SOUND ON THE GOOSE.

Some of our exchanges are worrying greatly in their efforts to settle the status of Senator McBride on the silver question. The Oregonian says he has sound financial views. The Sun says he has sound financial views. The cry is caught up by more or less of the country press, and one and all decide that he has sound financial views. We think so too. We do not know what they are, neither do we know just what are sound financial views. We do not pretend to be a living encyclopedia of useful and valuable information, or to be infallible. Hence among the arguments, and strong arguments, as we understand them, made by both sides of the financial question, we have not arrived at a conclusion that we can call satisfactory to ourself. As for Senator McBride's opinions, we do not know them, and we doubt if he does, for he has nothing to say on the subject.

Charles G. Leland, in a brief poem, illustrates the case exactly. He tells of an election that came off in early days in a Pennsylvania town, the citizens dividing upon the question as to whether the geese should be allowed to run at large. As the battle waxed hot, and election day drew nigh, one shrewd politician went among the voters and requested them to vote for his candidate, because, as he told them, with a mysterious wink of his left eye, "He was sound on the goose." The poem records the fact that he was successful in the succinct statement that

"S," he was elected, before them peoples found On which side of that goose it was he stick so awfully sound."

PROSPERITY OF FRANCE.

Amid all revolutions and political changes France remains steadily prosperous. What is the secret of the prosperity of France? Some attribute it to her monetary system, but there is no special cause in this over and above the fact that the finances are well administered and good payments maintained on all interest-bearing obligations. The secret is to be found in the industry and frugality of the French people and their habit of saving. They have savings institutions under government supervision, connected with the postoffice, affording facilities and encouragement for the deposit of the smallest coin and the accumulation of an account. A savings book with a small account already started is given as a prize for excellence in the schools. The first ambition of a French boy or girl is to possess a savings book and a bank account. The habit of saving is the earliest lesson inculcated and it is one that lasts through life. Thus, when a new government loan is needed, or a subscription is asked for any enterprise, it is only necessary for the mass of the people to draw, not upon the traditional old stocking which does not pay any interest, but upon these savings accounts, upon the hoards which are always growing by the semi annual addition of a small interest rate and which in the aggregate are of almost incalculable amount.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The legislature of Washington may have elected a statesman, but they certainly did not elect a gentleman. His latest break was to make a scurrilous attack on President Cleveland, in the Turnover Club at Washington. Congressman Weaver of New York, although a republican, reelected Wilson's remarks, and so did Mr. Nathaniel Page, the great international lawyer, who is also a republican, who told Mr. Wilson that "it ill became a member of the United States senate using such language regarding the president," whereupon the peppery poppinjay and political non-descript, whom the legislature of Washington elected to an office entirely too large for him, commenced abusing Page. Only interference on the part of other members prevented a fight. Someone should spank the Washington bantam into a state of sleepiness and send him to bed.

At Union last Saturday Lawrence Caviness, convicted of the crime of seduction, married the prosecuting witness, Lillah P. Thomas, in open court, Judge Fee performing the ceremony at the time Caviness was brought in for sentence. As the penitentiary stared him in the face, Caviness weakened and was sentenced for life to Miss Thomas. The old proverb says "Of two evils choose the least," but Caviness' lack of judgment may be accounted for by the fact that he was never married before.

The Sound is having somewhat of a boom, caused by the remarkably low passenger rates on the steamers plying between San Francisco and Sound points. Cabin passage costs $5, and steerage $2.50, so that it is as cheap to travel as it is to stay at home. The Walla Walla recently took up 311 passengers and 1235 tons of freight.

The Yoran Bros. have stepped down and out of the management of the Eugene Register and C. J. Howard, L. S. Rowland and Howard Rowland have assumed control of it. Under the retiring management the Register was a first-rate little daily, and we hope it may continue as good.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Many years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., compounded this medicine of vegetable ingredients which had an especial effect upon the stomach and liver, rousing the organs to healthful activity as well as purifying and enriching the blood. By such means the stomach and the nerves are supplied with pure blood; they will not do duty without it any more than a locomotive can run without coal. You can not get a lasting cure of Dyspepsia, or indigestion, by taking artificially digested foods or pepsin—the stomach must do its own work in its own way. Do not put your nerves to sleep with so-called celery mixtures, it is better to go to the seat of the difficulty and feed the nerve cells on the food they require. Dyspepsia, indigestion, Biliousness and Nervous Affections, such as sleeplessness and weak, nervous feelings are completely cured by the "Discovery." It puts on healthy flesh, brings refreshing sleep and invigorates the whole system.

Mrs. K. HENKE, of No. 896 North Halsted St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I regard my improvement as simply wonderful. Since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in connection with his Pleasant Pellets I have gained in every respect, particularly in flesh and strength. My liver was dreadfully enlarged and I suffered greatly from dyspepsia. No physician could give relief. Now, after two months I am entirely relieved of my disease. My appetite is excellent; food well digested; bowels regular and sleep much improved."
