THE NEW ST. LOUIS

HER DESTINATION REACHED

Fine Trip Made by the New Steamer St. Louis.

SOUTHAMPTON, June 13.—The St. Louis, the new palatial steamer which has just made a successful maiden voyage across the ocean, was docked at 5 o'clock this morning. The passage was a delightful one. The daily runs to the Scilly islands were 314, 443, 379, 441, 444, 432 and 416 miles. On a first trip this is considered excellent. The program of the entertainment on board included recitations by John Drew, Roland Buckston and others. It was remarked that but few St. Louis people were on board, eight certainly not being a good representation. The passengers join in speaking well of the new ocean flyer, and predict that she will be one of the fastest and safest steamers plying between New York and European ports. Mr. Towne, the representative of the Cramps, says: "I am thoroughly satisfied that the vessel is in every way as good as we could wish to build, and the trip has proved that we have carried out our contract."

Mr. P. Dovecci, of San Francisco, in speaking of the steamer, said:

"I do not want any better boat until America has one named San Francisco." Captain Bland said:

"Yes, we had an uneventful trip. The St. Louis was designed for comfort rather than speed. We are not trying to break record. Still, we can go fast as necessary. The chief engineer tells me the engines are the best adjusted and the best balanced he has ever seen or had anything to do with. He could easily have brought the ship into port last night, but really we were not in a hurry."

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador to Washington, who also was a passenger, said to the Associated Press correspondent:

"My boy, I should like to tell you about Behring straits and seal fisheries, but my lips are sealed until I have communicated with the English foreign office."

Asked whether his trip had any import with the question regarding Canada and America or Newfoundland, he said:

"No; all American matters are quiet. I deeply deplore the death of my friend, Secretary Gresham."

Among the second-cabin passengers there was much complaint regarding the table.

The library donation by the city of St. Louis is a good one, but the donors ought to complain of the bookbinding, loose leaves being found in many books. On Wednesday, when the passengers filed in to dinner, they found bouquets of carnations and souvenir badges at their plates. A set of resolutions was then drawn up and signed by all the passengers.

Kingsley Notes.

School will close next Friday. The school will give an entertainment at the Kingsley hall on the evening of Friday, June 21st, to which a general invitation is extended to all.

Our citizens turned out in full force last Thursday and did the much needed repairs on the Kingsley cemetery. Gentlemen, you did well.

Something is wrong with Clyde Butler's eyesight. He mistook James Cox' great toe for a post hole, last Thursday. Jim didn't use any cuss words.

Hix brothers had quite an accident on Shear's grade this week, by the grade giving way and wrecking one wagon; but such is the life of a teamster.

Myrtle, the 7-year-old girl of M. K. McLeod, was kicked in the forehead by a frightened horse this week. We learn she was severely injured.

If anyone wishes a guide to the Cedar swamp call on Alex. McLeod, he knows the way. Ask him about his trip in that direction.

Misses Mamie Calaban and Nellie Bolton were visiting in Kingsley this week.

Edward Boynton, who died in The Dalles last Wednesday night, had many friends on Tygh Ridge, who sincerely mourn his sudden death.

Pat Bolton says the roads are rather rough for him and his "wheel," but he'll get there by and bye.

Tom and Mike Glavey made all the Kingsley boys "take water" last week. When it comes to running horses, don't monkey with the Glavey boys.

Kingsley will celebrate the 4th of July in grand style. Horse races, foot races, fireworks, etc. For further particulars see large bills printed by THE CHRONICLE job office. Everybody come and bring your mother-in-law; also a well filled lunch basket.
