BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Fast falls the snow, Oh! lady mine,
Sprinkling the lawn with crystals fine;
But by the gods! we won't reprove
While we're together.
We'll kiss and chat and rhyme and dine,
Defying weather.

Then stir the fire and pour the wine
And let those sea-green eyes divine
Pour their love madness into mine.
I don't care whether
'Tis sun or snow or storm or shine,
If we're together.

The legislature meets two weeks from today.

Andrew Keller has a four-room cottage to rent.

Don't forget to write it 1895, for 1894 is a back number after today.

Probate court meets on the 7th, and commissioners' court on the 9th.

City council meets in regular session Thursday evening, the 3d day of January, 1895.

The weather bureau reports for today and tomorrow, occasional snow, and stationary temperature.

There is a special meeting of the city council to act upon petitions for liquor licenses, beginning at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

It is stated that Senator Dolph will return from Washington to take direct charge of his fight before the legislature next month.

Friday night some person or persons broke into Charley Cooper's cellar, on the hill, and swiped a lot of butter, pies and other eatables.

The awarding of prizes at Maier & Benton's will take place at their grocery store tonight at 8 o'clock, instead of 9 as advertised heretofore.

There was just snow enough fell last night to spoil the skating and not enough to make good coasting. The weather, at the same time, moderated so that the ice is no longer safe.

Quite a number of persons sampled the skating yesterday. The ice was only about an inch thick, and this only along the edge of the slough. Still it was skating, and so the boys stayed with it.

The South Oregon Monitor, published at Medford, in its issue of Dec. 28th, makes the startling announcement that "three boys were fined $10 apiece for stealing melons, and were serving out the fine."

A bold, bad man took possession of the Aiken boarding house for a short time this morning, and gave things a brisk Christmas appearance for a while until Marshal Blakeney was sent for, who took him in charge and put him in the city refrigerator to cool off.

Florida has been visited by a blizzard that has cost the state millions of dollars. At least one-half of the immense orange crop, estimated at five millions of boxes, was still on the trees, and was frozen solid. It is the coldest weather ever known there, the thermometer marking 16 above. Water pipes were frozen and ice formed on the ponds.

We are requested to state by several of our business men that they will not collect until Thursday, the 3d day of January, A. D., 1895. Owing to the coincidence of the first day of the month falling on the first day of the year, and both coming before the usual collection day, or the 2d, caused this action, which we suppose will be made unanimous.

The grand masquerade given by Wasco tribe of Redmen, takes place at Wingate's hall tonight. The indications are that it will be one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in The Dalles, for everybody is going. We are told some very handsome costumes will be shown and there is at least one that we know of that is "fearfully and wonderfully made."

Miss Lilla Wentworth, accompanied by a black eye, visited the city recorder's office this morning and made complaint against Harry somebody, charging him with presenting her the black eye aforesaid. Her musical and rippling laughter as she invoked the law showed that she was not actuated by malice, but moved only by a desire to see the statutes of the state upheld.

I. O. O. F. Installation.

There will be an installation of the officers of Columbia Lodge, No. 5, I. O. O. F., at their hall on Friday evening, Jan. 4th, 1895, at 8 o'clock. The grand master is expected to be present. All Odd Fellows with their wives are cordially invited to attend.

By order of the committee of arrangements.

We Will Still Smoke.

Tomorrow being New Year's day, the usual amount of good resolutions will be made in the morning, many of which will be broken before night, and all of them before a month. When you see Jones going around looking like his mother-in-law was coming to visit him, you may know that he has discarded his pipe. By noticing his face each morning you can tell when the unequal struggle is lost. Jones can quit any time, and as soon as he satisfies himself on this point by abstaining for from 24 to 48 hours, he knows that no habit can ever get the best of him, and so, feeling perfectly safe, he finds his pipe again. Smith has the same plan for rum. Robinson is equally successful in quitting pool and staying out late, and so in turn the whirligig turns round, and we all pursue the even tenor of our sinful ways.

As for us, gentle reader, we have but one really bad habit, and that is a hankering after a good cigar. We have no intention of swearing off, either, for we have tried it just enough to know that we can if we want to. No, sir, we don't intend to swear off until we see if we have to.

The Glorious Climate of Texas.

"Yes, seh," said Representative Hutcheson, of Texas, to a Washington Post reporter, in reply to the usual remark; "yes, seh, this certainly is a charming day. But us folks from Texas don't enthuse over it, because you know seh, we have this kind o' weather right along down in our state. Ourskies rival the blue of Italy's far-famed cerulean vault, and from the birth of winter, seh, till the beautiful month of May melts in the lap of gorgeous perfumed June, the fragrance of whose roses sweetens the breath of our nostrils till winter, those skies look down on the Lone Star state and see just such weather as this."

"As good as the far-famed weather of Florida, Mr. Hutcheson?"
"As good, seh? Better. And what's more, we are not eternally talking about it, either. But then we don't live through the summers on fish and through the winter on Yankees."

Christmas Tree on Mill Creek.

UPPER MILL CREEK, Dec. 28, '94.
DEAR SIR:-I have come to life again and will say news is scarce, still we had the finest Christmas tree in the far west. The tree was loaded with good presents for both old and young. Lots of the young people from Three Mile and Dutch Flat were present and laughed till their sides ached at a piece acted by J. W. Fausher, entitled "Jo Abb the Greenhorn."
Well Mr. Editor I will come as soon as I can again. Yours as ever,
SPOONS.
