An Historical Mansion Burned.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Jan. 5.—The old stone mansion on the Kings estate, in Weehawken, which was a portion of the estate upon which the historical duel between Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton was fought, was gutted by fire yesterday. The building was erected in 1816, and was regarded as an historical landmark. The origin of the fire is not known. A stone upon which Hamilton laid his head when he was shot down by Burr was one of the lawn ornaments.

The Albany Herald says that of the five republican legislators from Linn county, three are supposed to be against the financial views of Senator Dolph, one is for Dolph and the other is in doubt. In regard to the situation in Marion county a member of the house from that county, on being interviewed said that in his opinion Mr. Dolph had no assurance of his re-election, and that if he was not elected on the first ballot there surely would be a strong and bitter fight against him. "When such men as Tom Tongue and Charley Fulton are in the field with their large number of ardent supporters it will be no easy matter for Mr. Dolph to walk away with the plum." In regard to Lane county, the democratic Eugene Guard says: A well posted republican informs us that the Lane county delegation will probably go solid against Dolph. Another says it will stand four to one against the senator.

Carlton Cornwell, foreman of the Gazette, Middleton, N. J., believes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure.
