A SENSATIONAL MURDER.

Portland has had what its papers are disposed to call a sensational murder. George W. Sayres, an old resident of the city, was killed at Fulton Park, September 26th...

Now comes the sensational part of the matter. Chief Minto, of the Portland police, and others began to look for a motive for the crime. Sayres had no money, consequently there appeared to be no reason why Kelley should murder him...

There is said to be no evidence that connects W. O. Allen, the defendant in the suit brought by Sayres, with the murder. Steeves has been Allen's attorney in these cases, but the police have not been able to secure evidence to attach to Allen any responsibility for the murder.

We must confess that we are unable to understand the sapient reasoning of Portland's chief of police and Portland's newspapers, that connects Steeves with the murder because he was Allen's attorney, and fails to find any reason for connecting Allen with it.

A bicyclist came through the early part of the week bound for Omaha, which he expected to make in two or three days. He is a German, of two years' residence in America, and when told Omaha was something like 2000 miles away, seemed incredulous.

Unless more substantial evidence can be produced against Steeves his arrest will result in nothing but a little cheap and brief notoriety for the new chief of police.

THE GRAND LODGE K. OF P.

The grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, which met at Portland Tuesday, adjourned yesterday afternoon after a very pleasant and harmonious session. The grand ball, given at the Hotel Portland in honor of the event, was attended by more than 500 couples, and was one of the finest affairs of the kind ever given in the metropolis.

Portland extended a royal welcome to the Knights, and it is safe to say that they all went home with a very warm corner in their hearts for the queen city. The following officers were elected: Grand chancellor, J. L. Hill of Albany...

hogs in the drouth-stricken regions of the middle West and bringing them to the grain fields here for the purpose of utilizing the cheap wheat. This is, we believe, a good business proposition, but care wants to be used in selecting the animals to see that none infested with cholera are brought here.

In the description of the battle between the Japanese and Chinese warships, mention is made of the manner in which the fatally wounded were treated. The doctor was provided with a small atomizer, charged with prussic acid, and when a case was found to be hopeless a small drop was placed on the victim's tongue, causing instant death.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons are finally matched to fight for $10,000 a side. They met yesterday in New York, and after having a fight to the finish with their jaws, which was declared a draw, they agreed to fight some time after July 1, 1895.

Mosier Meetings.

R. A. Power has been absent part of time this week, making quite a visible subtraction from the elite of this neighborhood.

On Monday J. H. Mosier was laid to rest with Masonic rites, and the following day a grandson of Mr. Ireland. Thus this small community was called to mourn in so brief a time. The circumstances of the death of the child are particularly touching, the child's mother being dead and his father an inmate of the asylum.

E. U. Phillips was arrested Thursday and had his preliminary examination before Justice Harlan, for assaulting W. E. Husky with a deadly weapon, such being a rock hurled with force at his head. Husky warded off the blow with his arm, sustaining severe bruises.

There was no more trouble with the wires after that. When the fireman reported the matter to the eastern chief of the company at Boston he got laughed at for his pains, but on the following day he told his adventure with the cobweb to Superintendent Fred Fairchild, of the New Haven office, an expert electrician, who promptly declared that it was the cobweb which crossed the wire and at once set down to a telegraph machine and talked for half an hour with the Boston chief, explaining to him where he was in error in assuming a cobweb could not "cross" a telegraph wire.

Cool nights, with clear, warm days, is the program for October. Farmers are busy hauling grain and doing general fall work.

The other day a large band of beef cattle, belonging to Robert Mays of Tygh Valley, were driven through, en route for The Dalles. They were in fine condition, and will average 1100 or 1200 pounds.

SPIDER ON THE WIRES.

Interruption of Telegraphic Communication by Their Webs.

Two of the main through wires between New York and Boston were recently reported "in trouble" east of New London, says the New York Sun. They positively refused to work at all in the morning, but from about eleven o'clock in the forenoon until eleven o'clock at night they were found to be all right.
