

Love at First Sight

Ne'er occurs more genuinely than in the meeting of the feminine fair with our handsome Dress Goods for Fall.

Of course those handsome Imported Novelties in Dress Pattern Lengths are called by all kinds of extravagant names that feminine enthusiasm can devise, and we must confess that we think they are handsome. Our line at 50 cents is large and complete, and when purchasing particular attention was paid to have our goods at his price, attractive, of good value and in great variety.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES.

BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

The weather predictions for today are "probable showers," and for tomorrow are, "fair and cooler."

Mr. W. F. Soesbe of Hood River was in the city today. He expects to move to the Willamette valley in a few days.

Mrs. O. M. Boardman, of Chenoweth creek died yesterday afternoon, and we understand her little baby died the day before.

The local land officers here received instructions today to move the land office into the building recently occupied by the postoffice.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will give an entertainment during fair week, consisting of tableaux, vocal and instrumental music, and a scarf drill.

Our local cyclists are trying to get up a series of races for the fair. At present it is proposed to have a half-mile dash, mile and three-mile races, and a five-mile handicap.

About seven hundred miles of weather has passed through town since daylight. It loaded up with sand just east of town and winged its way on towards the populist camps of Nebraska.

The ladies of the M. E. church will serve meals during the fair in the building east of the First National bank, formerly occupied by Mrs. LeBallister. Lunch will be served from 12 to 2 o'clock and dinner from 5 to 8. All meals 25 cents each.

The recorder's office this morning made a water-haul, not a victim showing up. When the reporter called this morning, the recorder, street commissioner and coroner, were having a three-cornered quarrel about whose turn it was to clean up the office.

A big flock of sheep was brought over from the Mt. Adams ranges last night. They filled the street for three blocks, and seemed as numerous as the band the immortal Sancho Panza told of to his illustrious master at the wonderful adventure of the fulling-mill. There were several thousand of them.

Yesterday in mentioning the fact that the Epworth League would give an entertainment during fair week we inadvertently wrote "dance for drill." we have no desire to set the members of the league to dancing against their will hence make this correction which may be also considered an apology.

On account of the falling off of business in the U. S. marshal's office and the consequent necessity of reducing expenses, Marshal Grady has called for resignation of all of his deputies except J. D. Coleman, George Humphrey and the office deputy and bookkeeper. Mr. Grady says he can run the business with this force. Matt F. Murphy, the deputy for this district, goes with the balance.

Street Commissioner Butts this morning replaced the railing on the bridge across Mill creek. His face had a sorrowful look, and in response to a sympathetic inquiry he said: "It's a measly shame the way I am forced to work against my own interest. As street commissioner I had to fix that railing, when if I could have let it alone I might have got a job as coroner." And then he smiled.

The Lost Boy.

The little Ryan boy who so suddenly disappeared Wednesday night has not yet been heard from. although a diligent search has been kept up. The boy is said to be very steady and manly and it does not seem possible that he has taken it into his head to runaway. The fact that he put on his old clothes would rather be in favor of the runaway theory. He was last seen about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening on the bluff near his home, but the rocks have been carefully looked over without finding any traces of him. There are but three theories to account for his absence, one that he has run away, another that tramps have kidnaped him, and the third that he has gone to the river and drowned. The most probable of the three is that he has gone to the county to some one he knows, is afraid to go home, and has managed to deceive those whom he is visiting. His parents are nearly frantic and it is hoped the mystery will be speedily solved.

For the Fair.

The secretaries of the fair will be at Wingate Hall tomorrow at the following hours: from 10 to 12, from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9, to receive entries for the exhibits. All the departments except that of stock will be represented and those who have entries to make should go at once. Entries close at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and to give the managers a chance the work should be started at once. Three or four of our merchants here have agreed to make exhibits, and this example should prove contagious. With a little energy the hall can be made very attractive and thus serve as an advertisement for next year. The old proverb that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well, is evidently correct, and we hope our people will not only do, but do well what they do, do. Do thou, ditto.

Madame L. Dulac, 382 Morrison street, Portland, Or., artistic French dress maker, late of H. B. Litt, is ready to make appointments with the ladies who would like to have her come to The Dalles, to take their order, to fit them there. Latest styles and fit guaranteed. Reasonable prices. 1w.

Smeere—What work are you engaged in now, old man? Palette—Living Pictures. Smeere—You don't mean it? Palette—Yes, I do. I am painting pot-boilers.—The Dauber.

Mrs. Treotop—What's the writin' on mummy, now, I wonder! Uncle Treotop—Oh, most likely it's the verdict of the coroner's jury!—The Spectator.

The council adjourned subject to the call of the mayor.

Dufur Doings.

These cooler days and frosty nights, tell us fall weather is here, and the cold, chilly winds, a reminder that winter is near.

A gentle shower which proved a blessing in disguise in the way of settling the dust and helping the roads, fell the other day.

Farmers are busy hauling grain as the thresher's day of grace is about ended, around Dufur and vicinity at least.

Mr. Thos. Harris went through with his sheep from the mountains, and E. A. Griffin also removed his to their winter quarters.

Mr. Chas. Johnston has been spending the past two weeks in the berg with his brothers.

Little Lewis Deitrich, son of Dr. Deitrich, is staying in Dufur attending school.

Mr. A. K. Dufur has a new addition to his mill in the shape of a chopper.

Mrs. Thomas has built a nice conservatory on the south side of her residence.

Dr. J. H. Kane has his sign out ready for business, and is soon to have a new office adjoining the drugstore.

The other day while Mr. Monroe Heisler was out driving with his family, the horses ran away and threw Mrs. Heisler onto the ground, dislocating her hip. Dr. Deitrich attended the injury but from last accounts she is improving but slowly. Quiz.

Sentiment and Syrup.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Crossen took their bridal trip yesterday morning. It was a little late, but "Jimmy" says his duties as postmaster prevented him making the trip before. The trip was made from his father's store, he asking Mrs C. to ride, on seeing the new delivery wagon standing by the door. He didn't think the proposition would be accepted, but it was, and that so quickly that he couldn't back out. So the young couple climbed into the wagon which contained one jug of maple syrup (appropriate for a honey moon) that was destined to render more palatable the matutinal hot cakes of the writer hereof.

It isn't everybody, not even every editor that can have his family groceries brought home by the parties to a wedding, but although it seems high toned, we wish to remark that there is nothing too rich for us. This was James A.'s first attempt to run a bluff on Mrs. James A. and like many another newly wedded man, he found it wouldn't work.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
