Hon. F. P. Mays has formed a partnership with Portland attorneys. The firm will be known as Carey, Idleman, Mays & Webster.

The pipe line has been finished from Bull Run to the reservoir at Mt. Tabor, and the water will be turned in, in a few days, as soon as provisions are made for carrying off the waste water.

The R. E. French Dramatic company will be here Monday night with the celebrated play, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The La Grande Chronicle speaks in the highest terms of the play, which was given there Thursday evening.

The streets have been crowded with teams all day, it being one of the busiest appearing days of the year. If our merchants and business men have been trading in proportion to the number of people in town, they ought all to be happy.

The committee of One Hundred, organized some time since in Portland to overhaul things generally, is fast going to pieces. The members retiring, it is said, being convinced that what the committee now needs is another committee to watch it.

Mr. Hugh Glenn, who has charge of putting in the new incline and rearrang-ing the portage road to connect with it, at the Cascade Locks, expects to have the work completed by the 10th. He estimates the cost of making the changes at about $1000.

Mr. Frank Jones and Clarence Morgan of Hood River, have just finished setting out 20,000 strawberry plants for Dr. Sanders. The plants were set on the doctor's place on 3-Mile, and if they meet with no misfortunes should produce two tons and a half of berries next spring.

Col. Lovell has been found guilty of the larceny of state funds to the amount of $1,759.48 and Governor Penoyer has approved the findings of the court martial. The sentence of the court is that he be dismissed from the service, and that he pay a fine to the state military fund of $1,759.48.

The Union Whist Club, which for the past two winters has afforded its members so many pleasant evenings, was re-organized last evening, with Judge Bradshaw as Grand Highinkadink, which insures the good order and success of the club. The membership is the same, with a few exceptions, and no doubt the club will be as much of a pleasure to its members as ever.

Good Law.

Two young men were brought before Justice Soesbe Thursday, charged with an assault upon Eugene Bush. C. P. Heald appeared for the prosecution and L. Henry for the defense. Defendants demanded a jury trial, which resulted in a verdict of guilty as charged, and the boys were each fined $20, one-half the costs, amounting to $50. It is hoped that this will be a salutary lesson which will tend to prevent further violations of law and order. It is a notorious fact that a number of boys in the community have been in the habit of carrying their sports too far, both on the streets and at our churches, and when boys will assault a poor weak-minded, homeless, but honest and industrious individual, and stone him under cover of darkness and call it sport, it is high time the attention of the law was attracted, and we are glad to know that the officers of the law and the good citizens of this community are determined to see that law and order shall prevail in the future. When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Little, But Oh My!

Deputy District Attorney Geo. Hayes tells a good one on himself. A few days ago he was returning from a trip on horseback to the Island, and having given his horse a hard ride, pulled the jaded animal down to a walk as he came into the lane at Sayer's sawmill. It was getting dark, and he had dropped the bridle reins on the horse's neck and was letting it take its own gait, when suddenly the animal shied to one side, stiffened his legs and stood as motionless as the O. P. railroad extension. George started to raise his quirt, but at the same instant the horse went into the air, and in one time and two motions landed some 25 feet forward. As the horse arose from terra firma George discovered the cause.

A large skunk, which in the dark appeared as big as a dog, was in the middle of the road and bearing down upon them with its narrative aloft and decorating the atmosphere with a dark brown odor. The abrupt performance of the horse unseated the rider, but the thought of being mingled with that perfumed cat in a night seance made him freeze onto the loggerhead and hang at all hazards to the horse, which rounded the corners and went down the lane at a Flying Jib gait. It was a case of stay aboard or get skunked. Scientists state that it is all tommyrot about one's "hair standing on end" when he gets scared, but George says as he gazed into the sanguine eyes of that musk-bearing rodent, with the prospect of it flaunting its rear appendage among his unguillotined whiskers, every individual hair on his head rose to a point of order and his tongue went on a strike. There are moments when we'd rather be alone.—Burns Herald.

A Distinguished Divine.

The Sunday Oregonian has the following brief biography of Rev. Erasmus VanDeerlin, who will occupy the pulpit of the Episcopal church here tomorrow: "Rev. Mr. VanDeerlin graduated from Cambridge university, England, in 1870, and was ordained to the deaconate in 1871, at Worcester cathedral. For two years he was curate of St. Stephen's church, Birmingham, England, a parish containing 20,000 souls. He was next curate of Rombe Abbey for three years, and afterward curate in the parish of Syderstone, Norfolk, for four years. He was offered the living of Cotleigh, Devonshire, but declined that rectorship, and came to this country, bearing letters to such distinguished bishops as the Right Rev. Dr. Henry C. Potter, of New York, and Right Rev. Geo. F. Seymour, of Springfield, Ill., and to Dr. Houghton, of the Church of the Transfiguration, New York. In the latter church he preached his first sermon in this country. He was rector of Christchurch, New Haven, for about four years, in which time he did a very successful work. He was afterward chaplain at Kemper hall, Kenosha, Wis., and was subsequently rector of Whittaker hall, Reno, Nev."
