TO KILL THE LOCKS.

It is reported, and the report seems to be reliable, that the supervising engineer at the Cascade Locks has forwarded a recommendation to the authorities at Washington that the upper bulkhead in the canal be not removed until the side walls of the canal are completed to the extra height, which the engineers consider necessary to protect the works from such floods as we had last year. That the walls should eventually be raised to the height recommended is perhaps proper; but that the bulkhead should be left until that time is absurd. The original plans placed the walls above the high water of 1876, which, with the exception of last year, was the highest known since the whites first came to the country, eighty years ago. The only object in leaving the bulkhead would be to prevent damage to the works by a higher water than that of 1876, and as that height has only been equalled once in eighty years, it does seem that the engineer is suddenly struck with an over-abundance of caution. It seems also that there must be some other reason for making this move. If the Day Bros. are let alone, and are allowed to complete their contract according to the terms thereof, the canal will be open and boats that now ply the lower Columbia, will find their way to The Dalles within twelve months at the most. The Day Bros. are anxious to accomplish this result, but if the recommendation mentioned is adopted, the work will not be completed in five years. In the first place, the present contract cannot of course be finished until the bulkhead is taken out; the bulkhead cannot be taken out until another appropriation is made, and another appropriation cannot be made until the closing days of the next congress, which will be more than a year. The question arises as to whether an engineer and an unreasonable engineer at that, is to be permitted to tie up the work at the locks for an indefinite time, and to retard the development of the great inland country for years to satisfy a whim, or to lengthen and fatten a personal job. We have waited patiently the completion of the canal, but we are not disposed to wait yet another five years at the dictation of an ass, whether it be a government animal or not.

A NEW DANGER.

A return tide has set in with our foreign immigration and nearly as many are returning as come over. But the serious part is that it is the educated, law-abiding immigrants who are returning to their native lands whilst the lawless, ignorant rabble from Southern and Central Europe are pouring in in still greater numbers. On this subject The Interior of Chicago has the following pointed remarks: 'There is a general jubilation in the East over the fact that the tide of immigration has turned, and thousands are going back to the old world every week from American ports. But so far as we see our exchanges fail to note that it is the wrong crowd that is going back. It is not the Neopolitan but the Dane; not the Hun but the Swede. The Mosts and the Schwabs and the Niebes and the Lings only flow in one direction. We are losing thousands of honest workmen upon whom conditions of life in the old world never pressed so heavy but they are willing to return to it. But the drastic measures introduced in every legislative body of Europe to purge itself of anarchists, will result in dumping upon our shores a less desirable class than ever. Industrial depression has no terrors for a class that never wanted to work; and riot and turbulence attract the riotous as the thunder of the captains and the shoutings draw the war horse to the field of conflict. Unless measures for our relief are promptly introduced we shall have fewer immigrants, but worse ones.'

We are not vindictive, neither are we quick to take offense, but there are some things that the mildest mannered of men are compelled to resent. One of those occasions has come to us, and we feel that nothing short of editorial gore supplied by the managing editor of the Oregonian can ever balance accounts. In the gullelessness of our heart, the other day we noted the fact that we had been mistaken for Debs. Then the Oregonian fiend resurrected the cut of 'a fearful example,' hairless, bent, aged idiotic, and of it said: 'This is Debs.'

Weighing Coin in the Bank of England.

All the sovereigns and half-sovereigns received here immediately undergo, in a large room adjoining, the ordeal of the weighers, or separators. These are small brass boxes, perhaps a cubic foot in size, with glass sides. In the center of the brass top is a small round hole, a little larger than the sovereign, which is filled by the round plate of a delicate balance. Upon this balance the sovereigns or half-sovereigns, according to the machine, slide, one at a time, by their own weight from an inclined half-tube, in which they are placed by the hand, forming a long inclined cylinder of gold coins. As each coin weights the balance, the latter sinks. If the coin be of standard weight, the balance sinks far enough for a tiny steel finger, moving to the left, to tilt the coin off down a tube into a receptacle below. If the coin be light in weight, the balance does not sink so far, and the coin is caught by a second finger, moving in the opposite direction, which tilts it into a receptacle on the right. These machines work automatically and perfectly, and save an amount of labor which can only be imagined, testing thirty million pieces per annum. The room contains sixteen of them, all working silently and regularly by atmospheric engine power, under the care of a single employe. The light coins are immediately split in half and returned to the mint, while those of standard weight remain in circulation.—H. J. W. Dam, in McClure's Magazine for April.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: 'To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store, I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it.' Get a free trial at Snipes & Kinerly's.

McClure's Magazine for April will contain the first of a series of illustrated papers relating the more dramatic chapters in the history of Tammany Society from its foundation in 1789 down through the startling investigations of the Lexow Committee. The author of the papers is E. J. Edwards, who as 'Holland' of the Philadelphia Press, has shown himself to be almost without a rival in his intimate acquaintance with political affairs.

A Bank Failure.

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

A general banking business is done by the human system, because the blood deposits in its vaults whatever wealth we may gain from day to day. This wealth is laid up against 'a rainy day' as a reserve fund—we're in a condition of healthy prosperity if we have laid away sufficient capital to draw upon in the hour of our greatest need. There is danger in getting thin, because it is a sign of letting down in health. To gain in blood is nearly always to gain in wholesome flesh. The odds are in favor of the germs of consumption, grip, or pneumonia, if our liver be inactive and our blood impure, or if our flesh be reduced below a healthy standard. What is required is an increase in our germ-fighting strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enriches the blood and makes it wholesome, stops the waste of tissue and at the same time builds up the strength. A medicine which will rid the blood of its poisons, cleanse and invigorate the great organs of the body, vitalize the system, thrill the whole being with new energy and make permanent work of it, is surely a remedy of great value. But when we make a positive statement that 99 per cent. of all cases of consumption can, if taken in the early stages of the disease, be cured with the 'Discovery,' it seems like a bold assertion. All Dr. Pierce asks is that you make a thorough investigation and satisfy yourself of the truth of his assertion. By sending to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., you can get a free book with the names, addresses and photographs of a large number of those cured of throat, bronchial and lung diseases, as well as of skin and scrofulous affections by the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' They also publish a book of 150 pages, being a medical treatise on consumption, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, which will be mailed on receipt of address and six cents in stamps.

The city marshal of Klamath Falls ran in a stray mare one day last week, and after keeping her several days without finding an owner, determined to sell her to the highest bidder. It was a pretty good bay 2-year-old, and after wasting several barrels of breath in trying to get a liberal bid, he was obliged to knock the animal down at $1.25.
