BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Additional Local on Fourth Page.

Five cars of stock went to Portland this morning, shipped from the stockyards of The Dalles.

This is collection day when some people, who on other days can be easily found, are conveniently absent.

The upper Columbia rose eight inches yesterday. The Snake is almost at a standstill. The river here is rising.

A small boat was picked up in the Columbia yesterday. It was full of water and badly bruised showing that it had probably come over the rapids from Celilo.

There has been a change in stewards on the Regulator and Mr. J. Buckler, who has been steward for some time, is no longer in that position. Mr. Buckler will probably leave the city. He has made many friends both in town and with the traveling public who regret to see him go.

The Regulator took down over 170 bales of wool this morning. There were to be 250 bales in the shipment but the remainder could not be hauled to the dock on time. The boat line is showing every day that it is in the field for business and we hope to see it continue getting it.

Arrangements have been made to have the Hood River and Tygh Valley nines play in The Dalles on the afternoon of the Fourth. The game will take place after hose tournament when the heat of the day—should there be any—has gone. The game will be a very interesting one and a large crowd will be attracted to the fair grounds.

The theme of the discourse in the services at the tent tonight will be that of the "Temporal Millennium." It will be an investigation of modern millennium ideas from a scriptural standpoint. Such scriptures as Rev. xx:1-7, Isa. ii:1-5, and other parallel passages, will be examined. All interested in the salvation of the world are invited to attend.

The residents in the neighborhood of the courthouse were considerably disturbed last night by the actions of the occupants in a house not far distant. They had a midnight revelry, which however pleasant it may have been to them was certainly very disagreeable to people who were trying to sleep. The festivities of the occasion were undoubtedly due to a large flow of spirits.

The sad news was received last night of the death of Mrs. George Friend, which occurred yesterday morning at Kingsley. Mrs. Friend was only 22 years of age, and died leaving a husband and small child to mourn her loss. She was universally beloved by the residents of Kingsley neighborhood, and the sorrow of her death is universal.

The ubiquitous Caroline got on a drunk yesterday and proceeded to empty the vials of her wrath on the passersby. Nightwatch Frank Connelly and Constable Urquhart appeared with an express wagon and Caroline was given an inexpensive ride to the city jail. She would be a good subject for a temperance lecture to expatiate upon the evil that too much indulgence in strong drink can do.

Last night as the hose companies were practicing on Third street Don Fisher, who was one of the runners, stumbled and fell. The hose, which was being reeled out, struck him on the head and for a brief moment rendered him unconscious. He was quickly picked up and carried to the sidewalk, where after a short time he recovered his breath and save for feeling very weak, was quite himself again.

Mr. LePere, a farmer living seven miles west of town, was severely injured yesterday in a runaway a short distance from Chenoweth creek. The horses becoming frightened started to run and overturned the wagon. Mr. LePere was thrown out and his arm dislocated. Two of his ribs were broken. His injuries are quite severe and it is yet impossible to tell whether or not he has not been internally hurt.

The mayor has made two excellent appointments in the names sent to the council last night. Mr. G. W. Phelps, who will occupy the recorder's chair, is a young man raised in The Dalles and possessed of great popularity. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan law school and already has won for himself wide repute as a young man of good character and ability. Mr. Phelps has held the office of deputy prosecuting attorney and in filling that position has shown good judgment, tact and legal ability. He is one of the most promising young men in Wasco county. Mr. Connelly has made a fine record for himself in fulfilling the duties of night watchman and there is no one but is heartily glad that the council has recognized his fitness and selected him again for the position. To both these officers THE CHRONICLE extends congratulations.

The Wasco Warehouse Co. have on sale at their warehouse Seed Wheat, Feed Wheat, Barley, Barley Chop, Oats and Hay. Are sole agents in The Dalles for the now celebrated Goldendale roller mills flour, the best flour in the market and sold only in ton lots or over. 9-1f

FIRST MEETING OF THE YEAR.

Appointments by the Mayor—G. W. Phelps for Recorder, F. G. Connelly Nightwatchman.

The city council met last night at the city hall. It was the first meeting for the new fiscal year and the new officers and councilmen, with the exception of Mr. Ross, were on hand to have their first meetings. Mayor Menefee presided and the following councilmen responded to their names: Messrs. Thompson, Nolan, Hood, Eshelman, Saltmarsh, Crowe, Johns and Wood. The message of the mayor was read and on motion of Mr. Nolan, seconded by Mr. Hood, was placed on file. The mayor read as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL:—Upon the organization of the new council to take charge of the city government for the coming year, it is proper that an outline of the work we have to do should be made at the commencement. It will be impossible to give a definite outline of the different matters which will come before you for consideration, and each councilman should, as far as possible, familiarize himself with our laws, and also with the details of our government. One question that no doubt is in the mind of every member of the council, and which is of great moment, is, "How can we make our income meet our expenses?" Already the council has begun a retrenchment which reduces the salaries of the officers as low as it seems to me will be consistent with good government, and it will scarcely be possible to further reduce expenses in that line. The council has heretofore adopted a rule, or rather has decided to enforce a law long since on the books, that no purchases shall be made for the city except by the proper committee of the council, and I hope the council will adhere strictly to this rule, for, with all respect to officers who have been in charge in the past, there are many things which seem to be absolute necessities to one who does not need to worry about how it is to be paid for, that would be dispensed with if full consideration should be given as to how the bill was to be paid. Besides this, the council alone are the ones who will be held responsible in such matters, and it is only fair that they should be the ones to say what expenditures should be made, and not be confronted each month with a miscellaneous lot of bills of which they know absolutely nothing.

From as careful estimates as I have been able to make, it will require the most niggardly economy to be able to keep within revenues, and unless some reduction is made, we will have practically speaking, no margin at all for improvements or emergencies. Our income can be figured very closely, and I have estimated it to be as follows:

From liquor licenses.....	$ 4,400 00
Taxes.....	5,500 00
Licenses, fines and other sources, estimated from like receipts in past years.....	1,000 00
Total income.....	$10,900 00

It is barely possible a little more than the amount I have named may be realized, but in my opinion we are as liable to fall below as to exceed it. On the other hand let us look at our expenses. Figuring on the basis which the council has been contemplating placing expenses, we will be compelled to pay each year:

Interest on our bonded debt.....	$ 3,420 00
Salaries of officers.....	2,880 00
Lights for streets and offices.....	2,301 80
Fuel, fire engines and offices.....	100 00
Insurance on buildings.....	190 00
Feeding prisoners, witnesses and jurors in recorder's court, records and stationery, judges and clerks of election, labor, merchandise and incidentals, we cannot hope to get along without expending at least.....	1,200 00
Total expenditures.....	$10,991 80

In this estimate you will notice that I have only figured on what are fixed charges, except as to the one item of incidentals. This item, in my opinion, is estimated far too low without taking into account any improvements whatever, or any fire, epidemic, or other emergency, and yet there is a margin of only $800 in round numbers with which to provide for such things.

This, gentlemen, is the situation with which you are confronted, and it seems to me that we shall be either compelled to increase our revenue, or still further reduce expenses. How our revenue can be materially increased is very hard to determine. I am unable at this time to make any particular suggestion, but it may be that upon close investigation some means may be devised to that end, and it would be well for each of you to consider the matter and make such suggestions as may be deemed proper.

One matter that has been discussed a great deal is that of electric lights. I am very loathe to bring the question up for the reason that they are one thing of which our city can well feel proud, and I should very much dislike to see them dispensed with, for I don't at all like the idea of going back to the old days of coal-oil lamps. Still what we cannot pay for we must not have; and I say frankly that if we cannot keep even and pay for the lights, we must let them go as soon as possible, or at least try to reduce them so that the expenses can be borne without leaving a deficit at the end of the year. In other words, we must not put on such airs as we are not able to pay for.

In conclusion I will say that I hope my relations with the council, and the relations of the councilmen each with the other may be mutually pleasant and harmonious; and that we may be able to work together, with but one object in view, the welfare of the city, each taking his share of the responsibility, and none shirking an honest duty.

Very respectfully,
FRANK MENEFEE, Mayor.
The message was very well received by the council and one of them suggested that it ought to be read once each month. Great interest had been taken in the appointments to be made and the candidates and their friends were eager to hear the announcements. The mayor
