SPRAY NO. 1.

Winter Spray for San Jose Scale and Curl Leaf of the Peach.

Lime, unslacked.....30 lbs
Sulphur, powdered.....20 lbs
Salt, Liverpool.....15 lbs

The above is a very efficient remedy for the San Jose Scale and Curl Leaf of the Peach, and is an excellent fertilizer for the trees. It not only destroys the scale and prevents the spread of the curl leaf, but removes all lichens and keeps the bark soft.

In the case of curl leaf, the greatest good will result from the early spraying, as it prevents to a large degree the dormant spores of this parasitic fungus coming to life, and destroys any that may have started.

DIRECTIONS.

To be most successful, this spray should be applied just before the buds swell in the spring. It can be used at this time stronger than later, and should be thrown upon the trees when it is warm.

Use for winter spraying, 1 pound to 2 gallons of water; for summer work use 1 pound to 8 gallons of water. Maier & Benton, sole agents, The Dalles, Or.

In mentioning Pease & Mays' display we neglected to note the contribution of Mr. Ernest Jensen, which was a miniature "Monterey." The battleship was built entirely of canned goods, masts, bowsprit and all, and it was really a work of art, considering the material he had to work with.

Mr. L. J. Hicks, photographer of Portland, is here today in the interest of Crow & Lussier, who have made arrangements for opening a photograph gallery at this place as soon as the building, which they have secured, is in proper shape. As Messrs. Crow & Lussier have an enviable reputation for making photographs to please all, they will undoubtedly do well here.

Mr. Garretson's boy the other day performed the almost impossible feat of lassoing a lizard. The lizard was a little fellow, only about three inches long, and was sunning himself on a rock. The boy made a slip noose out of a piece of thread, placed the loop on the end of a long straw, and dexterously slipping it over the lizard's head with one hand he gave the thread a jerk with the other, and he had him.

The Opening Last Night.

The firm of Pease & Mays held their regular annual spring opening last night. The immense store was finely decorated, laces, ribbons, dress goods, silks and satins were displayed, all arranged with artistic skill, until the whole room was a bewildering mass of color. The Dalles Orchestra furnished some excellent music, and the big rooms were crowded with the beauty of the city. From the many expressions of admiration we heard from the ladies, it is safe to assert that all were delighted with the display. Pease & Mays know how to advertise, and last night's effort was a masterpiece.

E. H. Clarke Brings Encouraging News From San Francisco.

When interviewed on the wool situation this morning, E. H. Clarke the efficient representative of the large wool house, Christy & Wise, responded with encouraging statements which will make good reading for sheep owners and for anyone else. Said Mr. Clarke:

"Our last advices from London are that wools are looking up. Some grades in recent sales have advanced one cent per pound. The inquiry for such wools as are raised here mostly, X and XX, is marked and it is almost as good as other grades. I would say that the demand is good, improving, and that the wool business together with other lines of commercial activity, is showing the signs of a parkered revival. Southern California wools are coming into San Francisco and are in better condition than ever before on account of heavy rains and good feed in the winter. Ready sales are met, at from six to nine and a half cents, according to grade and shrinkage. The opinion of woolmen is that all wools will meet with quick sales this season.

"All California," remarked Mr. Clarke, is feeling jubilant over the prospect of having a competing road and the new company is being pushed by capitalists and by public sentiment. In forty days work commences at Stockton, which is to be the present northern terminus. Iron has been bought and contracts are now being put out and all looks encouraging for the new road. It will run at first from Stockton to Bakersfield, where it connects with the Santa Fe system. Later, other lines will traverse the state, extending the scope of the company's operations.

"Only a hot norther can now prevent an immense wheat crop from being harvested, and California wine merchants are feeling good over recent big sales and a four cent per gallon advance for California wines."

Mr. Clarke and the boys are here for the summer.—East Oregonian.

Concerning Kissing.

The reason kissing is so pleasant, says an osculatory expert of scientific tendencies, is because the teeth, jaw bones and lips are full of nerves, and when the lips of persons meet an electric current is generated.—Yonkers Gazette.

Yes, and it is so confounded cheap. You don't have to have a dynamo machine, nor a battery in the house nor a call box, nor a button to touch to ring up the central office, and there is no patent on it, and the poorest persons in the world can enjoy the electric current better than the millionaire, and it never gets out of order. If Edison had invented kissing it would have cost $100 a year like the telephone, and then extra kissing would be charged up extra, and if you don't pay for it they would take out your kissophone and disconnect you from the central office.—Swiped.

A Slight Accident.

The local was delayed this afternoon for a few moments by an accident just the other side of Mill creek and near the whistling post. Mr. Ganger, an old gentleman, had undertaken to cross the track just ahead of the train, but the horse, instead of following the road, turned up the railroad track towards town. Mr. Ganger tried to pull the stubborn beast to one side, but did not succeed until the engine was upon him. The engineer had put on the air and reversed his engine, but still it struck the cart with considerable force, turning the whole outfit into the ditch. The horse got up and trotted off with the cart, Mr. Ganger got up and trotted after the horse, while Conductor Glendening jumped off the car fearing the old gentleman was badly hurt, and tried to catch him to see. As Mr. Ganger and the horse both made good time, Glenn soon concluded no serious damage was done and abandoned the chase.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,
