THE DALLES THE BEST BUSI NESS POINT.

The advantages of The Dalles as a business point was never so forcibly demonstrated as at present. The rates on wool shipments from here to eastern markets are 55 cents per hundred pounds less than from Arlington and other points in the interior. The local rate from Arlington to The Dalles is 40 cents per hundred, so that wool can be shipped from there here, sold and reshipped at a saving of 15 cents per hundred. Besides this saving in the rate, the competition among buyers incident to this being the largest wool market direct from the producer that there is in the United States, often makes the price relatively appreciably higher.

This spring the clip from about 20,000 head of sheep near Rock Creek, in Washington, a locality across the Columbia from Arlington, is being hauled to The Dalles by teams. We are also informed that a large clip from the vicinity of I J Norman, advance freight on Fossil is this year marketed here. Both the localities mentioned have heretofore marketed their clips in Arlington. A visit to the two warehouses demonstrates the importance of this business. Teams from a distance of two hundred miles may be seen unloading; and these teams carry on their return loads of May 1-31-Norman, water rent merchandise.

The advantageous rates are due entirely to the fact that The Dalles is made a competitive point by the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s line of boats; and to the citizens who have put their capital into this enterprise is due the fact that The Dalles is now the best business point in the interior of the state.

GOOD ROADS A NECESSITY.

The enterprising business men of The Dalles have made The Dalles a competing point for transcontinental roads; all we need now to complete the good work is good roads into the interior. Mr. J. H. Sherar has this year been devoting much time and attention to the Current Creek road, in Crook county. In this good work he has been encouraged and aided by the business men of this city; but more aid of the same kind is required. We consider this subject next in importance to transportation facilities between here and the markets of the land. Mr. Sherar has made money by building and maintaining fine roads between here and Bake Oven. The Dalles business men will likewise receive a generous return for every dollar expended in the improvement of the roads beyond Bake Oven and in other directions. Some attention could be given the free bridge road to very great advantage to this city.

press are suggesting to Mr. Cleveland that Mr. Wilson, the author of the pres ent tariff law, be made secretary of state to succeed Mr. Gresham. This, too, would suit England, but it strikes us that this country has had all of Mr. Wilson that it can stand.

In connection with the subject of good roads Dalles City might do well to take thorough a course the student in that art a hint. The road from the top of the brewery hill grade to the east side of Thompson's addition is about as rough as any road in the county. Couldn't our energetic street commissioner and marshal, with the aid of the hobos, improve that short piece of road?

The bids for digging and filling the ditch on Fourth street from the corner of Liberty to the corner of Dr. Shakelford's house, were read and showed that Nil Stevenson offered to do the work for 35 cents per lineal foot, F. M. King and J. Staniels bid 15 cents per lineal foot and W. R. Brown asked 8 cents for the same amount. W. R. Brown being the lowest bidder, was given the contract and instructed to give bonds in double the amount of his bid.

At this juncture S. B. Adams, as a committee of three appointed by the city council, appeared before the commission and asked that the city be released from

Report of the Grand Jury.

1895, respectfully submit this our final report:

1 00 We have been in session five days and 5 20 have returned and reported to the court 50 50 from time to time four "true bills" and 1 20 three "not true bills." 75 00

We have examined the county records, 5 00 and books, and as far as we are able to judge from our hasty examination, we 6 00 find all books neatly and correctly kept. We find from the report of the expert appointed to examine the books of the clerk's office, that there has been fraudulent script issued to the amount of $1311.77, and we recommend that the county proceed to collect this amount from the bondsmen of the respective clerks during whose term of office such fraudulent script was issued, or in any other manner provided by law.
