"How true it is, my dear," observed Billkins, who had been in a deep reverie, quite in the Shakespearean vein, "that the good which men do is often interred with their bones." "I s'pose," snapped Mrs. B., "that there's so little of it they don't think it worth keeping." —Boston Home Journal.

TWO KINDS OF WOMEN need Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—those who want to be made strong, and those who want to be made well. It builds up, invigorates, regulates, and cures. It's for young girls just entering womanhood; for women who have reached the critical "change of life"; for women expecting to become mothers; for mothers who are nursing and exhausted; for every woman who is run-down, delicate, or overworked. For all the disorders, diseases, and weaknesses of women, "Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy so unerring that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, the money will be returned. There's nothing likely to be "just as good."

Servant—Please, mum, Mrs. Nextdoor wants you to send her some reading matter suitable for a sick person. —Mistress —Certainly. Give her those medicine almanacs. —New York Weekly.

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant of Des Moines, Iowa, had quite a serious time of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hardly talk or navigate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him so quickly that others at the hotel who had had colds followed his example and half a dozen persons ordered it from the nearest drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Kahler for telling them how to cure a bad cold so quickly. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.

"I wonder what kind of people live in Mars," said the philosophical girl. "They're out of sight," replied the slangful and confident young man. —Washington Star.

Notice to Taxpayers. The county board of equalization will meet in the assessor's office on Monday, Sept. 24th, and continue in session one week, for the purpose of equalizing the assessment of Wasco county for 1894. All tax payers who have not been interviewed by the assessor will please call at the office on Thursdays, Fridays or Saturdays, as all property must be assessed. JOEL KOONTZ, County Assessor.

Another Call. All county warrants registered prior to January 1, 1891, will be paid on presentation at my office. Interest ceases after Sept. 10th. WM. MICHELL, County Treasurer.

Haughty lady (who has just purchased a stamp)—Must I put it on myself? Postoffice assistant (very politely)—Not necessarily, m'am; it will probably accomplish more if you put it on the letter. —Newark Ledger.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure in the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Customer—Do you warrant this bathing suit? Modiste—Madam, I prefer to say nothing except that when it is worn it will show what's in it. —Detroit Triune.

Specimen Cases. S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Snipes & Kinersly.

Staylate (early in September)—Well, I must be going. Miss Hicke—Oh, don't be in a hurry. Our lease runs until next May. —Harper's Bazar.

Now Try This. It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a cough, cold, or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from la grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and thorough recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense, and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at Snipes & Kinersly's drug store. Large size 50c and $1.

A glimpse of home life is like an oasis in a desert to a bachelor who does not have to buy coal or pay gas bills. —Milwaukee Journal.

Irving W. Laimore, physical director of Y. M. C. A., Des Moines, Iowa, says he can conscientiously recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balms to athletes, gymnasts, bicyclists, foot ball players and the profession in general for bruises, sprains and dislocations; also for soreness and stiffness of the muscles. When applied before the parts become swollen it will effect a cure in one half the time usually required. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.

Evidently the Hon. Thomas C. Platt, of Tioga, has been promoted from pan-tata to padrone of his party. —New York Herald.

A. M. Bailey, a well-known citizen of Eugene, Or., says his wife has for years been troubled with chronic diarrhoea and used many remedies with little relief until she tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has cured her sound and well. Give it a trial and you will be surprised at the prompt relief it affords. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton Druggists.

Fresh-air boy—Mister, do you have to buy chewing-gum for all those cows? —Harlem Life.

CLEVER WORK OF AN OCULIST.

How a Damage Suit Was Defeated Through a Little Knowledge of Optics.

Here is an interesting account of a very clever bit of detective work by an oculist. It appears that in a large factory, in which were employed several hundred persons, one of the workmen, in wielding his hammer, carelessly allowed it to slip from his hand. It flew half way across the room and struck a fellow workman in the left eye. The man averred that his sight was blinded by the blow, although a careful examination failed to reveal any injury, there being not a scratch visible. He brought a suit in the courts for compensation for the loss of half of his eyesight, and refused all offers of compromise.

Under the law, says the Sheffield (England) Telegraph, the owner of the factory was responsible for an injury resulting from an accident of this kind, and although he believed that the man was shamming and that the whole case was an attempt at swindling, he had about made up his mind that he would be compelled to pay the claim. The day of the trial arrived, and in open court an eminent oculist retained for the defense examined the alleged injured member and gave it as his opinion that it was as good as the right eye. Upon the plaintiff's loud protest of his inability to see with his left eye, the oculist proved him a perjurer and satisfied the court and jury of the falsity of his claim.

And how do you suppose he did it? Why, simply by knowing that the colors green and red combined make black. He procured a black card on which a few words were written with green ink. Then the plaintiff was ordered to put on a pair of spectacles with two different glasses, the one for the right eye being red and the one for the left eye consisting of ordinary glass. Then the card was handed him and he was ordered to read the writing on it. This he did without hesitation, and the chest was at once exposed. The sound right eye, fitted with red glass, was unable to distinguish the green writing on the black surface of the card, while the left eye, which he pretended was sightless, was the one with which the reading had to be done.

NO TIME BUT TO EAT.

Information from the Hotel Clerk Which Staggered the Arkansans.

A tall, grizzly man, wearing a broad-brimmed slouch hat of a muddy yellow color, and big, wide breeches tucked in the high tops of his massive boots, tramped across the tiled floor of the Laclede rotunda and stopped before the marble-topped counter, from behind which Col. Tom Pritchard gave a cheery greeting, says the St. Louis Republic. The tall, grizzly man said he was from Red Dog, Ark., and he looked like it when, with his son, he arrived at the Laclede.

"Me an' Bill jist come in this mornin' with a cyar of haws, an' we loved we'd come in frum th' stock yards t'other side the river an' see the sights," said the tall, grizzly man as he shook hands with Col. Pritchard. "Whut's the cheapest room ye c'n give me an' Bill? We don't give a darn fer style—jist like ye have yerself 's good enough fer us. Eh, Bill?"

Bill nodded his head with pantomimic approval and Col. Pritchard gave the information that the cheapest room he had for two was five dollars a day.

"By jinks! That's mighty steep!" remarked the tall, grizzly man. "Th' tavern down at Red Dog on'y charges one dollar a day. But I reckon, bein' as we're hyar, we'll go th' whole hawg. Eh, Bill?"

Bill's head nodded again with pantomimic assent and the old man asked Col. Pritchard:

"Whut time is meals ready?" "Breakfast from seven to ten a. m., dinner from half-past twelve to two p. m., and supper from six to nine p. m.," replied Col. Pritchard.

"The old man was as silent as a ghost for about a minute and then he exclaimed: "Gosh a'mighty, Bill, we can't see any sights! We won't have no time to do nuthin' but eat!"

IT WAS BIG MONEY.

What the Little Girl Got for Kindness to an Old Woman.

An interesting story comes from Soho, says the Leeds (England) Mercury. Some time ago an old woman named Sarah Edwards, who lived for some years in humble lodgings in Gerard street, Soho, called to her a little girl named Mary Gordon, who had performed various kindly offices for her. After asking for and receiving a kiss from the child the old lady said to her: "You have been very kind and attentive to me, and I will make you a present." The little one no doubt expected sixpence at the least, but all she received was a very dirty, greasy bit of paper. She was somewhat disappointed, but placed the paper among her other little possessions and thought no more of the matter until the following morning, when she heard that her old friend was dead. She then thought her of the peculiar gift and handed it to her father. He, a mechanic working in Long Acre, recognized it as a fifty-pound sterling bank note, but, owing to its tattered condition, decided to consult a solicitor before attempting to cash it. The solicitor's clerk, with some difficulty and paste, joined the disunited parts. He then presented the note at the Bank of England, where it was immediately cashed.

He Was All Attention.

An absent-minded landlord called on a tenant to condole with him on the death of a valuable cow. The cause of its decease had been enveloped in mystery, and, while explaining it, the landlord, though a kind and sympathizing person, went off into the clouds. The last words of the narrative were: "And can you believe it, my lord, when we opened her we found she had been choked by a large turnip that was sticking in her gullet." Here the landlord woke up, and in a congratulatory tone of voice observed: "Ah, yes, and so you got your turnip?"
