PRATTLING BABES.

In these days a poor devil of a man has a hard time of it. He can't look at a woman any more without the fear of a suit for damages.

A case in Portland in which a former Dalles boy figures as a defendant, shows that our girls are getting an insight into this breach of promise business at an age when their respected grandmothers were playing with their dolls.

THE PORTLAND FAIR.

Portland is to have the wind-up of the world's fair. While it will not be comparable to the white city of Chicago, the midwinter exhibition at San Francisco, or even the Tacoma collection, yet it will be the biggest thing of the kind ever held in Portland.

Mr. F. B. Hardt has arrived at Portland and has taken charge of the business. He says he has "been interested in exposition work for more than twenty years."

THE LEXOW COMMITTEE.

The Lexow committee, which is examining into the alleged crookedness in the city government of New York, has made some startling discoveries. That is it has set the public to thinking seriously about what it knew before, that is, that the government of the city was systematically plundered by its officers.

The United States engineers have made the preliminary survey for the boat railway, and are ready to negotiate for the right of way. We understand that already some pretty steep prices are charged or suggested to be charged.

the building of the railway, but when this is done, nothing more should be asked. The matter is one in which all Eastern Oregon is interested to a greater extent than The Dalles is, but we are not greedy, and when once the river below us is open, would like to have all our neighbors share in its benefits.

The Spokesman-Review of Spokane gives some figures which indicate that Wallace, the Tacoma democratic boss, has been doing some fine work for his party. According to its statement, the democrats and populists have combined or fused in a sufficient number of legislative districts to make it quite possible that they will control the legislature.

The News in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Russian minister was profoundly moved by the announcement of the emperor's death. When the official announcement is received, the legation will be closed until after the funeral, and the minister and secretaries will wear mourning for one year.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE CZAREVITCH. LONDON, Nov.—According to a special despatch from St. Petersburg a conspiracy against the life of the czarevitch has been discovered. For several days the police have been arresting nihilists. Among those arrested are several students.

YOUNG BUT A WISE OBSERVER.

What a Little French Girl Saw at a Ball to Amuse Her.

The little French girl stood at my elbow while I wrote. She was leaning on the window sill, one little hand supporting her black head, says a writer in the New York Advertiser. Far across the lawn she could hear the rise and fall of music and the sound of laughter and of tripping feet.

A very good reason, to be sure. But when the world amused me I never laughed. Patinette is more than clever for ten years, and more bizarre in her notions than clever, so I asked: "Why does it amuse you?"

"Well, par exemple, is it not bete to dance, to dance always one way, round and round, with no aim to get nowhere, only to go round, to twirl?"

"And is it not bete to stay up till twelve when one's bed is ready at eight and one's eyes sleepy? And is it not stupid to wear a décollete gown and long gloves when one's arms are prettier than one's neck? The world 'amuse'!"

TWO SIDES TO THE QUESTION.

In Fitting Spectacle Bows to the Ears Both Must Be Considered.

Having selected a pair of frames with a nose piece of the right height and spread to bring the glasses into the proper position, and having had them fitted with glasses made in accordance with the oculist's prescription, the optician now proceeds to fit the completed spectacles to your head, says the New York Sun.

But no, he reaches over and places the bows over your ears himself. Then he tries the spectacles gently, as they rest upon your nose, taking hold at the outer ends of the frame, where the bows hinge.
