THE BANNER FRUIT COUNTY.

Wasco county this year produced nearly a million bushels of wheat. We make the prediction now that in seven years she will produce more bushels of apples than she does of wheat...

Few people, even of the county, realize what is taking place at Hood River. Thousands of trees are reaching the bearing stage, many of them yielding their first crop this fall...

The fear is expressed that the fruit market will be overdone. We do not anticipate anything of that kind. In fact, if we can take the estimates of census experts, this country will soon recover from its present depression...

The agricultural interests are now at an ebb that will never again be reached, and which must soon be succeeded by returning prosperity. We think that from this cause, if no other, there need be no fear of over-production...

Wasco county will soon be in the front rank, and she will stay there.

AN EASY FAILURE.

The attempt to build up the gold reserve by selling bonds is not proving eminently successful. The theory is all right but in putting the scheme in practice the results are not what are desired.

The situation is somewhat like that of the old German and his good old wife who bought a keg of beer for their own use. They agreed, in order to create a fund for purchasing another keg when that one was gone, upon a plan by which that very desirable object could be attained.

If anything were wanting to prove the superior energy and aggressiveness of our northern neighbor, and the staid and conservative methods of Oregon, that thing has been furnished by the trotting out of a real live volcano.

Mt. Ranier in the shade. If this does not happen, we suggest that after the senatorial election is over a bill be passed compelling Mt. Hood to erupt.

The czar is dead and buried; but Tom Reed of Maine still lives.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Chas. Hilton is again home from his ranch near Fossil.

Mr. Wm. Harder, representing the Great Northern Railway, is in the city today, and called at The Chronicle office.

Mrs. Ira F. Powers was a passenger on last night's east-bound train, on her way to join her husband at La Grande, where he has gone into business.

Mr. F. M. Bixby came over from Goldendale last night bringing a portion of the pump belonging to the city water-works for repairs.

Advertised Letters.
