BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Hogs are arriving quite freely, but the price is just a little off from last quotations, averaging from $3.75 to $4.

The annual election of officers of St. Paul's Guild will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

There was a decided change in the atmosphere this morning, although it was a bright clear day. The thermometer took a tumble of several degrees.

The arrest of Broadbent at Hood River night before last caused intense excitement, and for awhile it was feared the law would be administered then and there.

Congressman Ellis is in Portland, but expects to start for Washington next Monday evening. He will be a passenger on tonight's train bound for his home at Heppner before departing for the east.

The case of the State against Dan Maloney went to the jury last night, which after being out three-quarters of an hour brought in a verdict of guilty. He will probably receive his sentence tomorrow.

Work was commenced on the foundation of the cold storage building, corner of First and Laughlin streets, this morning. The building will be 72 by 42 feet, with double walls, flooring and ceiling. Several carloads of lumber to be used in its construction were unloaded this morning.

The flower show at Mrs. C. L. Phillips' last night was quite well attended, but not so well as it deserved to be. The program was of unusual merit, and the exhibit of chrysanthemums extraordinarily good. One handsome pink quilled flower, known as the "Lillian Bird," measured six inches in diameter. Quite a number of bouquets were donated by the ladies, and sold for the benefit of the church.

We have made arrangements with the San Francisco Examiner to furnish it in connection with THE CHRONICLE. Having a clubbing rate with the Oregonian and N. Y. Tribune for our republican patrons, we have made this arrangement for the accommodation of the democratic members of THE CHRONICLE family. Both papers, the Weekly Examiner and SEMI-WEEKLY CHRONICLE will be furnished for one year for $2.25, cash in advance.

An exchange says: This is a peculiar world. One is struggling for justice and another is fleeing from it. One man is saving to build a house, and another is trying to sell his for less than cost to get rid of it. One man is spending all the money he can make in taking a girl to the theater and sending her flowers, with the hope of making her his wife, while his neighbor is spending what gold he has in getting a divorce. One man escapes all the diseases that flesh is heir to and gets killed on the railroad. Another escapes with a scratch, and dies with the whooping cough. One man stands off his creditors and goes a traveling, while another pays his debts and stays at home.

An Idle Rumor.

A rumor was flying around last night to the effect that the grand jury had returned "not a true bill" against Gibbons and Savage. A dozen different stories were told as to how the information had become public, as the grand jury had not reported on the case nor have they done so yet. Until they do it would be just as well to refrain from comment upon their actions. The rumor demonstrates one thing and that is that a good single-handed prevaricator can stir up whole lots of talk and argument, and set a whole community by the ears, without any of them taking the trouble to examine into the correctness of the rumors. A grand jurymen remarked that as the jurors were sworn to secrecy, he could not venture any information as to what the jury had done, but called attention to the fact that as far as the public knew in the case named, it had done nothing.

The Black Sheep.

At the wool scouring mill the last lot of wool has been secured comprising tags, the poorest quality made from the fleece. The cleaning of 10,000 pounds of black wool is the finishing work of the season. It will take a week or two to sort it, as every particle of white wool has to be segregated from the lot, and the fleece of a spotted black sheep requires careful sorting. When the proprietors of the mill visited the Sound country recently they purchased 100,000 feet of lumber of Steve Manchester, a Tacoma lumberman, to be used for flooring and rafters in the new warehouse. Seven car loads of this lumber have arrived.—Pendleton Tribune.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hon. Zera Snow of Portland is in the city.

Mr. R. B. Hood arrived home from Portland last night.

Mr. D. S. Clapper of Hood River, who has been in Sherman county for the past three weeks, passed through on his way home today.

The many friends of Mrs. B. F. Laughlin, who has been dangerously ill for the past few days, will be pleased to know that she is improving.

Mr. J. A. Soesbe, justice of the peace of Hood River precinct, and C. A. Bell, the hotel keeper, of that enterprising city came up on the afternoon local.

MARRIED.

In this city, Tuesday evening, Nov. 20th, Justice L. S. Davis performing the ceremony, Mr. John Ryan to Mrs. Sarah E. Stanton.
