A dispatch from Oakland, Oregon, brings the sad news of the death of our old townsman James A. Varney at that place at midnight last night. We understand the remains will be brought here for interment.

There will be a public meeting of the McKinley club at the courthouse next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Senator Dolph will be here at that time and will perhaps have something to say to our citizens. Everybody invited to be present.

A letter from Dr. Doane to a friend here indicates that he is having a remarkably pleasant trip. The letter is written from Chattanooga, and in the shadow of Lookout mountain, where "Fighting Joe" Hooker fought his memorable battle above the clouds.

A house in Arlington belonging to Arthur Coffin and occupied by Mr. Barfoot was destroyed by fire last Saturday morning about 1 o'clock. It was evidently of incendiary origin, as it started in an outhouse. Mr. Coffin's loss is $1,500, insured for $1,000, and Mr. Barfoot lost clothing and furniture valued at $350.

Weather Prophet Pague gives the following this morning: "Friday, fair, followed by probable showers; Saturday, probable showers followed by fair." From which we judge we are to have showers tonight and fair weather tomorrow afternoon. He also adds that it will be decidedly cooler tomorrow night.

Friday evening little Mabel Enderby, aged 4 years, fell off a foot log across a ravine, a distance of between fifteen and twenty feet, striking on the rocks and hard ground. She was picked up unconscious and Dr. Deitrich of Dufur was called in. No bones were broken and outside of the severe shock no serious damage was done.

Portland's city council has passed a license ordinance that makes it necessary to take out a license before you can smoke a cigar, the citizen and the stranger within her gates are all treated alike, and they are all kicking alike. There is a wonderful unanimity of opinion against it, but the mayor will sign the bill just the same.

Mr. David Creighton and his daughter, while on their way to town Wednesday, met with an accident that came near resulting seriously. They were riding to town on a load of wheat when from some cause they slipped off, falling in front of the wheels. At the same time a sack of wheat fell in front of one of the hind wheels and this stopped the team. If it had not been for this the wagon would have run over them.

According to Joseph Murray, fish commissioner for Alaska, the birds and foxes are being exterminated. The process comes as near being perpetual motion as anything yet mentioned. He says the hunters poison the foxes for their skins. Then the birds eat the poisoned foxes and die. Other foxes eat the poisoned birds, and die, other birds eat the other poisoned foxes and they die and there you have it the genuine circulating medium of strychnine.

The Feeding Canal for the Great Electricity Factory at Niagara.

The power plant proper consists first of an inlet canal situated about a mile and a half up the river from the American falls. This canal is really a great reservoir into which the water backs. The opening, or great gates, are placed not at the upper, but at the lower, end, the end nearest the falls. This was done because the engineers believed that the current would be too strong if the water was admitted directly from the river. It therefore goes in by a back flow. The canal will always be full. No drouth, no frost of winter has ever occurred so severe as to interfere materially with the flow of water over Niagara's brink. Into the canal or cut gateways of massive masonry, each controlled by a heavy gate, and connected with enormous shafts, or penstocks, of iron and steel, some of them of a diameter as great as seven feet. Through each shaft may be delivered a continuous force of water equivalent to from two thousand to five thousand horsepower. Those that turn the turban wheels which keep the massive machinery of the paper mill in motion, deliver three thousand six hundred horsepower. The total capacity of the canal is one hundred thousand horse-power; and it will be possible to so increase the capacity of this and other plants controlled by the parent and allied companies that ultimately there may be captured from Niagara Falls as much as four hundred and fifty thousand horse-power.

Dufur Doing.

Threshing is still progressing but farther than that, nothing new nor encouraging for the farmer, while the grain is at the low price it is.

Mr. Willis Hendricks is cutting his wheat for hay but will thresh about 1900 bushels of barley.

Mr. Polk Butler and E. A. Griffin of Nansene, we understand, intend feeding their grain to stock this winter.

Dr. Kane from Portland is here and anticipates locating.

Hon. A. J. Dufur, ex., has returned from an extended visit among his old time friends in Portland.

Mrs. Sibbett of Hoopston, Ill., is the guest of Mrs. Slusher.

Mrs. Warren started Thursday for Portland to remain a few days.

Mrs. Lizzie Dufur returned home Wednesday, after a six weeks' visit in the metropolis.

Mr. Waldo Brigham has a new novelty in the way of a treadless sewing machine which can be wound up to run for a certain time.

Sunday several Dallesonians made a flying trip to our berg to give we Dufurites a few points on how to appear on a bicycle, and nobby indeed they looked in their suits. Perhaps they were not aware that we are already provided with an expert in our popular druggist C. P. Balch.

A Model Farm.

While at The Dalles last week we paid a visit with Judge Bennett to his farm and orchard one and one-half miles out of the city. To say that we were surprised at what we saw would poorly express it. We saw some forty or fifty thousand pounds of the finest Italian prunes that our eyes ever feasted on; we saw nice, large, delicious peaches that would certainly be premium peaches at any of the fairs east of the Rockies. We saw grapes of different varieties, suitable for the table, for wine or for raisins, that would compare favorably with grapes in any part of the world. He also has a large apple orchard loaded with the best varieties of this staple fruit. There are also cherry trees that, the judge informed us, were loaded this season. Besides all these, quite a large plot is in strawberries. We also saw black walnuts and English walnuts growing side by side, vegetables, flowers and shrubbery. What struck us most forcibly was the great variety, and each one growing as though the soil and climate were especially adapted to that particular one. The judge contemplates making large additions to his already extensive plant. We are now more than ever convinced that the valleys of the Columbia are specially adapted to fruit culture, and it is only a question of time when this great country will not only be the granary of the United States, but will supply the millions with the finest flavored, best appearing and most delicious of fruits.—Arlington Record.

THE MARKETS.

FRIDAY, Sept. 21.—There is no change in the general markets since last week.

Eggs are quoted at 15 cents and chickens from $1.50 to $2.50 per dozen, according to size.

Butter is plentiful, and is quoted at from 45 to 50 cents per roll.

The potato market is unchanged, ranging from 50 to 65 cents per 100 lbs. Fruit of all kinds is plentiful, and prices nominal.

Wheat is coming in abundantly, but the market is tending towards lower prices, some being sold as low as 27 cts. per bushel. The wheat conditions as reported by the department of agriculture are generally good, the falling off in total yield being caused by the unprecedented heat in some sections. At present the outlook for wheat is discouraging, and any change in price will be for the worse.

The wool market is somewhat stronger. Many American buyers are seeking the English markets, but it is thought that our wools being now in competition with the world, have reached their lowest point, and any change will be for the better.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Charles Johnston is at Heppner and is reported as being very sick.

Mrs. E. E. Lytle left for Tacoma on the afternoon train, accompanied by Miss Mary Snowden, who has been visiting her brother for some time.

Annie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pentland, arrived here today to visit her aunt, Mrs. S. L. Brooks. She came in charge of Mrs. Osborne of Athens, who goes on to that point tomorrow.
