TUESDAY, - - - JULY 9, 1895
 STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

We have been told that when Senator Stanford first formed the purpose of founding a great school in California he called upon President Elliott of Harvard and asked him whether there was any good reason why a great college could not be established in California, such a school as Harvard or Yale. President Elliott replied: "Yes, several reasons. In the first place, it would require $20,000,000." The senator turned to his wife and remarked: "I guess we can afford that; can we not?" "But," said Harvard's president, "even with the money, it is impossible to create such an institution soon, because it will lack the great and necessary support of a numerous alumni, and that support cannot be created in a day or a year." Stanford is not, and does not pretend to be, a Harvard or Yale; it cannot be that until, after years of constant and persistent service of the best kind to the youth of this coast, it gains the respect, love and financial support of a numerous alumni. Its warmest friends of today claim nothing more.

Oregon's leading newspaper takes frequent occasion to "void its rheum" upon this school because one of its teachers came to Portland and uttered sentiments contrary to its editor's notions. Had Stanford been a Portland capitalist, the whole character of the school would have appeared different to this all-wise and all-pure being. As it is, no vituperation is strong enough, no words abusive enough for it. The Oregonian went to see the elephant and caught its tail, and being blind, proceeds to describe the creature from its limited knowledge. We suppose the Oregonian's purpose is to teach the people of Oregon to avoid this worthless school whose teachers are peripatetic ignoramuses; but it is time this great journal was learning from its many bitter experiences that abuse and misrepresentation defeats no man or institution, and accomplishes no good purpose. Stanford's school is not a Harvard, and does not pretend to be; but it is a university nevertheless, having had last year over 1,300 students, and when once fully organized and equipped, there is no reason why it may not prove a most efficient instrument in increasing the number of our highly cultivated minds."

We have no special purpose in speaking an humble word for Stanford; Oregon schools are good enough for us; but there is little to be gained in the abuse to which the Oregonian is addicted.

A GOOD ROAD TO KLICKITAT VALLEY.

While we are discussing the construction of a road into Gilliam county, let us not forget the great importance to this city of a good road into Klickitat valley. This is a matter that the county generally is less interested in than the city, and if any attention is to be given to the subject, it must be done by the people of this city acting in conjunction with the people of the other side of the river. If we can raise $500 or $600 for Fourth of July fun, we ought to raise as much to improve a road that brings so much of trade to us. This is a good subject for our proposed chamber of commerce, board of trade, or whatever the commercial union of our business men shall be named.

If the railroad down the Klickitat is built, there will be all the more need of a good wagon road to The Dalles.

There has recently been considerable excitement at Moscow, Idaho, over certain suits pending in court, and to such an extent did the feeling run that the residence of the judge was placed under the protection of deputy sheriffs. Among the prominent characters in the fight is one Goode. We understand he is the same party who figured prominently in Gilliam county a few years since, and was there indicted and tried for questionable practices. If he is the same individual, he is not likely to remain a resident of any community any great length of time, and the sooner he goes, the Gooder it will be for Moscow.

By the death of Mr. J. C. Murphy of Antelope the republicans of the county lose an efficient and enthusiastic worker and the community a good citizen and kind-hearted neighbor. If there were more such men in the state there would be less inattention to public affairs.

Apropos of the reduction in insurance rates some farmers have thought it strange that the benefit does not extend to dwellers outside the cities. The chief reason why rates in The Dalles have been lowered is found in the increased and better water service which this city now has. The cause, to this extent, is purely local.

Interesting Letter From Mr. Sargent.

The editor received another pleasant letter from Mr. Sargent, a portion of which will be of interest to his many friends in The Dalles and can be published. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent will soon be home after their extended Eastern trip. Mr. Sargent writes:

"After leaving my native town, Chester, Vt., I thought that where'er in life may be my lot, dear Chester shall never be forgot. Four hours by rail brought us to Lowell, Mass., where we were married fifty-seven years ago and we stood in the same room. We visited the cotton mills and a few points of interest and then on to Boston, the "Hub," where the houses were so thick and tall we could not see the city at all. After a two days' stay we were on the road to Washington, D. C., where we now are. We visited the capital first and in the representative chamber saw the desks of both our congressmen and Reed of Maine, whose desk is entirely stripped of its velvet covering and carried away as souvenirs.

"We saw the soldiers cemetery, where lie 6395 soldiers brought from the front in the late war and buried here. It contains nineteen acres and all the room is now occupied. Arlington cemetery is now used. We spent one day at Mt. Vernon, where the father of our country rests on the banks of the Potomac.

"When we bid good bye to Washington we leave for Chicago, homeward bound. And now no more till I take you by the hand in The Dalles, the loveliest place to live in I have seen in my rambles."

An Occulist of Experience.

Dr. J. P. Lewenberg, an eye specialist of 25 years experience, is now at the Umatilla House, where he will examine eyes for defective vision. He uses only the latest and approved methods in the examination of the eyes. He asks no questions of the patient, but reads the interior of the eye with the ophthalmoscope as you would a book. All defects of vision are corrected by carefully prepared lenses. He invites physicians and scientific people to investigate his method. No charge for examination. Children's eyes examined and rating given in printed form available for school purposes free of charge. All who suffer with headache, dizziness or pain in eyes are invited to call and have the eyes examined. If you have glasses that make your eyes ache bring them to me and I will show you the cause.

Dr. Lewenberg is not a spectacle peddler nor travelling optician, but was compelled by ill health to leave a lucrative practice of 20 years at Philadelphia and seek health in this general climate. He takes this method of acquainting himself with the people of this coast—his future home.

WOMEN'S FACES
 —like flowers, fade and wither with time; the bloom of the rose is only known to the healthy woman's cheeks. The nervous strain caused by the ailments and pains peculiar to the sex, and the labor and worry of rearing a family, can often be traced by the lines in the woman's face. Dull eyes, the sallow or wrinkled face and those "feelings of weakness" have their rise in the derangements and irregularities peculiar to women. The functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of women, can be cured with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For the young girl just entering womanhood, for the mother and those about to become mothers, and later in "the change of life," the "Prescription" is just what they need; it aids nature in preparing the system for the change. It's a medicine prescribed for thirty years, in the diseases of women, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure the chronic inflammation of the lining membranes which cause such exhausting drains upon the system. It cures nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faintness, nervous debility and all disorders arising from derangement of the female organs and functions.

Mrs. JENNIE WILLIAMS, of Mohawk, Lane Co., Oregon, writes: "I was sick for over three years with blind dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, pain in the back and head, and at times would have such a weak tired feeling when I first got up in the morning, and at times nervous chills."

The physicians differed as to what my disease was, but none of them did me any good. As soon as I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I began to get better; could sleep well nights, and that bad, nervous feeling and the pain in my back soon left me. I can walk several miles without getting tired. I took in all three bottles of "Prescription" and took of "Discovery."
