BRIEF MENTION.

Additional Local on Fourth Page.

Eleven cars of wool went west on train 21. Several more will go today.

Another large shipment of flour was made by the Regulator this morning.

Watch for our advertisement in Monday's issue.—Jacobsen Book & Music Co.

The upper Columbia rose last night 2.5. It is stationary at Unatilla. Reports from the Snake river say it is at a stand still.

Painters are at work giving the brewery a new coat of paint. The east end of town is showing improvements in a good many directions.

There will be a game of baseball tomorrow afternoon at the fair grounds, between two local nines. No admission will be charged. A few such games will bring out our latent baseball talent.

Several scows, which have been down the river waiting for a chance to come up, took advantage of the wind yesterday afternoon and sailed into the harbor. The cordwood market is pretty well stocked from their cargoes.

The long distance telephone company have made a cut in rates to Portland and a talk can now be had with the metropolis at 50 cents for the first minute and 5 cents for each extra half minute. This move will tend to increase the volume of telephone business between The Dalles and Portland.

The parade of bicycles to win the prize for the best decorated wheel will take place in the evening instead of in the morning, as was previously announced. This will give the people a better chance to view the different wheels, and scatter the amusements over the day. Some artistic work may be expected from the owners of bicycles.

Mrs. A. C. Stubling, who is Prof. Johnson's agent for Wasco county, returned last night from Astoria, where she has been selecting a large assortment of palms, evergreens and 100 of the latest roses, also 500 of the choicest flowering bulbs, which we offer to the public at reasonable prices. j29-11

A ladies belt with a silver buckle, engraved R. G. L., was lost along Second street, from St. Mary's Academy to Court street and up Court street to the academy yard, about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Will the finder please leave it with Rev. W. C. Curtis, at the Congregational church.

Twelve and a quarter remains the top price given this season for wool. James Connelly of Cherry Creek sold his clip at this price to Mr. Jacobs of the Oregon City woolen mills yesterday. There had been some sharp competition among buyers for several days and Mr. Jacobs got what wool he wanted by offering the higher figure.

That The Dalles has a large population was attested by the number of people that turned out to see a runaway go up Second street this afternoon. Reynolds & Henzie's express team started from the Unatilla House and beat all previous records to the East end of town. The wagon tongue dragged on the ground and was torn to splinters. Otherwise no particular damage was done.

The closing exercises of the school in Dist. No. 11, Miss Alma Taylor, teacher, took place at the schoolhouse on Mill creek, Wednesday afternoon. Every pupil took part in the exercises and all acquitted themselves well. Many patrons were present and expressed themselves as much pleased, not only with the closing exercises, but with the advancement of their children and the general conduct of the school.

The services at the Seventh Day Adventist tent on Second street, are in progress every night and considerable interest is being aroused among those who attend. Good seats have been provided. The gentlemen who are in charge, are earnest in their work and are laboring hard to make converts among their hearers. The subject for tonight is "Salvation Through Christ," and for tomorrow evening "The United States in Prophecy."

A tea train of nineteen loads left Portland this morning at 6 o'clock and passed through The Dalles on the afternoon local. The O. R. & N. are desirous of rushing the train through as quickly as possible to make a good record in the first Asiatic connections. The tea would have started sooner, but for the delay in the custom house at Portland. Each box had to be inspected by the custom officials and the unloading of the steamer greatly delayed. There will be altogether over 100 cars loaded with tea.

One hundred and seventeen bales of wool were turned out yesterday at the Wasco warehouse. The baling machine is running at full capacity and the men will work a portion of tomorrow hoisting wool. Teams are arriving every day from distant points in the interior. The greater part of the wool clip of this year has probably been now received and a week will see the arrivals of teams lessened. The amount that has passed through The Dalles warehouses is enormous. The record of all previous years will be broken.

Direct from factory and offered on very easy terms, Kranich & Bach pianos, first-class in all details, at Nickelsen's music store. j29-1w.

The boat line, in conjunction with the Southern Pacific, has made another cut in the wool rates to Boston. Ninety-five cents would be considered low enough, but the tariff sheet, which will be published Monday, will give a rate on wool from The Dalles to Boston of 90.9 cents per hundred pounds. This is slashing rates all to pieces, but it will help the wool growers of Eastern Oregon immeasurably. The Dalles is more than ever a terminal point and its fame as a great wool center is going abroad through the land.

Mrs. F. J. Chase, whose place is on 3-Mile, brought into THE CHRONICLE this morning some splendid samples of Wasco county cherries. They are of the Black Republican and Royal Anne varieties and are, without any doubt, the largest and finest we have ever seen. Mr. and Mrs. Chase have made a beautiful place out of a hillside, which when they began working grew nothing but scrub oaks, and the results of their labor are just beginning to come in. They have over thirty acres put in fruit trees and the vast yield goes to show that the hill orchards hold their own and possibly surpass those in the creek bottoms for good yields of fruit.

Bert Hawthorne has been the principal object of interest in the justice and police courts today. He was arrested last night charged with making an assault upon his wife. Before this Hawthorne had been having a merry time with his horse, and finally becoming wearied, the horse threw him. Constable Urquhart arrived upon the scene and placed Hawthorne under arrest. He was brought before Recorder Dufur and charged with disorderly conduct. This cost him $5. Hawthorne was then transferred to Justice Davis' court, and held to answer on the charge of assault. He plead guilty and was fined $20 by the justice. This was not all his troubles, for a complaint was made to put him under bonds that the peace might be kept, and he is now undergoing trial in the justice court.

Now is the time. We are here to stay and can please anyone with a piano. The Jacobsen Book & Music Co. represents several reputable piano manufacturers, and will be pleased to show you their entire and largest assortment of pianos ever displayed in The Dalles.
