmen sometimes destroy them.

SOME WHEAT FIGURES.

Wheat is selling here at 30 cents per bushel. That the farmer can live at this is presumed, partly because he will have to. With phenomenal crops the farmer can exist at the present price;

Table with wheat figures: Cost of planting, Heading, Threshing, Sacks, Hauling, Total.

The yield at twenty-five bushels to the acre would be 4,000 bushels, and the cost is just 28 cents per bushel. As the cost of hauling here would be on an average at the lowest 10 cents a sack, or $200, the Palouse estimate would have to be changed in that much, or making the total cost of the crop delivered $1210, or a trifle over 30 cents.

We must confess that we are not at all hopeful about the completion of the locks in the very near future. Last year we thought they would be done in 1895, but noting the progress made upon the work since the Day Bros. took charge, we are forced to believe that they will perhaps be completed with the century. The Day Bros. have done good work and lots of it, but the elements have been against them, and the contract is larger than they anticipated.

The cost of moving wheat from the Palouse country to Portland is 14 1/2 cents per bushel, and the market price of wheat is from 26 1/2 to 28 cents. The cost from here is 6 cents a bushel, and the price is 30 cents.
