DEBS CASE IN THE SUPREME COURT.

The full text of the decision of the supreme court in the Debs contempt case has just been published in the law reporters. In the course of that decision the supreme court uses language which should be read by every American citizen and should put to shame every labor agitator and every populist who is decrying the government for its position in this case. Among other things the court says:

"A most earnest and eloquent appeal was made to us in eulogy of the heroic spirit of those who threw up their employment and gave up their means of earning a livelihood, not in defense of their own rights, but in sympathy for and to assist others whom they believed to be wronged. We yield to none in our admiration of any act of heroism or self sacrifice, but we may be permitted to add that it is a lesson which can not be learned too soon or too thoroughly that under this government of and by the people the means of redress of all wrong are through the courts and at the ballot box, and that no wrong, real or fancied, carries with it legal warrant to invite as a means of redress the co-operation of a mob, with its accompanying acts of violence. Summing up our conclusions, we hold that the government of the United States is one having jurisdiction over every foot of soil within its territory, and acting directly upon each citizen; that while it is a government of enumerated powers, it has within the limits of those powers all the attributes of sovereignty; that to it is committed power over inter-state commerce and the transmission of the mail; that the powers thus conferred are not dormant, but have been assumed and put into practical exercise by the legislation of congress; that in the exercise of these powers it is competent for the nation to remove all obstructions upon highways, natural or artificial, to the passage of interstate commerce or the carrying of the mail; that while it may be competent for the government to forcibly remove all such obstructions, it is equally within its competency to appeal to the civil courts for an inquiry and determination as to the existence and character of any alleged obstructions, and if any such are found to exist, or threaten to occur, to invoke the powers of those courts to remove or restrain such obstructions."

The attorneys for Debs contended that the courts could not enjoin the commission of the acts complained of and Debs and his associates could not be guilty of a contempt in disobeying the court's order. When that decision is fully understood no patriotic citizen will question its wisdom, justice and necessity. A government upon any other principles would be no government.

THE HERR-HARVEY DEBATE.

Thus far the great debate, for which so much preparation has been made and toward which so much interest has been excited, has developed nothing new and nothing which the country store statesmen have not known all about, so, these many years, at least what they have not believed they knew all about. Like most political discussions, it will make few converts; the free silver advocate will see the laurel wreath upon Harvey's brow at the close of the debate and the gold bug will declare that Roswell G. has won the gold medal. As to who is victor will be as uncertain as the result of the latest Spanish-Cuban battle. We surmise that less will be accomplished toward a true solution of the great money problem than was done by Mr. Carlisle in his Kentucky campaign, although much less noise was made by him. It is largely a "Chicago sensation," as the San Francisco Call names it.

When the last shot is fired and the whole talk is published, it will be read with great interest by a few only; the silverites will be silverites still and the gold bugs will not change their color. None will be convinced; the people who have time to discuss the question may find in the report fuel to keep up the fires that burn but never consume, and when the question comes before the people, they will vote about as they would have voted had no such great discussion taken place.

free coinage of silver, or the adoption of silver as the standard. These "Five Points" are:

1. There is not a free coinage country in the world today that is not on a silver basis.
2. There is not a gold standard country in the world today that does not use silver money along with gold.
3. There is not a silver standard country in the world today that uses any gold along with silver.
4. There is not a silver standard country in the world today that has more than one-third of the circulation per capita that the United States has.
5. There is not a silver standard country in the world today where the laboring man receives fair pay for his day's work.

So far as we know Mr. Carlisle has stated substantially the truth in these five declarations, and has said more in them than Harvey and Horr will say in ten days.

"Light Fantastic" Is a Part of the Training of an Equestrienne.

Among all the necessary studies that form part of the education of an equestrienne there is one fundamental and primary one, to which she devotes as much time as to the riding school—this is the art of dancing. Dancing lessons make her turn her feet and knees out, teach her to carry her arms and head well, and give her equilibrium and grace. There are some instances of dancers who, having injured themselves in the exercise of their art, have learned to ride standing in less than a year. Note the exceeding-grace of the women who ride in the Great Wallace Shows.

Departure Postponed.

Dr. Lewenberg, the eye specialist, begs to state that on account of a number of cases coming from the surrounding country and others of this place still under advisement, that he has postponed his departure from here till next Wednesday evening. This gives you another opportunity to consult him. Don't miss it. You may not get another chance to have your eyes examined free. jyl20d3ts.
