UTAH TO DECIDE.

The latest proposition concerning the organizing of the next senate is contained in a dispatch from Washington yesterday, which is as follows:

"A point that has been overlooked in computing the political complexion of the next senate is the admission of Utah with two senators. The act of the last session of congress admitting Utah provides that in March, 1895, the constitutional convention shall be held. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday of that year the constitution is to be submitted to the people, and if ratified and found by the president to be in accordance with the act, he will issue a proclamation admitting it as a state.

What the Oregonian Says of Her. No more fitting testimonial of the Portland public appreciation of good music could have been given than the attendance that greeted the farewell benefit concert of the Zapadores band, at the exposition building yesterday afternoon. The program opened with Verdi's overture "Jeanne d'Arc," a beautiful selection that called forth a most demonstrative applause.

When giants lived in ancient times, Sing heigh, my boy, sing ho! In good old England, or foreign climes, Sing heigh, my boy, sing ho!

But the giants didn't have things their own way when Jack-the-Giant-killer arrived on the scene. You remember the story. Recollect, too, that every age has its giant-killer. We have our giants in the form of all sorts of dread diseases, supposed to be incurable. Our Jack is in the form of Dr. Pierce, who has proven the expression "incurable diseases" to be a fallacy.

President Cleveland, it is said actually thinks of posing as a third term candidate, and thinks that the election two years ago was caused by his wonderful popularity and the landslide this year by the fact that he was not a candidate. Mr. Cleveland has always been larger than his party, but if he wants all the egotism knocked out of himself, all he will have to do is to secure the nomination in '96.

Portland's police ring has taken a solemn warning by the fate of Tammany, and has heroically made an attempt to stop gambling, and to show the good citizens that no vices of this kind can exist in that city. They arrested a man named McGrath, and convicted him too of throwing dice in a saloon. The fact that several big faro games are running steadily in the city, seems never to have been suspected by the innocent police; but if they ever find it out—they won't let anybody know it. It might hurt the good name of the city, and at the same time cut off a splendid source of revenue.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Welshon, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton Drugists.
