Don't forget, while taking in the sights, to see the bird show at the corner of Second and Washington streets.

This morning a slight frost covered the ground and a feeling of winter made itself felt to those who breathed the fresh air of early morning.

We understand the contract for repairing the Oregon state portage has been let, and lumber and materials will soon arrive for that purpose.

Hamlin's Wizard Oil Company open a week's engagement in the opera house next Monday night, Oct. 15th. If you go, put on your laughing clothes. Admission 15 cents.

There will be a business meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All who are interested in the church are requested to attend.

The Regulator left this morning with some fifty sheep. At Lyle she will take on a full load similar to the one yesterday. Stock shipments by the boat line continue heavy and business keeps brisk.

It was an inquisitive youngster yesterday who upon seeing an old man at the fair, whose pants were evidently harvested when the flood was at its height, said "say mister, when is your ma going to put you in long pants agin?"

Wheat is commencing to be shipped to Portland in greater quantities. Large purchases have been made that will go by boat, while one lot of 30,000 bushels will soon be at Lyle ready to be taken down. If the price would advance a little the shipments would be very heavy.

There was a fight of one round at the fair grounds yesterday. One inebriated gentleman addressed some remarks derogatory to the character of another, who properly knocked him down in true Corbetteque manner. That was all of the fighting; the rest of the affair consisted in a mutual discussion of each one's ability to vanquish the other.

THIRD DAY AT THE FAIR.

THE GREAT RACES YESTERDAY.

A Large Crowd and More New Exhibits at the Pavilion--Good Music--Fair Notes.

The third day was more windy than the previous one but the attendance was fully as large. The stock exhibit in the southwest corner is attracting a great deal of attention, and between the races the animals are visited by large numbers of people. We had promised to give a more extended mention today of the different stock exhibits, but the press of matter has compelled it to wait till tomorrow along with the resume of today's races. A large attendance is looked for Friday and THE CHRONICLE hopes to see the grand stand full of spectators.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

The races yesterday were fully as interesting as those of the day previous. The trotting race proved a drawing card and was witnessed by a larger crowd. The horses were of a high class and many expected the trotting record for this track to be beaten. The second heat on the 3/4 mile and repeat was won by Tampa; Jim Crow second, Blue Jay third and Rockland Boy fourth; time, 37 3/4 seconds. As both Blue Jay and Tampa had won a heat, another one was necessary to decide the race. The horses were evenly matched and the race was a hot one from start to finish. Tampa won; time, 38 3/4.

The pony race excited much interest especially among the youngsters on the ground. There were three entries--Pet, Tommy and Cello. The horse carrying the lightest weight won after a close race. Pet first, Cello second and Tommy third.

The mile trot, best three in five, was the event of the day and held the crowd till nearly dark. Montana, Hamrock and Cattle Carne were the entries and they are all speeders with fast records. Cattle Carne was the favorite in the mutuels and took the lead and held it to the finish, although hard pressed at different times by both Hamrock and Montana. Montana is a fast horse, probably the fastest of the three, but not having on the proper harness broke badly and lost the race. Cattle Carne won three heats, Hamrock second and Montana third; time 2:40, 2:38 1/2, 2:36.

AT THE PAVILION.

The attendance was good at the pavilion last evening, and much praise was heard on all sides for the beauty of the exhibit. Much space that was vacant has been filled, and the whole display can now be called complete. We are sorry more of our merchants have not taken room and made displays. Only three or four of our stores are represented, and there should be a much greater number. This annual fair has become a great thing in the life of The Dalles, and could be made of much more vital interest and profit if our people generally would take a heartier interest. The ladies of The Dalles come in for a word of praise for the liberal manner in which they have risen to the occasion. The art exhibit, including fancy work, embroideries and needle work, is the finest ever seen in The Dalles, and we know of no town that can do equally as well. Some of the work would hold its own anywhere, and under any competition. The farmers have not sent in their contributions as we would have liked to have seen them do. Mr. Schanno, who is an authority on such matters, says the fruit and vegetable exhibit should be much larger. Our citizens are glad to look at the different products from the farms, and the farmers can be sure their efforts will receive a hearty appreciation.

The music last evening was up to the high standard we have come to expect of it. Each piece was heartily received, amid many expressions of praise. The program did not contain quite as many popular melodies as the one of the previous evening, but they were all rendered in splendid style. Following is this evening's program:

MUSICAL PROGRAM.

- 1. March--"Ellaeslie." 2. Overture--"Jolly Robbers." 3. Waltz--"Jolly Fellows." 4. Overture--"Lustspiel." 5. "Trip to Chinatown." INTERMISSION. 6. Overture--"Martha." 7. "Frolic of the Sylphs." 8. Selection--"Twilight Hour." 9. "Hungarian Dance," No. 1. 10. Philatelist.

NEW EXHIBITS.

Among the new exhibits we noticed was a pan of ripe strawberries from the garden of J. H. Stadleman. They looked as rosy and luscious as though it were springtime.

Mrs. John Fillion shows some beautiful oil painting, which attract much attention. One in particular, entitled "Hard Times," is a picture of much expression and feeling, and is readily classed as one of the very best in the hall.

Mrs. G. C. Blakeley has some very pretty specimens of embroidery work and painting on silk.

A piece of embroidery by Lena Nyhus, a 14-year-old girl, shows much skill for one so young.

Miss Alice Hall, in charge of the Kindergarten, has an exceedingly choice exhibit of Honiton point lace work.

Some plain hand sewing by Mrs. T. S. Lang is very interesting, as it shows something different from the lace work, which seems to predominate.

There is a tobacco exhibit by Ben Southwell, which shows how well the "weed" would grow in this climate. Mr. Southwell is one of the most efficient aides in the success of the fair.

Marshal Hill, Robt. Cooper and Dave Creighton have each exhibits of watermelons, muskmelons and vegetables.

Frank Kramer has some Egyptian rye, which is plump and undoubtedly a fine variety.

An exhibit of hops by Max Vogt proves how well they would grow in this vicinity. They were grown on Mr. Vogt's farm, some fifteen miles from town.

Mrs. J. C. Wood has a fine array of canned fruits, jellies and vegetables.

Mrs. Snipes, Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Nielsen, Miss Southwell, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Wycke and Mrs. P. Morgan have all samples of bread. Some have also cakes entered, which look tempting enough.

FAIR NOTES.

Friday will be the red letter day of the fair. The great free-for-all trot will occur, and that will be the event of the season. Everybody should come and make the attendance the largest ever known. The races will be first-class, and a pleasant day is assured everyone who will be present.

School children will be admitted free to the fair grounds Friday, and a charge

DRY CORD WOOD, HAY and GRAIN, HEATING STOVES, COOK STOVES, STEEL RANGES, GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, all at the lowest prices at

of only 10 cents will admit pupils to the pavilion.

The stock parade will take place Saturday morning at 10. As there are many entries this year the parade will be a large one and will be worth seeing.

The judges will award the stock premiums Friday from 9 to 11 a. m.

Don't forget the stores will close Friday afternoon, and everyone is going to the fair.

The judges yesterday were Hons. Robt. Mays, C. M. Cartwright and A. S. Macallister.

Everybody Turn Out.

The merchants of The Dalles have agreed to close their stores tomorrow (Friday) from 1 o'clock through the balance of the day and evening. This is highly meritorious, and will give all employees a chance to attend the fair. Friday will be a great day on the grounds, and everybody in town is going to be on hand to see the fun. This beautiful weather and the inspiring view from the grandstand, together with the coming together of so many people, will broaden a person's mind, and do them good. The stores will be closed in the evening also, so as to give everyone a chance to attend the pavilion. Let everyone come and make it a scene to be remembered and spoken of with pleasure. A large attendance at both places will gladden the hearts of the management, and do good to the town.

No. 1, the west-bound passenger, met with an accident four miles east of here this morning, which resulted in a small sized wreck. The train was coming at its usual rate when suddenly the engine and baggage car left the track and went in the ditch. The trouble resulted from the rails spreading. Engineer Morgan was slightly cut on the head and back, Fireman Crofton had one of his ribs broken and a tramp, who was riding on the blind baggage, suffered a broken arm and dislocated shoulder. The passengers were transferred to a train that was made up here and after breakfast left for Portland. It will only take a few hours to repair the damage done to the track. Drs. Logan and Doane were called to attend the injured men.
