SPRAY NO. 1.

Winter Spray for San Jose Scale and Curl Leaf of the Peach.

- Lime, unslacked... 30 lbs Sulphur, powdered... 20 lbs Salt, Liverpool... 15 lbs

The above is a very efficient remedy for the San Jose Scale and Curl Leaf of the Peach, and is an excellent fertilizer for the trees.

In the case of curl leaf, the greatest good will result from the early spraying, as it prevents to a large degree the dormant spores of this parasitic fungus coming to life, and destroys any that may have started.

DIRECTIONS.

To be most successful, this spray should be applied just before the buds swell in the spring. It can be used at this time stronger than later, and should be thrown upon the trees when it is warm.

Use for winter spraying, 1 pound to 2 gallons of water; for summer work use 1 pound to 8 gallons of water. Maier & Benton, sole agents, The Dalles, Or.

George Huskey was arrested today at Mosier by Constable Urghart, charged with shooting a dog belonging to Mrs. Bachelor. According to Mrs. Bachelor's story she was out Sunday with her daughter looking for her horse, when George Huskey shot a grouse near where she and her daughter were. A pup belonging to Mrs. B. ran to the grouse and Huskey shot him. Mrs. Bachelor has had pretty hard treatment at the hands of some person or persons in Mosier and recently her house was broken into during her absence and filth was scattered over all her bed clothing and carpets, causing a loss to her of at least $100. The trial will take place Monday. In the meanwhile Huskey has been let go on his own recognizance.

Death of Rev. W. L. MacEwan. We clip the following notice of the death of Rev. W. L. MacEwan from the Oregonian of this morning. The dispatch announcing his death was received by Mr. W. H. Moody this morning, and as the news of the death spread there were universal expressions of sorrow. During his pastorate here he made many warm friends, who esteemed him for his high character, and who will revere his memory. The Oregonian says:

"Rev. W. L. MacEwan, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, died last evening at his home, 50 Twentieth street, of pneumonia, after an illness of five days. His death was quite unexpected, for, although he was very sick, his physicians at 6 o'clock last evening thought that he was improving. He leaves a widow and three minor children. Deceased was one of the best known Episcopal clergymen in the Northwest. He was a native of Oregon, having been born at Clatsop, 43 years ago. His father, R. S. MacEwan, crossed the plains in 1851, and settled in Clatsop county, where he still resides.

"Rev. Mr. McEwan was educated in California and the East, after graduating from Bishop Scott Academy. After his ordination, he commenced work in The Dalles, where he remained for eight years, afterward removing to Walla Walla, where he remained for one year. When St. Mark's parish was formed, eight years ago, he was called to take charge of the little chapel, and so successful was he in his pastorate that it is today one of the best known churches in the city.

"No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, owing to the absence from the city of Bishop Morris, who was a very close friend of the deceased, and who will doubtless desire to look after the matter. Bishop Morris is expected home today."

Gesang Verein Concert.

The German Singing Society Harmonie will give a grand concert tomorrow evening at the opera house. The noted Vienna comedian, Joseph Mueller, has been engaged for the evening, and will sing some new songs fresh from Vienna. An Ogden exchange has the following to say concerning him:

"Prof. Mueller is to be congratulated on the success which attended the concert given by him in the Turn Verein hall last night. The hall was well filled in every part, and the audience thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment, judging by the frequent outbursts of applause. The professor was tendered a hearty reception. Each turn was loudly encored, and there is no doubt but what he has made a decided hit in Ogden as a character comedian."

A Terrific Storm.

The worst wind storm ever experienced in this county struck Condon Monday evening about 3 o'clock. Dangerous heavy black clouds were seen approaching from the southwest about 3 o'clock, and almost in less time than it takes to bat an eye, a fearful tornado struck the town with all the fury of a million demons. To add to its terror it carried with it such a mixture of real estate, clods, chips and boards that nothing else could be seen, and for about three minutes our people must have thought the judgment day had arrived at last. Buildings swayed and cracked like rifle reports and for a few seconds it looked as if the town would be swept from the face of the earth.

But within five minutes from the time it began the worst of it was over, and then the work of destruction could be seen. Our beautiful new Congregational church was completely wrecked, being tilted over on one side, and can never be used again until it is torn down and rebuilt. The new organ in it was also ruined. None of the dwelling houses in town were destroyed, but the roof of L. W. Darling's barn was blown off; the woodhouse of W. L. Barker was blown over and rolled several rods, as was also W. A. Goodwin's smokehouse and the Globe's woodshed; the brick fine in Bill Dunlap's house was blown off, also the stovepipes of several other houses. The large sign on the ivory stable of Johnson & Wilcox was also blown down. For awhile the Globe factory seemed to want to take wings and fly away, but perhaps it was the paper's powerful influence that held it down. Anyway it didn't go, we are pleased to state. Some fellow jokingly remarked that a good way to insure it against being blown away would be to put a heavy mortgage on it to hold it down—a luxury which it doesn't enjoy at present. (But perhaps right here is a good place to remark that unless some of our delinquent "pungle up" pretty soon we may be obliged to put on a coat of that kind of stuff.)

The only damage we have heard of in the country is that Dan Rinehart's new house on his homestead, three miles east of town was blown over, also the new schoolhouse on Wm. Campbell's place, where J. A. McMorris was teaching at the time. Luckily no one was in either of the buildings at the time. The course of the storm does not seem to have covered a scope of country over ten or fifteen miles wide, but was considerably longer than that as it hit The Dalles, Heppner and Walla Walla a side-sweep on its mad journey. A good deal of damage was done at the latter place. —Condon Globe.

The Fossil Journal adds the following concerning the storm there: Monday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, a terrific wind storm swept over this section of country, and although of less than half an hour duration, before its fury was spent it did much damage to property in this county. Fossil, sheltered by the surrounding hills, escaped without damage, but for a few minutes it was almost as dark as night, owing to dust flying and revolving in the air, and even in this protected valley it was almost impossible for the pedestrian to make any headway against the wind.

Out in the country trees without number were twisted and uprooted, and dozens of barns were blown over and as many barn roofs blown off.

On Pine Creek the roofs were blown off the barns of Lewellyn Hale and Fred Hale and off that of Charlie Clarno on the John Day. The top of Ed. Lee's hay stack was blown off and about 200 yards of Dick Hamilton's fence was scattered over the road. A stretch of fencing on the Hilton ranch was also laid low.

At Mayville the damage consisted of a few upset outhouses.

Dr. Howard had a narrow escape while coming up out of 30-Mile on his way home from Lost Valley. Trees were falling all around, and a monster dead tree suddenly, without a moment's warning, crashed down across the road directly in front of the doctor. He was not hurt, only three-fourths scared to death.
