MOTHERS AND THEIR SONS.

Of all the selfish beings sons in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred are worst in their dealings with their mothers. They are not actively selfish, but they expect everything, love, care and anxiety as a matter of course, and they never, as young men, stop to consider what that care and anxiety means. They are no doubt good sort of fellows and ready to do this, that and the other for their mothers if it does not inconvenience them too much, but as for stopping around or taking care to show themselves now and again, it never enters their heads; thoughtless, they never dream that if they are away so many hours they are causing anxiety to their mother. If they are out too much at night they never think, or perhaps occasional qualms will cross their minds of the anxiety, intense anxiety they are causing. Generally, when the time is slipping by all too fast, or when they are separated or are growing older, they begin to learn what it all means and has meant. The very self-sacrificing love of the mother only intensifies their own forgetfulness; a more beautiful sight than a young man who is careful of his mother and thinks of her, not in the formal passive way, but in an active manner, as above all others, cannot be found. If boys could only understand that it can only occur once in a life-time, and that life slips quickly by, and that the mother's love, accepted so much as a matter of course, cannot be with them forever, how much after regrets would be saved. We old bald heads know it too well, and it is this that causes the pain or even resentment, when we see fresh generations going the same old stupid ways. What is life? Are we sure of meeting again! We don't know, therefore let us think while we may, and not have vain regrets and longings afterwards. What has been cannot be altered.—Oregon City Enterprise.

The Portland Chronicle says that as the senator-elect comes from outside of Portland, that city is entitled to a congressman in place of the officer it has lost. Well, "if you don't ask for anything, you get nothing." Portland, that casts less than one-fourth of the vote of the state, has for twelve years had both senators, and this when the balance of the state, that casts three-fourths of the vote, and more, had to be satisfied with one member of the lower house. One senator, or one congressman, is all Portland can properly lay claim to, and she has that now. The next congressman from this district will come from Eastern Oregon. Portland does not own this neck of the woods, and if she thinks she does, let her force the nomination for congress to any but an Eastern Oregon man, and see what she will see.

Our readers will remember, no doubt, the shooting in Portland a month ago, in which one Donata Morencha shot Tona Fontiana, a bootblack, and then shot himself in the stomach. They will also probably remember that Donata Morencha, in shooting himself where he was supposed to live, so perforated his intestines that fifty inches of his alimentary canal were cut out, the ends brought together and fastened with a Murphy button (whatever that is), and then he was sent to the hospital to die. Donata Morencha fooled the doctors by getting well, and just how he managed it is puzzling the whole fraternity. It is plausible at least to suppose that Donata swallowed a yard or two of maccaroni, and thus established communication in his interior department. Yesterday he was confined in the hospital's strongroom, as the grand jury will have use for him.

The dignified senators in discussing the legislative and judicial appropriation bill yesterday, indulged in considerable senatorial courtesy. Chandler of New Hampshire, Hill of New York, and Martin of Kansas passed most of the compliments, but Hoar got his work in as a bottle-holder. Martin said Chandler belonged in the penitentiary; Chandler said Hill and Martin were both political tricksters and frauds, and this kind of compliment was passed freely for half an hour. Of course the public always suspected just such things of the senators, and it will be pleased to know its opinion is backed up by the statements of these gentlemen, who, of course, are well acquainted with each other, and know whereof they speak.

In this week's San Francisco Examiner is an article on the subject of corsets, which is illustrated by a picture of two skeletons, one of a girl who wore corsets and the other of a girl who wore them not. It can be seen at a glance that the skeleton of the latter is much the finer looking. How the two girls compared when the skeletons were still clothed with flesh, of course, we do not know; but any young man, or at least any sensible young man, who desires to marry for the purpose of keeping his wife's skeleton for exhibition, will do well to choose a girl whose waist has never been compressed by anything more staying than the masculine arm.

Congress adjourns today, and surely if ever there was cause for thankfulness to an all-wise Providence that compels time to roll by, that cause can be celebrated tomorrow when the nation awakes to find that congress is no more. The next session commences next fall, and will be largely republican, the senate will be at least not democratic, and if no relief can be obtained owing to a democratic president, at least we will have no more vicious tariff legislation.

Papa—Never play a trump when you can follow suit, Susie. Susie—The idea! How unkind of you papa! I rather think I've played cards long enough to know that. What is the old trump, anyway?—Truth.

LEAVES ITS MARK

Every one of the painful irregularities and weaknesses that prey upon women. They fade the face, waste the figure, ruin the temper, wither you up, make you old before your time. Get well: That's the way to look well. Cure the disorders and ailments that beset you, with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. It's a powerful general, as well as uterine, tonic and nerve, imparting vigor and strength to the entire system.

Mrs. Anna Ulrich, of Elm Creek, Buffalo Co., Neb., writes: "I enjoy good health thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I was under doctors' care for two years with womb disease, and gradually wasting in strength all the time. I was so weak that I could sit up in bed only a few moments, for two years. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken one-half dozen bottles I was up and going wherever I pleased, and have had good health ever since—that was two years and a half ago."

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyler Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Drug-gists.

Don't neglect that cough, it leads to consumption. One Minute Cough Cure possesses a double virtue. It cures and cures quickly. Snipes-Kinersly Drug Co.

"There's one good thing to be said about Tomkins. He is perfectly truthful." "Of course he is. He is too stingy to make an extravagant statement."—Iowa Falls Citizen.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows: "Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old Mother Urged Me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."
