HILL IS NOMINATED

Convention Would Not Let Him Decline.

A SCENE OF INTENSE EXCITEMENT

Washington Democrats Caucusing at North Yakima--A Nebraska Split--Gov. McKinley in Ohio.

SARATOGA, Sept. 26.—The committee on platform for two hours discussed the indorsement of the tariff and the proposition advanced by Mr. Sheehan to condemn the income tax. Bourke Cochran declared that under no circumstances should the party indorse the tariff bill as a whole. Instead it should declare for some of the features. This caused a long wrangle, which continued until time for the convention to assemble. As it will be presented today, the platform will be unchanged from what it was last night, as reported by the Associated Press.

Just as the convention was about to convene, a new name was added to the gubernatorial candidates, Judge Barnhard, of Poughkeepsie.

Senator Hill called the convention to order at 1:50.

The committee on contested delegations decided in favor of all the sitting delegations, except in the case of Monroe county, for which the representation is divided equally between two delegates, each having half a vote. The Shepard people from King's county left the hall. With this exception the greatest good humor characterized the adoption of the committee's report, and when some routine business had been disposed of the convention was ready to nominate candidates for the governorship.

The report of the committee on permanent organization recommending Senator Hill for permanent chairman was received and adopted. Lieutenant-Governor Sheehan, chairman of the committee on platform, pleading a cold, handed up the platform to be read by the clerk. The platform is the same as sent in the dispatches last night, with the plank expressing regret that the income tax was passed.

Galen R. Hitt proposed Thatcher for the office in a highly eulogistic speech.

After Hitt had finished, Delegate Reynolds, from Allegheny, arose and said: "Mr. Chairman, I desire from Allegheny county to put in nomination our first and only choice, David Bennett Hill."

In an instant there was pandemonium. The delegates were standing on chairs, crowding the aisles, shoving toward the platform yelling themselves hoarse, and shouting "Hill, Hill." The senator stood pounding the gavel, his face pale and his lips shut. He hammered vigorously, but as he did so the din increased. "Three cheers for the next governor of the state," shouted a man in the rear, and up went a mighty shout. After five minutes of this remarkable scene there was some order restored, and Hill said:

"I am grateful to the democrats for this showing of their good will and their faith, but I cannot accept the nomination you offer me."

"I must say no to you," declared Hill. Again the tumult broke out and again Hill was unable to stop it. He banged his gavel, and appealed to the band to play. The band played, but its music was drowned by the shouting of the delegates. Colonel Fellows got recognition and asked that the clerk be authorized to call the roll of counties. This was done, and when Columbia, Kings and Lewis were reached the delegates shouted "Hill." When New York was reached Senator Guy arose. He said it was time for the party to turn around and look out for a man that could undoubtedly lead them to victory. They must have a giant to snatch victory from the jaws of defeat. He paid a remarkable tribute to Senator Hill, and then the tumult increased.

Bourke Cochran obtained the platform, and when he could be heard, said: "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: When the life of the nation is at stake and the laws which govern its existence are incapable of defending the rights of its citizens the moment comes when all restraints must be thrown aside and the supreme right of revolution invoked. For the first time since the present presiding officer of this convention assumed the leadership of the democratic party of this state, I am in revolt against him, and ask this convention to disregard his decision and place upon his sense of duty the acceptance of a nomination which he does not desire as a favor at its hands." (Applause).

"I am aware there is no honor the state of New York can confer upon its distinguished son which is not already his, won by honest battle in defense of popular rights and democratic principles, but I believe there comes a time in the history of every man when the difficulties that surround him are opportunities upon which he rises to a higher plane. We must not deceive ourselves. We are confronted now with a situation which requires the democratic party to array itself in its strong armor and choose its tried and much-tested leader to carry it through the crisis which confronts it. The battle for commercial and industrial emancipation of the people of this country is not yet over and victory is not yet achieved. The democracy, in which is involved the future of this country, must not take the risk of failure."

McKinley in Ohio.
BELLEFONTAINE, O., Sept. 26.—Governor McKinley delivered an address here this afternoon at the laying of the cornerstone of the new memorial hall. Tomorrow he will open the Ohio campaign at Findlay, and after a couple of speeches at small points, will go to St. Louis, where he is to speak Monday.

Anti-Tillman Caucus.
COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 26.—The anti-Tillman caucus adjourned this morning at 4:30 without doing anything except to pass resolutions. No nominations were made.

Progress and Cookery.

"The World Moves."

There is no better illustration of this old saying than the numerous schools now-a-days devoted to practical kitchen processes. These schools have been alert to find a reasonable substitute for lard, the use of which is so generally condemned. This want has been fully met by the new vegetable Lard. When science strikes the kitchen, it strikes home and everybody gets the benefit. Cottolene is a clean, delicate and economical substitute for lard—cleaner than the hog, delicate as the finest vegetable oil, economical from its low price and small quantity required to be used. Prove it for yourself by a trial.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARSONS, M. D., 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTIN, D. D., New York City.
