ONE-EYED JUSTICE.

The conviction of Debs and his associates completes the history of the great railroad strike. Mr. Debs was convicted of conspiracy, and was punished doubly, for being the leader of his faction. We remember well at the time Debs and his associates were arrested. The United States court, spoke very boldly as to the actions of Debs, but none the less forcefully concerning the association of railroad managers. It was asserted that Debs would be punished, but at the same time the assertion was equally strong that the railroad commissioners who conspired to enforce certain claims should also be punished. We thought at the time that the United States judge was lying willfully and maliciously, and with the sole purpose of quieting the common people, and preventing their rising up against the government and against the venal courts to protect their fellows from the unjust and unequal treatment by the said court. The lies succeeded, and the people submitted to the trial and conviction of Debs.

We want to ask if anyone has heard in anyway, a word or a whisper concerning the arrest of that railroad managers' association, or any member of it? Most assuredly not. Why? Because in these days even the United States courts bow down before the power of corporate wealth. It will not always be so. Above the corporations, above the courts, above the president himself, and above the law there is yet one power, the people. It would be a blessed thing indeed for the country could the corporations find this out, could they realize upon what a slumbering volcano they are standing. When the eruption comes, he who is neither a corporation officer nor a member of the United States senate will have something to thank his luck for, for there will be few left of either. Justice has the blind of one eye, and sees only bribes with it.

OUR GIRLS AND OUR BOYS.

Our girls are proving themselves ambitious and capable. They are going in to music, art, literature and learning with an enthusiasm and a purpose that have already brought happy results, and that have only to be continued to bring better. Out in the world they are going with a cheery determination to win laurels for themselves and their home city, and if they do not make Spokane famous, why we are not as good at prediction as we think we are.

But what of our boys? Really are they showing themselves as brave and as full of spirit as their sisters? Must it be said that the steed stands champing at its tether while the palfrey is caracoling for the journey? Are the sons of the pioneers to lead an easy life of indolence while their sisters go forth with courage and purpose? Really we do not want to be severe upon the boys, but if this order is long to continue, some one will be making remarks by and by that will set their ears to tingling.

'Every one loves a lover,' and every one loves a well-bred, ambitious, earnest young man or woman who is trying to 'get on in the world.' Next to inspiration, next to genius, is ability, and next to power is purpose. And when ambition, capability and courage are linked with youth and health, and ahead of all is the opportunity of American citizenship, there really is not an obstacle anywhere along the highway that need give serious alarm to youth in search of fame or fortune.—Spokane Review.

Burlington officials are in Butte planning to extend their line to the coast, says the Baker City Democrat. It is said they may deal with Marcus only for the new road he is building. And it is also said they are behind the Oregon Pacific purchase and the Astoria road. At any rate it is highly probably they will build through Oregon, and our people have hopes that it will pass through Grande Ronde valley.—Union Republican.

The financial question pales into nothingness beside that soul-harrowing matter as to the best baking powder. According to the sworn affidavits of the different claimants, every baking powder exhibited at the world's fair, was pronounced the best and all others were said to contain alum and everything else deleterious to health.

Ex-Congressman Butler, who has been missing for several months, was found at Indianapolis Dec. 31st. Can give no account of himself, but says his mind is a perfect blank. After next March, on the 4th day thereof, there will be innumerable ex-congressmen with minds as blank as that of Butler. In the light of Butler's case it will be well for their erstwhile political friends and their relatives to take care of them.

The failure of the daily papers to arrive with their information concerning the doings of the world is one of the most disagreeable features of the blockade. It would not be so bad if the telegraph lines would remain in working order so that the local papers could get the dispatches, but when the newspapers can't get here it is invariably the rule that the telephone and telegraph wires are also in the soup.

The Heppner Record has retired from business, printing its last paper yesterday. It makes no complaint, but turns up its little toes cheerfully, and manfully. It says that 'Onward and Upward' was its motto, and that it has gone onward ever since it started, and now it goes 'upward.' The Record was an excellent paper, but failed because there was too much newspaper for the town.

An Honest Tramp. The tramp knocked softly at the kitchen door and the nicest sweetest old lady in the world met him. He chuckled quietly, for he thought he had struck a snap that was going to be a regular bonanza find.

'Begin your pardon, lady, but can I get a bite to eat here?' he asked humbly.

'Are you very hungry?' she responded like a mother.

'Yes, lady.'

'You are out of work, I suppose?'

'Yes, lady; I have not done a lick of work since the 1st day of June.'

Something in this statement made him chuckle again, but she did not hear him, as she stepped to the cupboard to get a nice piece of pie, says the Detroit Free Press. She came back and stood with it in her hand before him like a Lady Bountiful, and his mouth began to water.

'And how long before that?' she asked with something in her tone that crushed him.

'Lady,' he gasped, 'I cannot tell a lie. Good-morning,' and he walked out of the yard while she set the pie back for the next one.

The Agricultural College.

Regent Blandford of the Agricultural college, returned home from Pullman Monday. He reports the college in fine condition, 150 pupils being in attendance. The new and imposing administration building of granite and pressed brick is now completed. He also brought a sample of unrefined sugar made at the college, from Washington sugar beets, which looks good enough to eat, and may be seen in the window of the Stewart-Holmes drug store. Mr. Blandford hopes our farmers will attend the farmers' winter school at the college which we speak of elsewhere.

Where Went It and How?

W. S. Hastings was running his horse-power wood saw at Walla Walla last Monday, with the assistance of two men, and to all intents and purposes the saw was in good condition when the men began work. After working some time the saw, like grandfather's clock, stopped short, never to go again. The men began to investigate and found that the fly wheel had suddenly disappeared. It had burst, and that, too, without making any noise. So silently did it fly away that the stopping of the saw was the only intimation that anything was wrong. One piece flew a quarter of a mile away.—East Oregonian.

Sold by Snipes & Kinersly, druggists.

From the looks of things there will be more candidates for office in the railroad commission than there are men who oppose the existence of the commission. This is evidence of itself that the salaries paid the commissioners are in excess of the benefits to the people, or so many would not be so anxious to serve the public in this capacity.—East Oregonian.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. A. J. Borie and son and Miss O'Brien arrived down yesterday, on their way from Pendleton to Portland. The Spokane sleeper in which they were, was side-tracked here, with the expectation to No. 1 would pick it up this morning, but that expectation was not fulfilled. Conductor Miller is also one of the fortunate ones left here by reason of being overlooked.

The people of La Grande and the neighboring localities have responded most generously to the appeal for aid for the Nebraska sufferers. It is probable that before this time next week as high as six cars from this valley laden with supplies will be at Grand Island ready for distribution among the people of the drouth-stricken state. And still this is but a trifling contribution as compared to what the people of this vicinity can and will do if the occasion further demands.—La Grande Chronicle.

Carlton Cornwell, foreman of the Gazette, Middleton, N. J., believes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure.
