MORE PATRIOTISM.

Last night a friend after perusing an editorial of ours, said to us: "You seem to have a prejudice against rich men." That idea he gathered from the editorial alluded to, and yet the spirit and intent of an article was never more misconstrued. That friend was sadly mistaken. We recognize the fact that there are rich men now, as there has been ever since man ceased to be an utter savage. We realize that were the doctrines of the communist put in force tomorrow, no sooner would property be divided than the many would begin to squander and the few to save, and inside of a week some would have what the week before belonged to a dozen, and the dozen would be desiring a new division. The only idea we intended to convey was that those who accumulate should be willing to pay to be protected in their accumulations in proportion to the amount they owned.

It may be that the world was framed on a foundation of exact justice. That was the decree, at least, promulgated at the gates of Paradise when the angel with the flaming sword prevented our first parents from re-entering that garden where that decree was not in force. That decree exists today as it existed then. It was the law, it is yet the divine law, that man should possess only that wealth, whether of money, lands, love, happiness, or any of the other treasures of earth that his honest and faithful efforts to earn those treasures fully deserved. Man has set aside this law. Some possess what they do not earn; but the books of the Infinite must balance. If they do not earn it, then some other man or men must. Wealth is the accumulations of toil, and if the toiler has it not, it is because man's laws prevail, instead of the first great decree laid down at the gates of Eden. That is the trouble with us that some of us must toil to balance the books.

Is it too much, then, to ask those who absorb the results of others' toil to pay their full share towards protecting that which they have received without laboring for it? We find no fault with their being rich, for we are not poor from choice. We do find fault with those who are so far lost to all sense of patriotism, and who have grown so deludedly selfish that they shun all burdens. The back of the toiler is strong and his shoulders are broad, but even a rudimentary brain would realize the folly and the danger of overtasking him. Rome had her redemption in her hands in Rienzi, but her citizens, preferring to be plundered rather than submit to taxation, she fell, the victim of that very class—the nobles—who, refusing to be taxed to uphold the laws, lost their all in her fall. History repeats itself, and it is rapidly humming over some of the old refrains just now.

SOME ADVANTAGES OF SUGAR.

The general public has a wrong impression as to the actual advantages of sugar in the preservation of the human frame. Harm may be done by eating sugar in excess, just as the excess of anything else is pernicious to health. In the stomach it is in part changed to lactic acid; and the latter acts upon calcic phosphate, and permits their assimilation. How frequently a mild case of indigestion could be relieved, if not cured, by an occasional drink of sugar and water. Do our readers realize the importance of a few bon-bons after a hearty meal? The fatty substances that might otherwise overload the stomach, then become harmless.

Those who enjoy coffee and tea at night, and yet hesitate drinking these beverages, can partake of the same, in moderation, without fear of sleepless nights, by the liberal use of sugar. The recent experiments, previously mentioned in these pages, showing that sugar increases the muscular power possible to develop during a given period are only a scientific determination of what is already known. One need only visit a sugarcane plantation in the West Indies to appreciate that the "niggers" can develop more work in a given time, if allowed to eat the cane freely, than during any period of the year. Sugar has its disadvantages for stout people, a fact known to most of us, but the advantages to be derived from a moderate introduction of sugar, as a means of retaining health, is too frequently overlooked.—Sugar Beet.

The Telegram is finding fault with the Sun for re-printing an alleged copyrighted dispatch, the property of the Associated Press Co. The dispatch contained the startling intelligence that "the British officers were taking advantage of their occupancy of Corinto to take notes about the Nicaragua canal." The dispatch implies that the British were totally ignorant of the lay of the country, and were stealing information. The truth is, there is nothing secret about the affair at all. The route has been used, traveled for hundreds of years, and is open now for anyone who wants to go over it. It is about of a piece with the rot the Associated Press is furnishing, only perhaps a trifle below the average.

We read in the dispatches yesterday that gold was being deposited in the United States and currency taken out, and that this state of affairs was due to the fact that the people had confidence in the ability of the Morgan syndicate to keep the reserve up to its limit and that therefore the credit of the United States was good. This is fine reading, but it strikes us that the country is poor indeed when 75,000,000 people are compelled to have their promise to pay indorsed by a syndicate of bankers. The next thing someone knows Rockefeller or Brice or Astor, or some of those fellows will be roping us country editors in to indorse their notes. We give notice now that we will renege if they call on us with any such designs.

Bikes.

Mays & Crowe have added to their already extensive stock the largest and most complete line of bicycles in the city. For a $100 wheel they have the Rambler, which is one of the best known bicycles on the market. It has many special features and patents, not found on any other wheel, one of which is their detachable tire, which is admitted to be the best tire yet discovered, and which is now used by half of the manufacturers in the United States. They also have the agency, direct from the manufacturers, for the celebrated Waverly bicycles, which are forging ahead of everything else this season, the factory having already turned out over 20,000 of the '95 wheels, and not being able at the present time to fill their orders. This wheel is certainly a very handsome one, and is claimed to be the highest of high grade, and what is still better they sell for $85 and the ladies' wheel for $75.

In addition to these they have the Chicago Ideals, which are made by the manufacturers of the Rambler, as a second grade wheel, are strong and substantial, and it is hard to see the difference between them and the $100 wheel. These are sold at $55 and $65.

They also have bicycles to rent, by the day or hour.
