

A Public Park.

To THE EDITOR:—A public park for The Dalles is something all should consider and in thinking and talking of improvements of various kinds, let us not neglect to provide a breathing place for the population occupying the homes in our city.

What a pleasant gathering place it would be in times of large conventions. Here open air meetings of all kinds might be held and the citizens gathered in the park could be entertained by the music.

If others have thoughts and suggestions on this subject, let us have them.

Scenes in Salt Lake the Opening Night of the Circus.

The Next Great Syndicate Shows and Paris Hippodrome, which exhibits in The Dalles, Saturday July 8, is beyond doubt one of the very best as well as the largest traveling.

In referring to the show the Salt Lake News has the following to say:

"The gigantic tent at Central Park could not contain half the number who sought admittance to the New Great Syndicate Shows last night, and thousands were turned away. The streets were packed with people. Not only were the sidewalks crowded, but even the roadway was almost impassable, and the street-cars had difficulty in forcing a passage.

"It did not look like hard times to see the struggling crowds scrambling for the ticket office, and when the bell finally rang up the entrance of the equestrian tournament, there was tier upon tier of spectators, with as many more satisfied with standing-room. The spectators were magnificently entertained from the beginning to the end of the programme. Everyone wore a broad grin for two hours, and then went home still smiling.

Word From Mr. Sargent.

The editor received a personal letter from his valued friend, Mr. I. N. Sargent, now traveling in the East, which tells of the safe arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Sargent at their old home in Chester, Vt.

"As I drew near my ancient oak, Where minerals used to grow, No friend was there with open arms; No welcome face I saw."

"How I could wish that time in its flight might turn backward and make me young again just for one day. In the graveyard lie my father and brothers and numerous family relatives, and on all sides are the graves of friends and neighbors of fifty years ago."

"We leave tomorrow for Boston, where our ancestors used to reside, to visit some of them, and the residences they occupied in 1635; then start towards Oregon, where we hope to live till the final change comes."

Mr. Sargent may be sure of a hearty welcome when again in The Dalles, for he and his estimable wife are well beloved in our midst.

The constitution that has been broken down or weakened by long standing disorders in the liver and kidneys, is ill fitted to withstand the encroachment of disease. Such a person takes cold easily, cannot stand fatigue, and in cases of epidemics, is the first to fall a victim.

Travelers find a safe companion in De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure. A change in drinking water and in diet, often causes severe and dangerous complaints. This medicine always cures them.
