FRIDAY - - - MAY 24, 1895

SALUTATORY.

Under a temporary arrangement THE CHRONICLE today passes under a new management. The policy of the paper will remain as it always has been—true to the best interests of the section over which its light is shed. In national and state politics THE CHRONICLE will be consistently republican; in municipal affairs it will be absolutely fearless and independent, holding the welfare of the citizens of this city and county dear above all things else. There is a space to be filled in the journalistic field of Eastern Oregon and the management intends that this paper shall occupy this position. The high standard set by Mr. Cradlebaugh, the able and talented gentleman, who last night laid down his quill—for a short time only, we hope—it will be the aim of his successor to emulate. Coming after such a man, the position is not an easy one. With "malice towards none and charity to all," the writer signs himself

FRED. W. WILSON.

DEMAND FOR OREGON WOOLS.

Yesterday's Oregonian contains the following:
"A local firm has mailed the following circular to woolgrowers in Eastern Oregon."

"It has been clearly demonstrated this spring that stapled wools are and will be greatly sought after. Twelve months' growth in California has met with quicker sale than for years, one local firm taking over 2,000,000 pounds. Daily inquiries are made by local and Eastern buyers for Oregon and Nevada wools. Being long staple, they are alone adapted to mix with foreign wools, and compete with them. California dealers and scourers must have Oregon wools to mix with the fall and short spring California wools, to make the latter marketable.

"Freights from San Francisco to the East are very much lower than from Oregon to the East. Freight on scoured wool is even lower from San Francisco to the East than on grease wools from Oregon. San Francisco has been this entire spring, and is today, the highest market in the United States, prices being beyond Boston's highest quotations. It would be well, therefore, for growers in Oregon to be slow in selling their wools at home. Buyers from San Francisco and the East go to Oregon to buy wools because they cannot compete with the scourers in San Francisco. They go to Oregon to buy cheaper, and if they have higher freights to pay, they must take this into consideration when offering on wools. Do not be in a hurry to sell at home."

This sounds much like the democratic oratory of three years ago. The demand for Oregon wools, which was to have been created by the free importation of foreign wools, has not shown up and never will. This "local firm" above referred to had best save its money spent in printing and mailing these circulars to the wool growers of Eastern Oregon. Before the demand referred to was created, wool at The Dalles was selling from 13 to 20 cents; now 8 cents is a high price. We have heard quite enough of the demand to be created by free foreign wool. It makes the sheep herder of Eastern Oregon quite tired.

The convention of republican clubs, which met in Portland on the 23d, in no respect settled or attempted to settle for the republican party of the state any financial question. It simply did what all sensible people of both wings of the party have been recommending, viz: let the whole matter alone. A resolution opposing free coinage of silver would have met the same reception as did that offered by Mr. Eggleston or Ashland. If the party believes the blow is over it will be disappointed; advocates of dollar for dollar money have not heard the last of 16 to 1, and will not until after the next national convention. The tide will not turn until a greater storm than the pleasant zephyr which stirred the buds and flowers of the party in Portland has blown itself out.

Considerable interest is aroused by the report that negotiations are pending regarding the purchase of the Times-Mountaineer. No definite result has been determined upon, but it is possible the future may see one announced. Mr. Douthitt, formerly of Prineville, is here seeing if the purchase can be made. He has the support of a number of influential democrats who are anxious to see a paper of their political faith in the county. Mr. Michel, the present editor of the Mountaineer, has been 15 years in the harness and expressed himself today that a rest would be very agreeable to him.

Court street is now in a deplorable condition, the old wooden sewer having fallen in and carried with it a large portion of the street; money spent in patching with lumber that rotten box is worse than thrown away. If the city can not afford to lay a tile sewer the entire length of the street, it can not afford to replace the broken places in the sewer with anything but tile; if the repairs are made with tile it will be but a very short time when the entire sewer from the schoolhouse to the river will be replaced.

The Chicago wheat market has heard of Oregon's republican enthusiasm and wheat has started upward farther than the bears can run. All this country needs is a good price for wheat and the silver question will take care of itself.
