BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

The weather predictions for today and tomorrow are rain, stationary.

Mr. W. H. Groat drew the silver set at the Wizard Oil entertainment last night.

Mays & Crowe have just received another shipment of the celebrated Wilson heater.

There will be a cabinet meeting of the Epworth League, this evening at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the M. E. church.

The recorder levied a fine of $5 upon John Doe this morning, just because the said John Doe was overloaded with tanglefoot.

The Senfert Bros. are arranging for re-building their fish wheels, and expect to have them in running order in time for the May run.

The sound of the wood saw is heard at all hours of the day, and there is wood enough on the beach, one would think, to last the community for a year or more.

More grain has arrived in the past few days than ever before in the same length of time. The East End is filled with it and the warehouses have all they can handle.

The Oregon Bar Association is in session at Portland. Most of those in attendance are residents of Portland, but among them we note the name of Hon. F. P. Mays.

Dr. Sutherland was called to Lyle Monday to attend Marcus Vanbibber, who met with an accident while hauling hay, resulting in a broken leg. The doctor went down again this morning to look after his patient.

The Regulator is doing an excellent passenger business, and is carrying large quantities of freight. The river route from The Dalles to Portland is unequalled for scenery in the United States, and we doubt if the world can produce anything grander.

The Winans Bros.' big four-horse team passed through town this morning loaded with lumber, which will be used in replacing the fish wheels carried away by the June flood. All their wheels will be replaced, both those on this side of the river and those in Washington.

Mrs. G. A. Herbert and children, who have been in Antelope since the flood, rejoined Mr. Herbert at Grant on the 14th. While the distillery is undergoing repairs Mr. H. is devoting his time to making the traveling public as much at home as possible at the Grant hotel, near the depot.—Observer.

The principal occupation of the Associated Press people seems to be in reporting cases of missing men and robbed trains or banks. Train-robbing is getting so common and so profitable that it will no doubt find a place in the next census as one of the leading industries of the country. The tariff doesn't seem to interfere with it, either.

Everding and Farrell shipped seven carloads of canned salmon to Texas yesterday. The cannery has closed down, owing to the fish having quit running. Notwithstanding the high water and lost time, the catch for the season was above the average. In fact the cannery was unable to handle the fish offered during a large portion of the season.

M. H. Nickelsen and T. C. Dallas, school directors of district No. 3, which is the town of Hood River, are in the city today perfecting the sale of bonds issued by the district for the purpose of erecting a schoolhouse. The matter has been much delayed but is now completed. The delay, however, will prevent the erection of the building until next year.

We are informed that three or four boys from 14 to 17 years of age, made up their mind to see the wide, wide world, and yesterday started on their travels without first asking permission. They will probably get tired pretty quick and learn as many a boy has before them, that the best place in the world is home, and the best friends their parents.

Politics are evidently running high and personal feelings growing warmer in Klickitat. A CHRONICLE subscriber the other day stopped his paper because we mentioned the fact that our friend Gourlay had started a paper in Goldendale. It strikes us that Gourlay can stand lots of that kind of punishment, and we know THE CHRONICLE will not go bust on that account.

A loaded gravel train on the spur at Grant got away on the 12th and wrecked seven cars at the C. C. Co.'s Columbus landing, including three partly loaded, damaging 1,000 sacks of Klickitat wheat, and utterly demolishing the whole seven cars in the crash. The cause of the accident was a bump from the locomotive, which sent the gravel train ahead before coupling could be made, and as there were no breaks upon the gravel cars it was simply a case of "Let 'er go, Gallagher."—Observer.

The Wizard Oil troupe continues to draw crowded houses. The entertainment is an excellent one, and the prices for admission are such that it is cheaper to attend than to stay at home. Another attraction is the magnificent presents they give away. A silver set every evening to those who purchase a bottle of oil, and a diamond ring to those attending. Everybody wears diamonds when the Wizard Oil troupe shows, for if they don't get the rings, the jewels sparkle in their eyes, for they have to laugh.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

He Was a Sneezer.

Three shabby girls and a shabby man got into a north-bound car at the postoffice the other day; soon after the man sneezed, says the Chicago Times. He and the girls were strangers to each other, but the sauciest of the three girls laughed when he sneezed. The man took no special notice of her, but soon he sneezed again and again, and then all three of the girls giggled and so did the man. In the next three blocks the man sneezed half a dozen times, and at each sneeze the sauciest of the girls said something and the others laughed. By this time the other passengers were interested and everybody awaited the man's sneeze. He kept it up at intervals for the next half mile, and everybody in the car roared at each explosion. New passengers got in to find the whole car in convulsions. Staid persons at first tried not to laugh, but when the man's face twitched as his sneeze hung fire and the sauciest girl cried, "Watch him go off," even they had to join in the fun.

Passengers came and went, but the man and the three girls remained. Everybody came in sober and went out laughing, and after the thing had been going on for three miles the passengers who got in at the postoffice were in doubt whether the man had fever or was only an excellent facial contortionist.

Land Office to Move.

The land office will be moved tomorrow afternoon into the building formerly occupied by the postoffice. Mr. Vogt has had the rooms repainted and partitioned to suit the work for which it is intended and today the paper hangers are putting the finishing touches to their work. The walls and ceiling are covered with a light and very handsome paper, giving the rooms a bright and cheerful appearance. A counter runs the full length of the room, and in the west end a large room has been partitioned off to be used in taking testimony, hearing contest cases, etc. The rooms are commodious, and convenient to the public.

Strayed.

From the fair grounds, one black mare, white hind foot, small white spot in forehead, and one light sorrel horse, white hind foot, small white strip in face and saddle marked, both branded A on left stifle. Horse also branded A on the right hind leg. A liberal reward will be paid for information which will lead to their recovery, by the undersigned. A. S. MACALLISTER.
