OUR BONDED INDEBTEDNESS.

Dalles City has now called in the last of its warrants, and, if the law is obeyed, no more will be placed in the market. We have been fortunate in liquidating our $57,000 indebtedness at a time when capital was seeking investment in municipal securities, and its owners were willing to take a smaller rate of interest than during times of business activity. If this ends our bonding experience, it is well; but if the readiness with which we disposed of our bonds tempts us to create further obligations and borrow more capital, it will be worse for the city than our former condition, when we were paying 8 per cent on the indebtedness, and struggling hard to pay interest and reduce the principal.

OUR FARMERS THANKFUL.

Never before has the wheat situation attracted greater interest. In former years a good price was such a certainty that it hardly came into consideration; but the vast increase in foreign acreage and the cheapened cost of production in other countries has made it doubtful whether the tiller of the soil shall receive a fair recompense for his labor. After the low prices of last year the farmers are all the more concerned that this season give opportunity of recuperation. Selfish as may be the thought, a shortage in other lands means better prices with us. The latest reports indicate that the fields of Minnesota and Dakota will not bear their expected crops, and that drought there is working great damage. Eastern Oregon farmers should sing a song of thankfulness that the time of anxiety is past with them and soon the noise of the threshing machine will be heard in fields covered with golden grain.

Wasco county warrants are selling today at a premium of one per cent. Several of the county officials have been offered this figure for their scrip, and outside capitalists are eager to obtain all warrants that can be had. The debt of this county is larger than it should be for the amount of taxable property, and the taxpayers wish a reducing process begun. At the same time our credit abroad is very high, and people with money to invest are looking for Wasco county paper as a means of safe investment and sure return. Even in the darkest period of the financial stringency, claims against the county did not fall below a ten-per-cent discount, and with the first sign of returning confidence quickly rose to par. We wish as much could be said for our neighboring county across the river. Wise management in her finances was never needed more than at the present time. A prompt declaration to the outside world that every warrant will be paid and that the delay is caused only by seeking the proper means, would go a long way towards reassuring those who hold Klickitat warrants.

The results of the English elections show a surprising victory for the conservative party. The change of sentiment rivals the elections of last year in the United States, and shows that this country is not the only one that is subject to sudden and radical transferring of political power. Most of the noted leaders in the liberal party have fallen by the wayside. Those who were elected crept in by small majorities. The outlook for Ireland and Home Rule is dark enough now to please the most enthusiastic tory. The party of Gladstone is outside the breastworks, and from present signs their opponents are entrenched too strongly for an early dislodgement.

One of the strongest proofs that the Columbia river bar has lost its terrors is seen when large ships sail from the ocean and anchor in Astoria without the services of a tug. The good ship Viddette, loaded with 600,000 feet of lumber, waited in vain for a tug to arrive, and then the captain, provoked, came in without one. There was not even a pilot aboard acquainted with the river, and it had been years since the captain had crossed the bar. No more convincing recommendation could be given of the satisfactory work done at the jetty. The Columbia bar was once a bugbear; now navigators forget it ever existed.

The most lamentable accidents in the history of The Dalles have occurred by falls from the railroad bridges. If the company could open their road so as to do away with the long trestle over Mill creek, and then guard the other bridge with proper railings, many accidents would be avoided, and some lives no doubt saved. What necessity of engineering located the road across Mill creek in its present position, has been, and ever will be a mystery to ordinary people. Perhaps, after a few more damage suits, the bridges will be made more safe.

Close the Saloons at Midnight.

TO THE EDITOR:—Possibly enough has been said upon the subject of the tendency of some of the boys and young men of this community, and we do not suppose that THE CHRONICLE can change the course of those who have deliberately chosen recklessness, intemperance, or debauching. The law regulating the granting of saloon licenses by the county court compels every applicant to give a bond in the sum of $1,000, conditioned upon his keeping an orderly house, closing his saloon on Sunday, refusing to sell to minors, habitual drunkards or persons under the influence of liquor. A similar regulation in respect to city licenses, if it should be enforced, would no doubt prevent some of the evils arising out of the saloon business.

But another regulation ought to be added and strictly enforced, and that is the closing of saloons and bars from midnight to 6 o'clock a. m. We see no good reason to be urged against such a regulation, and we believe the proprietors of all, except the worst dives, would approve of it. But whether it meets their approval or not, it should be enforced. Young men would be infinitely better off if no barroom were open to them after 12 o'clock; no boy should be out from home anywhere at that time of night. We propose, and urge, that an ordinance be passed that all saloons be closed promptly at 12 o'clock, and that the sale of liquor at any place, except for medicinal purposes, between 12 midnight and 6 a. m. be punished by a fine. We have very efficient officers, who, we believe, will not hesitate to enforce, impartially and strictly, any regulation the council may adopt. If any one can suggest why such a regulation is not both reasonable and salutary, we should be glad to hear from them.

A CITIZEN.

The contractors at the Cascades Locks are building a large dredge for cleaning out the sand at both entrances to the Locks. The dredge will be in dimension 30x60 feet and will be finished in two weeks. When done it will first be placed at work in the upper portion of the canal cleaning out the entrance and when the bulkhead is removed will be taken to the lower end. The contractors still stick to their declaration that work will be done by Christmas and the first of the year will see steamers go from The Dalles to Portland. A large force of men are at work in day and night shifts and around the grounds is an air of activity that is showing good results.

TAKE STEPS

In time, if you are a sufferer from that scourge of humanity known as consumption, and you can be cured. There is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its early stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write to those who have been cured and profit by their experience.
