GUARD THE BOYS.

The effects of bad associates and of leaving boys to be their own guardians, and to grow up without parental restraint is again made visible in a brilliant object lesson. A year ago or more Hawthorne, Rowe, Savage, Klein and perhaps another boy or two, began going together, and one of them at least being criminally inclined, soon set the others to thinking in that line. As a result they soon began a series of petty pilfering, finally winding up with the burglary of Mays & Crowe's store, which, as it now appears, was done for the purpose of getting guns and ammunition, with which the gang intended to hold up the passenger train near the high trestle west of town. Their punishment came speedily. As a result of their associations, one is in the penitentiary, another is awaiting a trial for murder, and the other two are awaiting trial for burglary and robbery, which will probably give them a long term in the penitentiary. Besides this, one partner in crime, Hayes, is dead, and Karpolis, the Indian policeman, is murdered. Most of this chain of crime was due to parental irresponsibility.

About the nerviest thing we have seen in a long time is the attempt of the so-called "Pinkerton detectives" of Portland to claim the credit of discovering the clew by which the robbers of the express office here were caught and the money secured. As a matter of fact the entire statement in the Oregonian yesterday, as far as it relates to the Pinkertons, is without shape, and void. They had nothing to do with it, and their statement is made from whole cloth. Sheriff Dryer was the first to suspect Savage and Klein, and he followed his clew to a successful end. If, as the Pinkerton's assert, they had furnished the clew, through Hawthorne's statement, why did not they or the detectives here follow it? It was certainly worthy of attention. The truth is, that the Pinkertons are trying to gain a little cheap notoriety at some one's else expense. The public generally is very chary about Pinkerton evidence, even under oath, and the claim made by them in this case will not improve their reputation any in this neighborhood. Special Agent of the Surety Company F. B. Lord and Route Agent Beckwith were untiring in their efforts and rendered efficient aid to the sheriff.

According to the latest dispatches the Japanese have chased the czar across the Yalu river and given him only three days in which to die. The czarovitch is expected to marry the daughter of the Mikado at Ping Yang, on the coast at Whoa-Haw-Gee; and Princess Alix will open the campaign for David Bennett Hill with prayer and a hatchet, at Skeneateles, some time if not sooner. Von Caprivi at the request of Bismarck, has resigned the position of chancellor of the Prussian empire in favor of Li Hung Chang, who has presented his three-eyed peacock feather to Von Hohenlobe Schillingfurst who refused it because Li Hung had just had, the yellow jack at Shanghai. The most sensational thing of the week, however, is that Marshal Yamotaga attacked Kin Len Chong, near Tai Len Wan. He cheered his troops on by shouting, "I Kin Chow the rag with Feng Hoang Cheng from Moukden to Peking and back Aigin."

There can be but one result to the war between Japan and China. On the one side is a warlike nation, full of vim and patriotism, its soldiers willing to die in the cause for which they are fighting, to the greater glory of their country. On the other side is a nation with no love of country, whose petty officers plunder the privates and whose higher officers plunder those beneath them. A country where the admiral sells the guns and ammunition from his ships, where the general paints clay balls and passes them off for cannon balls. Where the poor devil of a soldier has nothing to gain if victorious and everything to lose, which is his life, by staying in the fight. A country whose officers alone are rewarded in case of victory, and whose soldiers are slaves. There can be but one end to a contest between such forces and that end is approaching very rapidly.

The last battle won by the Japs has set the Chinese to thinking seriously, and even they are beginning to realize that the situation is serious and that the capture of Peking is not only possible, but extremely probable. The Chinese army is an undisciplined mob, poorly armed, and is indeed a poor and weak reed upon which to lean. Unless outside nations interfere, the capture of Peking is only a question of time.

Argentina has had a severe earthquake, and an immense damage has been done. From latest reports, it is probable the loss of life will reach 2000 and perhaps more. Reports from the interior are coming in slowly, but each adds to certainty of the first estimates being none too small. Whole towns were destroyed and thousands are left homeless.

Next Tuesday is election day, and by Wednesday night the results will be pretty well known. It is exceedingly hard to tell what the American people will do under any given circumstances, but it does not seem possible that but one answer will be given, and that will be an overwhelming defeat of democracy.

Someone in Vancouver, B. C., suggests that the ship Ivanhoe, which cleared from Seattle for San Francisco and on which Editor Grant was a passenger, may have sailed direct for China. This is hardly probable, and is a very weak straw to grasp at. The chances are that the fate of the ship will never be known.

By what authority prisoners are taken into court and examined in star chamber proceedings, it is hard to say. The Portland Sun hits the matter square in a short editorial, which we re-print. This thing of holding secret sessions of court has no justification either in law or decency.

For the many accidents that occur about the farm or household, such as burns, scalds, bruises, cuts, ragged wounds, bites of animals, mosquitoes or other insects, galls or chafed spots, frost bites, aches or pains in any part of the body, or the ailments resulting from exposure, as neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has proved itself a sovereign remedy. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. For sale by the Snipes-Kinersly Drug Co.

We have made arrangements with the San Francisco Examiner to furnish it in connection with THE CHRONICLE. Having a clubbing rate with the Oregonian and N. Y. Tribune for our republican patrons, we have made this arrangement for the accommodation of the democratic members of THE CHRONICLE family. Both papers, the Weekly Examiner and SEMI-WEEKLY CHRONICLE will be furnished for one year for $2.25, cash in advance.

Novelist—My book ran through three editions. What did yours run through? Poet (sighing)—Four years' saved-up salary.

When persons are weak and languid, from sickness or overwork, feel debilitated and depressed, it is an indication that the blood is out of order, and they need help to throw off the miserable feeling. The best remedy for this purpose is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It restores lost strength, gives vigor to circulation, promotes good appetite and a flow of cheerful spirits. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by the Snipes-Kinersly Drug Co.

Carlisle Will Make No Speeches.
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—It is officially announced that Carlisle will make no speeches during the campaign.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness. This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the cough has developed it will prevent the attack. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

The regular subscription price of the WEEKLY CHRONICLE is $1.50 and the regular price of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is $1.50. Any one subscribing for THE CHRONICLE and paying for one year in advance can get both THE CHRONICLE and the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for $2.00. All old subscribers paying their subscriptions a year in advance will be entitled to the same offer.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN.

Or the two thousand girl students in the London Guildhall school of music about three hundred are studying music.

MISS SCHUYLER, the American singer and composer, known on the stage as Idalia Scalla, is reported to be about to renounce the world and enter a Catholic convent.

Rev. Mr. Job, of North Middleboro, Mass., has fitted up in the steeple of his church a play room, in which babies are taken care of by volunteer nurses while the mothers attend divine service.

The daughter of the late king of Sweden, now crown princess of Denmark, is the giantess among the royal personages of Europe. Her highness amounts to considerably over six feet.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The only woman lawyer in Spain is Manuela y Palido, of Madrid, whose portrait, with her permission to practice law in the Spanish courts, hung in Spain's exhibit in the Woman's building at the world's fair.

RUDYARD KIPLING seems to have hit the nail squarely on the head in his summing up of the situation of the latter-day woman. Says he: "A woman to-day can do exactly what her body and soul will let her," and she certainly can.

CURRENT PUNS.

Mrs. GAYBOY—"Is your husband's yacht a centerboard?" Mrs. Boozeligh—"No, a sideboard."—Town Topics.

CALLER—"Doesn't it worry you to think of your daughter on the ocean?" Old Lady—"Dear me, no; she can swim."—High School Review.

Widow—"Mr. Jones, your sympathy strikes me very forcibly." Mr. Jones—"Thanks; I meant it for a sympathetic strike."—Detroit Free Press.

"I OBJECT," said the mosquito in a theatrical hotel, to this interference in my business. The idea of my not being permitted to do my act without a net!—Washington Star.

THERE appears to be no good reason for withdrawing the original yachting proposition to England; that if she will furnish the wind this country will provide the speed.—Washington Post.

KIND-HEARTED STRANGER—"But if you were, as you say, a champion pugilist, what reduced you to this terrible condition—drink?" Mendicant—"No, sir; I lost me voice."—Cambridge High School Review.

TEACHER—"Johnny, can you tell me from what part we get beefsteak from a cow?" Johnny—"Frum de shanks." Teacher—"And where do we get milk?" Johnny—"O, we gits dat frum aunder place!"—Syracuse Post.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

THE temperature of the sun is placed by scientists at 10,000 to 20,000 degrees F.

It is computed that every year the earth receives about 140,000,000,000 shooting stars, which fall on its surface and thus slowly increase its mass.

PROF. DOLBEAR says electricity possesses no virtue as such for the cure of disease. It will make as bad ulcers as it will heal and destroy life as completely as strychnine or the guillotine.

It is not likely that earthquakes ever result from electric disturbances, and it has not yet been proved that they ever give rise to any such, though when large masses of rock are displaced, as in Japan in 1891, slight local changes in magnetic curves have resulted.

PROF. ASA GRAY says that the Washington elm at Cambridge has been estimated to produce seven million leaves, which would make a surface radiation of about five acres in extent, and give out every fair day in the growing season seven and three-fourths tons of moisture.

LUNAR halos are sometimes large and sometimes small, because they are formed at different heights in the air.

The glow-worm has a brush attached to its tail, because it is necessary to show its light that the back be kept clean.

DECAYING wood and putrefying fish look luminous in the dark, because they are really undergoing a slow combustion.

IRON bedsteads are safe during a thunderstorm, because, being good conductors, they keep the electricity from the body.

SILVER tarnishes when exposed to the light, because of the actinic or chemical property possessed by the rays of the sun.

A BURNING gas jet is unhealthy in a bed chamber, because one gas light gives out as much carbonic acid gas as two sleepers.

WHITE clothing is cool, because it reflects the heat of the sun; black clothing is warm, because it absorbs both heat and light.
