

All the talking and advertising on earth won't sell our Clothing unless it is right in price, quality and style. Now, we devoted a great deal of time to the selection of this part of our stock, and we are willing to risk our reputation for veracity upon the proposition that our Clothing is all that anyone will ask for.

Suppose you confer a favor on us, when you have a little leisure time, by dropping into our store and trying on a suit or two. Then we want you to examine the cloth, the linings, the workmanship, the fit, the price—in fact everything about the Suit—and convince yourself.

$3.50 Is not a large sum; still it is large enough to buy a Man's Suit of Clothes from us. Sizes 35 to 40.

$5.00 Gives you an opportunity of making your selection from several lines of goods.

$7.50 Enables you to choose a handsome Summer Suit from our stock. Light, tasty patterns and well made. These Suits have the style and fit of those sold for twice the money.

$8.00 Buys an All-Wool Suit. Good, serviceable Greys, Small Checks, and Dark Mixtures.

$9.50 Is the price attached to our Suits made of Oregon Cassimeres. All-Wool and the best goods for wear and service.

BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Two carloads of hogs were sent to Troutdale yesterday, and two carloads of sheep will be sent below tonight.

A. M. Williams & Co. will have a special sale of capes Saturday. Look out for prices in tomorrow's paper.

The market is getting quite plentifully supplied with strawberries, but the price is still too high for common folks and printers.

The pastor requests every member of the M. E. church to be at prayer meeting tonight. He has a very important measure to present to them at the close of the prayer service.

Pease & Mays will have a special sale Saturday, men's straw hats at half price, Royal Worcester corsets at 25 cents per pair. Just think of it, and then act upon it.

The Epworth League will give an ice cream social tomorrow (Friday) evening, in the lecture room of the M. E. church. Everybody invited. Admission, including refreshments, only 10 cents.

The Aid Society of the Congregational church will give an apron sale and sociable at the home of Mrs. Wilson, on Union street, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. An art gallery will be on exhibition containing treasures of interest to those who value the things of olden time. Admission, 25 cents.

By special and urgent request the Orchestra Union will give another excursion to the Cascade Locks one week from Sunday, or on the 26th. An interesting program will be arranged for the occasion. Full particulars will be given later.

Thirty-five cases of salmon were put up by Herrick yesterday, and another run will be made tomorrow. Reports from Astoria indicate a considerable improvement in the run of fish, and old fishermen say the fish are fully a month earlier than usual.

Either tomorrow evening or Saturday it is intended that the Orchestra Union will play with the Senter Payton orchestra. As they are both fine bands the music alone would be well worth the price of admission. The music furnished is first class and with our own orchestra would be well worth going to hear.

Senter Payton is certainly immense. As the lightning rod agent last night, he scored another victory and sent the audience home delighted with the evening's entertainment. The support last night was exceptionally good. If you don't see this troupe you will miss a whole lot of fun. The play tonight is "Joshua Whitcomb," an old farmer who comes to town to sell his "punkins" and whose eccentricities will furnish laugh enough to supply as many persons as the hall will hold. Misses Lucy and Vina Payton will appear in their attractive specialties. The prices of admission are right with the times, being 35 cents for general admission, reserved seats 50 cents, children 25 cents.

Forbidden to Pasture It.

Some time since THE CHRONICLE published a statement that there was nothing in the law under which the Cascade reservation was created that prevented the pasturing of stock on the reservation. The matter has again come up under the ruling of the commissioner, who takes a different view of the matter. Recently application was made to Hon. W. R. Ellis for information on the subject, and he forwarded this letter to the commissioner, getting the following in reply:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 1, 1895. Hon. W. R. Ellis, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:

SIR:—I am in receipt, by reference from the department, of your letter of the 25th ultimo, inquiring whether the regulations of the department will permit the pasturing of sheep in the Cascade range forest reserve in Oregon.

In reply I have to advise you that the herding of sheep is prohibited, it being considered that they are especially injurious to the herbage and undergrowth. I enclose a copy of the forest reserve poster of April 14, 1894, prescribing regulations for the reservations.

Very Respectfully,

EDW. A. BOWERS, Asst. Com.

It will be seen from this that if the ruling of the commissioner is to stand, the sheep industry of Eastern Oregon will get a blacker eye than the removal of the tariff gave it. There is a provision in the law that the secretary of the interior may prescribe such regulations as may be necessary for the care and preservation of government reservations. We feel certain that could the nature and character of the mountains be shown to the secretary, he would withdraw the prohibition and allow sheep to be pastured thereon.

We would suggest that every community get up a petition to the secretary showing the character of the reservation, and that cattle and sheep do not injure it. If this is properly done, we believe it would be successful.

The Currant Creek Road.

An attempt was made yesterday to get Commissioner Blowers up from Hood River, for the purpose of holding a special meeting of the commissioners' court, but owing to matters over which he had no control he could not come. The object was to consider the matter of granting aid to the Currant creek road. Some time ago, the sum of about $1400 was raised by subscription in The Dalles and Antelope, for the purpose of making this road, and at the time it was thought the sum would complete it. Since work was begun on it, it has been found that there is a great deal more rock work than was anticipated, and consequently the expense is largely increased.

The money raised has all been expended and now the county will be asked to contribute towards the completion of the work. That section of the county pays large sums in taxes, and has never had much of anything in the shape of local improvements. It has never asked for them until now, and its requests should be granted. It would be of immense benefit to that section and certainly to the citizens of The Dalles. The completion of the road would send all the traffic from Mitchell, Waldron and the Upper John Day to The Dalles, and would tend to keep that section in this county. Unless they can have better roads to the county seat, they will be compelled to cut loose from Wasco and organize a county of their own, and no one could blame them for doing so.

We understand a special meeting of the commissioners' court will be held in a day or so to consider the matter, and while in common with all other tax payers we do not like to see the county money expended, yet there are things that are absolute necessities and the Currant creek road is one of them. Self interest as well as justice to those people who are cut off from the county seat by impassable barriers demands it. As it $1400 of good money has been expended and unless the road is completed, is lost utterly. Good business management would compel the completion of the road to save the money already invested. We hope the commissioners will take this view of the matter, and push the road to a speedy completion.

Likes the Truth.

The Eugene Register, being an ardent stickler for the unadulterated truth, thus chides Editor Ira A. Campbell of the Eugene Guard:

"In yesterday's Guard the affable editor of that paper, who is now doing the East, has an entertaining letter, written while he was in Omaha, in which he proves himself a very interesting writer. Among other items of news that the editor writes is that he has taken a bath—that's it—just as soon as a man gets away from home he is sure to write back most anything to 'stiff' his old friends."
