BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Additional Local on Fourth Page.

The weather forecast for Sunday is fair and cooler. Monday, fair and stationary.

Don't forget the social of the Good Templars at Fraternity hall on Monday evening. Everybody welcome.

The county court has appointed J. A.
Gulliford of Dufur guardian of the estate and person of James McGahan, who is no longer capable of attending to his own affairs.

At the last meeting of the Columbia Hose company two new members were elected. This makes the roll complete and unless there is a vacancy no more can join.

Frank Reynolds of Lyle is lying at the Umatilla House quite sick. He has been confined to bed for several days, and requires the frequent attendance of a physician.

In making a report of a concert the San Francisco Chronicle says: "Miss Gertrude Minto followed, playing Raff's "Polka de la Reine." She is an excellent pianist and without affectation."

A large threshing machine and horse power came up on the Regulator last night. It goes to Peter Niemela, Centerville, Klickitat county. The farmer in Klickitat county will have lots of wheat to thresh this year.

On account of the absence of the pastor, W. C. Curtis, there will be no preaching at the Congregational church tomorrow. The Sunday school and Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will meet as usual.

Mr. Bryant, one of the officers of the reform school, came up from Salem last night and took young Shontell, who recently escaped, back with him. Mc-Murray, the other lad who escaped, is still at large, and no definite information is learned of his whereabouts.

A number of Dalles people received invitations to the wedding of Miss Leah Jeffers to Mr. F. O. Baker, which took place at North Yakima, July 10th.
Miss Jeffers was a student at St. Mary's Academy in The Dalles several years ago and is a graduate of that institution.

The Northern Pacific train passed through town about 1 o'clock this morning going west. The accident in the Stamper tunnel will doubtless be repaired in a day or two so that trains will run as formerly. All freight traffic on the Northern is temporarily suspended.

J. M. Huntington is looking for the person who stole the bells from his cow.

Somebody is evidently getting a set of chimes, as two have been taken in three days. Buying cow bells by wholesale and building a new house are amusements which Mr. Huntington thinks are too expensive taken together.

There is nothing new regarding the marshaling contest. When seen today Mr. Parrott said he had not fully decided what action would be taken regarding the matter. A contest is an expensive proceeding and he said he did not wish to undertake the expense unless sure of winning.

The Dalles lodge of Good Templars is going to entertain its friends and members tonight with a social. A fine program has been arranged, and the evening promises to be a pleasant one. The lodge meets in the Knights of Pythias hall, over Harris' store. All who go will be assured of a cordial welcome.

The Regulator is doing a nice wool business this season and every day carries away a large load. There is yet a good deal of wool in the warehouses which is promised to the boat line. The transfer at the portage works so smoothly that there is no delay or trouble in handling any kind of freight.

Now that the bicycle is a recognized institution, and its place in the nineteenth century civilization will grow larger, the same rule regarding the way of turning should be applied to bicycles as to wagons. In meeting buggies the cyclist often turns to the left, and sometimes causes confusion, resulting in an accident. If the maxim "Always keep to the right" were observed, there would be less accidents and narrow escapes of collisions between bicyclists and horses.

The benefits of advertising in THE CHRONICLE were clearly shown this morning. A gentleman who lost a gold charm in the shape of a sheep, valued at $50, came to THE CHRONICLE office and inserted a small advertisement.
Today the little daughter of T. A. Ward found the piece of jewelry, and her father being a reader of THE CHRONICLE, and necessarily an intelligent man, knew at once where the owner could be found.
The owner was joyful to recover his keepsake, and has strong faith in this paper as an advertising medium.

The first anniversary of the Salvation Army will be celebrated tonight by exercises at Wingate hall. The members of the army are making great preparations for the event and will see that so important an occurrence shall be properly commemorated. At the close of the exercises tonight ice cream and cake will be served. Captain Smith and his associates hope to see a large attendance of their friends. The Salvation Army is well liked in The Dalles and a little encouragement would not come amiss.

Mr. A. Reese, a capitalist of Lawrenceburg, Ind., has completed arrangements for the constructing of a large flume from White river terminating at Victor.
The flume is to be used for irrigating and milling purposes. The plan includes a flouring mill, saw mill and shingle mill. This enterprise will be of incalculable benefit to the people of Victor and Juniper Flat. A flouring mill will open a market for their wheat.

With water for irrigation that country will be a veritable garden spot.

The periodical runaway occurred with proper regularity this morning. This time it was the Pacific Express company horse. The driver was delivering packages near the Union street cut, when the bolt that holds the shafts came out and let them fall to the ground. The horse started to run and chose Second street as his race course. He was caught near Pease & Mays' store and a new bolt made everything as good as new. If runaways keep up as they have the last two weeks, an item concerning them can be set in type and with a little variation be made to fit all cases.

Miss Fuller's Interesting Find.

Miss Fay Fuller, who successfully made the ascent of Mount Adams with the Mazamas, describes an interesting find at the summit. It was the old box left there by the Oregon Alpine Club many years ago, and in it were found several small cards bearing the names of the members of two parties who succeeded in making the ascent 31 and 28 years ago, respectively. Miss Fuller copied the names at summit.
They are as follows:

William B. Stillwell, August 2, 1864; Thomas Condon, August 2, 1864;
Charles C. Coe, August 6, 1867; Julia A.
Johnson, The Dalles, August 6, 1867; W.
C. Johnson, Oregon City, August 6, 1867; A. R. Booth, White Bluffs, August 6, 1867; Sam Brooks, The Dalles, August 6, 1867 (on the back of this card was written: "started up at 6:30 a. m.; arrived at the top at 12 m. On returning arrived at camp at 4 p. m."); Catherine Aubert, Hood River, August 6, 1867; Johnson, guide, White Salmon, August 6, 1867.—Oregonian.

from Portland.

for a short visit.

Prof. Troy Shelly came up from Hood River on last night's boat.

on the Regulator this morning.

on the morning train for Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore of Sherman county are in The Dalles today.

Mrs. B. S. Huntington came home last night from a short visit in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Langhlin returned today from a week's outing at Hood River.

nia, is in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs.
Douglas S. Dufur.

Miss Nan Cooper and Miss Florence Lewis have gone to be present at the Chautauqua meeting.

Miss Sula Ruch left by the morning train to attend the Chautauqua meeting at Gladstone park.

Mr. Charles Early, manager of the Oregon Lumber company's business at Chenoweth, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. A. Maxwell, editor of the Goldendale Sentinel, was in The Dalles this morning. He has gone for a short visit to Troutdale.

Mr. Henry Everding of Portland and Mr. W. C. Schmidt of San Francisco are visiting their cousin, Mr. A. Everding of The Dalles cannery.

Mr. A. J. Remington, a pioneer resident along the lower Columbia was in the city last night. Remington's wood yard is where the steamer Dalles City takes on wood.

Ex-Gov. Z. F. Moody returned this morning from a tour through the eastern states. Mr. Moody was a delegate to the convention of republican clubs at Cleveland, and after its session was over took an extended trip through the eastern states.

Mr. Walter J. Davenport of Colfax passed through The Dalles this morning on his way to Southern California. He will go as far south as San Jose and possibly visit Los Angeles. Mr. Davenport is a brother of R. G. Davenport, of The CHRONICLE, and in former years was a resident of The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Sargent arrived home this morning from their extended trip in the Eastern states. While absent they visited their old home in Vermont and stopped in Chicago, Boston, Washington and several of the great cities of the country. They had a most enjoyable journey, but are glad to be home in The Dalles once more.

The boys have a good one on the good looking steward of the Dalles City. One day lately he gallantly volunteered during the dinner hour to hold a lady's baby until the nurse came to his relief.
The nurse came in soon, but instead of taking the baby planked herself down to dinner, perfectly unconscious of the poor steward's misery. As he had other duties to perform he racked his brain to devise means of getting rid of his self-imposed charge and the laugh of his brother officers. The baby was good natured, though, and everything he did to scare it only made it laugh and coo the louder. Finally, in desperation, he pinched it! * * * and now this particular steward don't hold any more babies during the meal hour.—Vancouver Columbian.

spects the interior and if you can be benefited, he will tell you. If not you will get proper advice. Remember there is no charge. Doctor can be seen
