BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

Additional Local on Fourth Page.

The thermometer stood 95 degrees at 3 o'clock today.

Walter Rowe returned Saturday from Salem and is now a resident of The Dalles.

The weather forecast for tomorrow is cooler, followed by warmer weather Wednesday.

George McNulty, mention of whose serious illness was made some time ago, shows a slight improvement.

Just received a line of U M C new club and excelsior loaded shot gun shells at Main & Benton's hardware store.

The Regulator carried 120 bales of wool to Cascades this morning. Business still continues brisk for the boat line.

Joseph T. Peters & Co. have just received a Carver & Steele header. The frame is all steel and the machine one of the best in the market.

The expressmen should be careful and not leave their horses for any length of time when not absolutely necessary. Some one may be hurt by runaway horses.

There will be a special meeting of the board of fire delegates this Monday evening at the city hall to appoint polling places for the election of chief which takes place August 5th.

Sheriff Driver went to Portland Saturday and brought back Myron Taft charged with stealing some grain. Taft will have an examination tomorrow afternoon and is now confined in the county jail.

Mr. A. B. Hepburn, president of the Third National bank of New York, has written for the August number of The Forum an article fully explaining the operations of the Bond Syndicate, pointing out the excellent results which have followed its work.

A young man named John Dalrymple was arrested Saturday by Constable Urquhart, charged with the larceny of some cattle the property of a Mr. Brooks, who lives out in the country. The examination will be held tomorrow afternoon in Justice Davis' court.

W. R. Robinson, brakeman on a freight train, met with an accident at Hood River which cost him two of his toes. He was attempting to get on the cars when his foot slipped and caught under the wheel. During recovery John Gomez will take his place on the road.

Some citizens indulge in the fun of racing horses up and down the streets.

As there is an ordinance against fast riding or driving the speed should be regulated. It seems infectious for horses to go fast these days and even the express horses are catching the fever as attested by the numerous runaways.

Six cars loaded with horses passed through The Dalles this morning bound for the canning establishment at Portland. Some of the horses were very pretty animals and it is an unkind fate that decrees their being put up in cans. The horse seems destined not to long survive the savage Indian, whose faithful ally he once was.

Some youngsters have been bathing along the river front without the necessary paraphernalia to clothe them properly and the marshal taught a lesson Saturday by making arrests and putting them in jail. An hour or two in the cooler gave the lads time to reflect and the next time they go swimming they will be attired in tights made of flour sacks.

More travel is said to come and go from The Dalles than from any city of the same size. Besides the boat, which carries good passenger lists each way every day, the railroad does a good business. The receipts at the ticket offices are larger than any other station on the line in Oregon outside of Portland. The Regulator does the best paying business of any line on the Columbia river.

Maurus Jokai, the distinguished Hungarian poet, novelist, historian and patriot, has written for the August number of The Forum a highly interesting article entitled "My Literary Recollections,"—practically an autobiography of his life. In the same number of The Forum will appear an extremely valuable and interesting article on the "Opening of the Goethe Archives" by Professor Eric Schmidt, of the University of Berlin, who had charge of the Goethe Archives for several years.

Charles Hess, a citizen of Goldendale, passed through The Dalles yesterday morning in company with his brother and a deputy sheriff. Mr. Hess is suffering from an attack of insanity, which at times is of a violent type. Policemen Connelly and Haslam were sent for to assist in subduing the unfortunate man. The only way by which he could be controlled was to chain him to his brother, for whom he shows a great regard. In this way the victim of insanity's blight was placed upon the cars and taken to the asylum.

The police made a haul last night and the city jail held five occupants this morning, all charged with being drunk and disorderly. Two of the offenders were from the country who had fallen too readily into the error of city ways. They were fined $5 a piece which they paid and went their way. Among the group was a Chinaman who got hilarious over the recent repulse of the Japanese by the Chinamen on Formosa. His patriotism was rated at $5. The others were common drunks and will spend a few days in the shade of the city jail till the warm weather passes by.

IN THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Divine Services At the Different Houses of Worship—Union Services in the Methodist Church.

At the Congregational church yesterday morning Rev. W. C. Curtis preached very acceptably from the text "From that time many of his disciples went back and walked no more with him." The discourse went to show that steadfast followers were what Christ wanted and not those whose emotions made them at one time eager to follow in the faith and then their ardor cooled. Owing to the absence of several of the choir no anthems were sung. The attendance considering the heated day was very good.

Last evening the Methodist and the Congregational churches united in their evening service, the pastors of each church taking part in the service.

Rev. J. H. Wood preached the sermon of the evening, and his theme was "Spiritual Life and Growth." From the physical world he drew illustrations showing how the environments of trees and plants were indications of their life and growth, such as the green leaf and the expanding bud. So in the spiritual world the indications could be traced and tell if there was life and growth. He showed that there could be no life without growth, and scouted the idea that persons could not tell whether they had spiritual life. At the close he urged all to take this spiritual gift, which was so freely offered to all, and announced a short after-meeting to be held at the close of the regular service. The sermon was forcible, logical and well received.

It is proposed to hold another union service next Sunday evening, and at that time it will be held in the Congregational church. Mr. Wood urged his people to attend.

Rev. I. H. Hazel held services at the Christian church morning and evening. Next Wednesday and Thursday evenings a lecture will be given in the church by Rev. H. E. Mosser of California.

Services were also held in the Calvary Baptist and in the Catholic church. At the latter place Rev. Placidus Feurst of Mt. Angel college conducted services.

There had been a cessation in runaways for several days, but this morning the season reopened with redoubled vigor. The Pacific Express company horse led off with a neat spurt on Second street from Washington to Court. The horse was overtaken by a footracer and soon brought back. After quiet had been restored, Stephens' express team backed away from the sidewalk and without any warning signal started for anywhere. They made the two blocks from Washington to Union street in better time than the Mt. Hood hose company's best record. Near Crandall & Burget's the horses ran against the sidewalk. One of the animals fell and slipped partly under the walk while the other horse and a part of the wagon were on the sidewalk. Not much damage was done except some breaks on the wagon.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Frank Allen of Camp Watson is in the city.

Mr. W. H. Wilson returned yesterday evening from attending the supreme court at Pendleton.

Mr. W. R. Winans of Hood River was in the city yesterday, returning home on this morning's boat.

Miss Louise Michelbach, in company with Miss Kate Howell of Portland, has gone to San Francisco for a visit.

Mr. Hubert Rodgers, one of Bradstreet's agents, who has been at work in The Dalles for several days, was a passenger on the west bound local today.

Dr. O. F. Botkin spent yesterday in The Dalles visiting friends. Dr. Botkin was a resident of The Dalles several years ago, but is now practicing medicine at Mt. Tabor.

Mr. George L. Strong, formerly editor of the Mitchell Monitor, is in The Dalles today and gave The Chronicle a pleasant call. Mr. Strong is on his way to Montana to make his residence. The Monitor under Mr. Strong's management had a prosperous career and was a great benefit to the community in which it was published.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
