BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Additional Local on Fourth Page.

The weather forecast for Thursday is fair and stationary.

The Redmen will meet tonight at their wigwam. Important business will be transacted.

The river here fell three-tenths this morning. The highest point for this season has been reached.

Thomas Haslam is acting as night-watchman in the place of Frank Connelly, during the latter's absence from town.

The Regulator carried fifty bales of wool down this morning. There still remain a large amount of the Sherar shipment yet to go.

The farmers are very busy just at present. A larger number than usual are cutting hay and the rest getting ready for harvest.

Yaomi Marsh made a large shipment of peaches to Portland by the boat this morning. The first brought to the market was last Friday.

Strawberries are disappearing from the markets and black berries have come to take their place. Raspberries are present in large quantities.

The early morning passenger was an hour and fifty-five minutes late this morning. Part of the delay was caused beyond Umatilla and a part at Columbus rock.

A large excursion of Dalles people will leave for the coast tomorrow by the Regulator. The exodus from the city to cooler places has begun in earnest and those who are fortunate enough are making plans to go where the billows sound upon the shore or the wind sighs among the mountain trees.

In the services at the cotton tabernacle this evening, the subject of "The Covenants," and kindred features of Christian faith will be discussed from such scriptures as Jer. xxxi:31-34; Heb. viii:6-13; Eph. ii:14-16; Gal. iv:21-31 and II Cor. iii:6-13. All people are cordially invited to come and hear.

The change in time of the Regulator and Dalles City will be a great convenience to the travelling public. The American people, with all their energy and push, like an hour's extra sleep in the morning and will find it pleasanter to take the boat at 8 o'clock instead of 7. The change at the other end will be still more agreeable.

W. H. Turner, the real estate agent of Goldendale who so mysteriously disappeared several days ago, has been found.

The searching party discovered him at a place about four miles from Goldendale. The unfortunate man is undoubtedly demented and refused to go with the men who came to find him. At the last accounts he was untaken.

Chief Moore, of the weather bureau, has notified Weather Observer Blandford to send daily to every display man in his district, the regular weather forecast. Mr. Brooks will receive a telegram every day from Portland, giving a forecast for the next thirty-six hours and the weather signals will be displayed at the old place.

Word came in this morning that Mr. Haywood, a respected citizen of Wamic, dropped dead yesterday morning. He was working in a field and was suddenly seen to career and fall. Aid was immediately given him, but it was too late as the end had come. Mr. Haywood had lived in Wamic about six years and was much esteemed as a neighbor and friend.

The latest report from Sherman county received this morning, states that the grain is in good condition. The rain on the Fourth did a great deal of good and some of the volunteer, which was supposed to be lost, will average six or eight bushels. The fall grain looks fine. Harvesting will commence next week. We earnestly hope the report is true and that Sherman county farmers will reap a rich reward.

Floyd VanVactor, a brother of Mrs. Charles Johnson, was severely bitten by a dog yesterday. The boy was playing with a velocipede in company with some other children when the animal attacked him. The wound is not believed serious but is now quite painful. This makes the second case of dog biting within a short time. Several days ago the 5-year-old boy of Theodore Seufert was bitten in the same way.

Frank Connelly, Harry Hampshire, Rocky Chenoweth and J. W. Fisher started on a camping trip to Wind river this morning. They are thoroughly equipped with necessary paraphernalia and are going to enjoy themselves. They are provided with a small boat and will hunt and fish up the streams emptying into the Columbia. All the details of the trips are settled except as to who shall cook and wash the dishes. These latter questions may cause some dissensions.

All K. of K.s are requested to repair to the temple of Kaaba, Thursday night, after the A. O. U. W. lodge adjourns. Oft in the stilly night, when Morpheus holds full sway and the stars are twinkling like diamonds in the skies and the moonbeams are fitting hither and thither, like a hobo looking for work, there comes a voice far-reaching and distinctly audible to all, calling for admittance to our sacred temple amid the grand old mosques of the ancients. Let us confer the boon, that he may sit within our glorious temple and wish us counsel o'er the woes of fallen men.

Direct from factory and offered on very easy terms, Krauch & Bach pianos, first-class in all details, at Nickelsen's music store. j29-1w.

From the Fruit Market.

Below is published the latest advices received from the Eastern fruit market. Our fruit raisers cannot watch the reports too closely, as it is the only way of becoming thoroughly posted:

"The past two weeks have seen more cherries shipped from Oregon than ever before and while prices have ruled higher generally than heretofore, it is not an unusual price. California cherries have sold in past years for better prices and the prices ruling prior to July 4th is simply an eye opener to the cherry growers of Oregon; 5 cents per pound to the shipper is a trifle higher than Eastern markets warranted, notwithstanding commission houses paid that price for several carloads. A representative of the Oregon Fruit Union left Portland June 25th and attended the auction sales, where the cars of cherries shipped by local commission houses jointly, were sold, prices varying from 75 cents to $1.20 per box. On July 2d, two cars arrived the same day in Minneapolis, one shipped by Levy & Spiegle, Mark Levy & Co. and Page & Son, the other by W. S. Offner and Dr. N. G. Blalock. This, of course, is the reason why some ruled somewhat lower than they need have—further comment is unnecessary.

"Two shipments sold in Chicago, July 3d; one car of 1900 boxes from Levy & Spiegle, Mark Levy & Co. and Jac Fischel & Co. for $1875 or an average of 88 cents per box, what the shippers had left after paying 50 cents per box for fruit, box furnished 5 cents, 35 to 40 cents for transportation and expenses of sale, you can figure. W. S. Offner also had a shipment sold in Chicago for 50 cents per box."

Still Another Runaway.

Of all the runaways The Dalles has ever had the most exciting and fatal occurred last night, about 9 o'clock. Mr. Ferguson's team had just brought the Umatilla House 'bus from the depot and was being unhitched in front of the Cosmopolitan, when the engine that was making up a train came down the track. The horses became scared and started to run down Front street. They were headed for Portland and going at passenger train speed. The horses struck the switch stand at the east end of the bridge and overturned it. The horses then parted and one started up Union street while the other kept on the railroad bridge and ran to the end of the passenger walk and over the end into Mill creek. The horse fell about forty feet and struck on his head by the water's edge. His neck was broken.

The portion of town where the runaway occurred saw more excitement than for a long time and people rushed out on the bridge to where the horse made his Steve Brodie jump. A boat towed the carcass out into the river this morning and it has started for the sea coast.

Mr. David McCully and wife of Salem are in the city visiting the family of their son Mr. A. McCully, engineer on the Regulator. Mr. McCully is an old pioneer of Oregon and at one time was heavily interested in the transportation business on the upper Willamette.

Mr. Lee Wigle of Prinsville is in the city today. Mr. Wigle is a former Dalles boy, having been raised in this city and attended the Wasco Independent Academy, of which institution he is a graduate. For several years he has been in the stock business near Prinsville.
