THE NIMBLE SIXPENCE.

The East Oregonian keeps reiterating and emphasizing its advice to get out of better advice given, and never any less palatable; yet an examination into the most successful year as regards business. subject of interest, and a study of the silent workings of a nimble penny will convince any one that no business in the world will beat the game where interest has a fair show at it. Money in Oregon generally commands about ten per cent interest, and while it is unlawfal to compound it, yet this is done in reality where the interest is paid yearly, because then the money lender, having the interest money, re-lends it. To show the difference between the steady accumulations of honest labor and the deadly work of interest, we present a small example. If, for instance, a man had gone to work on new year's day of the year I and worked until new year's day A. D. 2001 and had saved every day $1, he would have at that date to his credit $730,000. Suppose at the same time the man had deposited 1 cent at 10 per cent interest, or at 7 per cent and compounded it, it would have doubled every ten years. Suppose that he only drew his interest at the end of ten years and then had loaned it, or in other words compounded it at the end of each ten years. At the end of the first ten years he would have had 2 cents, the second 4 cents, the third 8, the fourth 16, the fifth 32, the sixth 64, the seventh $1.28, the eighth $2 56, the ninth $5.12, and the tenth 10.24. In other words, the cent has increased 1,024 times in one hundred years. If the cent will increase that number of times in a hundred years, $10.24 will also increase that number of times, so that at the end of 200 years we would have 1.024 times $10.24, or $10,485.76, as the sum earned by 1 cent in 200 years. Now, if that sum can be earned by a cent in 200 years, the amount itself would earn in 200 years more, a sum equal to the square of itself, or to simplify the calculation and calling it $10,486, we find that at the end of 400 years the sum earned by 1 cent would be $109 956,196. At the end of 800 years this sum would be increased to an amount equal to the square of itself, or $12,090,365,038,790,-516. This amount, if in gold, would weigh 6,000 billions of tons, which again squared would show at the end of 1,600 years 36,000,000 billions of tons of solid gold. As these figures are beyond the power of the mind to conceive, it is unnecessary to add the additional increase of 400 years more, but which would be the last amount multiplied by 109,956,-196, which would make a weight greater than that of the globe. In the meanwhile the man saving a dollar a day would have in gold about one ton and half.

That is the difference between interest and labor, and who is there can hope to ran up against it?

BLAINE ON BIMETALISM.

Mr. James G. Blaine, who was the greatest American statesman of his time, in a speech to congress, said :

"On the much vexed and long-mooted question of a bimetallic or a monometallic standard, my own views are sufficiently indicated in the remarks I have made. I believe in the struggle now going on in this country and other countries for a single gold standard would, if possible, produce widespread disaster in and throughout the commercial world. The destruction of silver as money and establishing gold as the sole unit of value must have a ruinous effect in all forms of property except those investments which yield a fixed return in money. These would be enormously enhanced in value and would gain a disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property. If, as the most reliable statistic affirm, there are nearly $7,000.000,-000 of coin or bullion in the world, not very unequally divided between gold and silver, it is impossible to strike out of existence as money without results which will prove distressing to millions and utterly disastrous to tens of thous-

I believe gold and silver coin to be the money of the constitution; indeed, the money of the people anterior to the conatitution, which the great organic law recognized as quite independent of its own existence. No power was conferred on congress to declare that either metal should be money. Congress has therefore, in my judgmdnt, no power to demonetize either, any more than to dein favor of having it enlarged."

Both Bradstreet and Dunn's reports of business for last week show decided improvement in all branches of business throughout the United States, and the feeling of confidence is rapidly being re stored. The price of all farm products is increasing, and many new industries are being established in all parts of Uncle Sam's domain, which will cause money to circulate more freely. Notdebt, and stay out. There never was withstanding the croakings of prophets to the contrary, 1895 gives promise of a

Golden Medical

Cures Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of Consumption, in all its Earlier Stages.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully of per cent. are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its fifthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps.
