The United States grand jury failed to find a bill against Gibbons, Savage or Klein for robbing the postoffice here. There was no testimony except that of Klein, and that unsupported would not be sufficient to convict. Besides the testimony coming from a person already convicted of a crime had but little weight.

Saturday Peter J. Omeg filed his complaint in the circuit court against Emma J. Omeg, his wife, from whom whom he seeks a divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, by which his life is made burdensome. They were married at Vermilion, Dakota, Jan. 20, 1869, and besides two children of age have three minors, the oldest 18, the youngest 13 years.

Cayuses in the South.

Messrs. Jacobs and Allen, two Crook county horsemen, recently shipped a few carloads of horses to South Carolina. Owing to a dispute about freight money the railroad company sold the horses for the bill, while the owners brought suit against them for damages. The sheriff sold the horses, but the men in charge of them refused to deliver them, and then the seance commenced. The Oregon cayuses were on their mettle and disposed to show the people of the south what they were capable of. The Charleston News describes the scene as follows:

Most people are familiar with the amusing incidents of "old boss sales," as they are called. Greenville has just had a novel experience in a "young boss" sale. Sheriff Gilreath sold on last Thursday at auction 176 wild horses, from an Oregon stock farm, which had been attached for freight by a railroad company. The ranchmen in charge of the droves refused to deliver the goods. The sheriff undertook to deliver them himself. The News reporter says: "The horses plunged, reared, kicked, fell down and got up, tangled themselves in all kinds of queer ways, and jerked the arms of the people who endeavored to hold them almost out of their sockets. By hard work, lasting the whole afternoon, 13 were 'cut out,' haltered and delivered. Most of them disappeared on various roads leading out of the city with a whoop and a cloud of dust, and with from two to six citizens trailing along behind them at high rates of speed. It was the most fun there has been here in years."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Concerning Forfeited Lands.

December 5th Senator Dolph introduced the following bill in the senate, which is self explanatory:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

That "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to forfeit certain lands heretofore granted for the purpose of aiding in the construction of railroads, and for other purposes,' approved September twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and ninety, and the several acts amendatory thereof," approved December twelfth, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"That section three of an act entitled 'An act to forfeit certain lands heretofore granted for the purpose of aiding in the construction of railroads, and for other purposes,' approved September twenty-ninth, eighteen hundred and ninety, and the several acts amendatory thereof, be, and the same is, amended so as to extend the time within which persons entitled to purchase lands forfeited by said act shall be permitted to purchase the same, in the quantities and upon the terms provided in said section, at any time prior to January first, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven: Provided, That actual residence upon the lands by persons claiming the right to purchase the same shall not be required where such lands have been fenced, cultivated, or otherwise improved by such claimants, and such persons shall be permitted to purchase two or more tracts of such lands by legal subdivisions, whether contiguous or not, but not exceeding three hundred and twenty acres in the aggregate: And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to interfere with any adverse claim that may have attached to the lands or any part thereof."

Third Regiment Notes.

Col. Thompson has just submitted his report of the condition of the Third regiment to Adjutant General Mitchell. The report covers a period of two years. Through the kindness of Adjutant H. H. Riddell we are permitted to glean the following from the report. The total receipts from the state for the years '93 and '94 were $6,421.07; total disbursements $6,134.44. The total number of companies is six; total company officers 27; enlisted men including 17 in the hospital corps, 279, total officers and men 306. The companies have their headquarters as follows: A. Wasco, Sherman county; B. Weston, Umatilla county; D. Hood River, Wasco county; F. Baker City, Baker county; G. The Dalles, Wasco county. We learn further from the report, that the companies are generally in very good shape, though they are in need of camp equipage, tents, etc. Commissions have arrived recently for Lieut. Col. Patterson and First Lieut. A. L. Reese.

She Did It With Her Hatchet.

Saturday evening, Caroline, the stalwart princess of the Wasco tribe, was arrested on a charge of assault and battery committed upon another squaw, at the palatial residence of the latter, on Mill creek. She was tried this morning before Recorder Dufur, and found guilty. It was the old, old case with a woman in it. It might be said that there were "two women in it," but one of them the evidence showed was not "in it," but that one was not Caroline. The deed was not caused by the jealous promptings of a love denied, but sustained and upborne by a pint of the pale faces whisky tucked safely beneath her corset, she felt it her bounden duty to reduce the number of the tribe, so she took an ax belonging to her quondam friend and struck her over the right eye with the edge thereof. The wound was not serious, but the court after duly considering the circumstances of the case, sentenced her to pay a fine of $50, in default of which Caroline will board at the county's expense for 25 days.

True to Name.

The "Jolly Chums" gave a very creditable performance here Saturday night, to a good house. Some of the songs were good, and "catchy," but the third act was rather rocky. The local gags were clever though Jim Crate may not think so. At Portland the troop were to show last night at the Orpheum, but as "A Turkish Bath" had the theater for that night, the manager put on both plays, the "Turkish Bath" coming first. When the curtain raised on the "Jolly Chums" those jolly individuals were found to be true to name, and both were jolly drunk. In consequence the curtain was rung down in the second act, and the "Jolly Chums" went on to Olympia where they will play tonight.
