The exhibition of fire eating by Signor Le Compte at Sam Thurman's pavilion attracted a large crowd last night, and those who saw the gentleman swallow fire seemed greatly pleased with the performance.

Watermelons are beginning to arrive quite freely in the markets and soon will become a common article. Shipments to places abroad are being made every day. Dalles melons are pronounced superior to those from any other place.

The trial of H. F. Jackson, charged with keeping a bawdy house, came off yesterday before Justice Birnie at Cascade Locks. A. S. Bennet appeared for defense, while G. W. Phelps appeared for the state. The case was warmly contested and at its conclusion, the justice took the matter under advisement, saying he would render a decision at an early date.

There are seven occupants in the county jail receiving the kind attentions of Jailer Fitzgerald. Most of them are awaiting examination by the grand jury and have several months of weary confinement before their cases will be heard.

If The Dalles is to be represented in the Vancouver tournament it is time for preparations to be begun. We want to see a good team represent the town and all it needs is for some one to take the lead. Let a meeting be called and the matter talked over.

A new building was started this morning on the vacant lot next to Branner's restaurant. The lumber for the foundation and underpinning is on the ground and the building will be rapidly pushed to completion. When finished it will be fitted up and occupied as a saloon.

The front deck of the Regulator was filled last night with a large threshing machine, which was billed to A. J. Douglas, at Dufur. The huge machine was handled without any trouble at the portage and shows that the boat company can carry any kind of freight.

The car of plums, which left The Dalles several days ago, reached Denver yesterday and the agent here was wired of its arrival. As soon as the lists can be made out the results of the sales will be forwarded and made known to the shippers here. This will probably be tomorrow or next day.

The drugstore of the Snipes-Kinerly Drug Company is undergoing thorough renovation. Twenty-six incandescence lights have been placed along the walls, and today paper hangers are papering the ceiling. The shelving and counters will be painted in light colors and when the job is completed the store will be a thing of beauty.

Blind Sam, the wandering bard, is in town again, after spending several months on his ranch and will again amuse the populace by his quaint songs and actions. Sam is quite a character and possesses something of genius in poetical lines. He is well known all over the country and is always good natured and ready for a little fun.

There is quite a traffic growing on in arrow heads between Indians and some of our citizens, who have a desire for these relics of a former day. The Indians are quite industrious in finding the flints and sell them readily. Rev. W. C. Curtis and Dr. Sutherland have both fine collections and are continually adding beautiful specimens. The Indians recognize the law of supply and demand, and are disposed to raise prices as arrowheads become scarcer.

The warehouses are looking lonesome. The Wasco warehouse is being rapidly denuded of wool, while Moody's is nearly empty. Large amounts have been shipped each day since forwarding began. The baler at the Wasco warehouse will continue working for a week or ten days yet and then this season's crop will be cleaned up. The returns this year are very satisfactory—considering hard times and free trade—and the wool men have disbursed a large amount of money among the merchants of The Dalles.

Capt. Levi Chrisman of Co. G, and Capt. Ad. Keller, inspector of rifle practice for the Third Regiment, went out this morning to find a place suitable for rifle practice. The intention is to give the militia boys a thorough drill in this necessary part of the soldiers art. As the gentlemen started on their chargers, the report soon spread that they had left for Jackson's Hole—but like the massacre—this proved a mistake.

The Baptist church was well filled last night by an audience gathered to hear E. A. Taylor lecture on Catholicism. The evening opened with prayer by Rev. I. H. Hazel, of the Christian church, followed by the singing of several hymns. The lecturer spoke about an hour and delivered an address dealing with the historical phase of religious questions and discussed the religious and educational questions of today. The gentleman is a speaker of fair ability and held the attention of his audience. At the close a collection was taken to defray the expenses of the meeting.

Mr. C. S. Moses, who has been in this city buying wool for the past three months, leaves for his home in California today. Mr. Moses is the largest operator in wool on this coast and the high prices realized in this market during the present season have been, in a great measure, due to his spirited bidding. He has secured more Oregon wool than any other buyer. During his stay he has made many friends, and his patronizing of the Regulator line has demonstrated that he thought the line which forced the low rates of transportation should be entitled to the business.

Mr. Hansen, who has been working on Donovan's scow, brought to town yesterday some specimens of coal, which he found a few miles below Lyle landing. The coal is of the soft variety, such as comes from the Puget Sound mines, but is the genuine article and appears to be of good quality. Mr. Hansen had seen indications in the neighborhood for some time and followed them up till he struck the ledge, measuring over six feet. The lucky discoverer went immediately to Vancouver, where he took all necessary steps towards getting ownership of the mine. The place, where the coal is, lies in easy access from the river and steps will soon be taken for the development of the mine. It has always been believed that coal could be found in the country surrounding The Dalles and for several years prospecting has been going on. Possibly this find may lead to further ones.

We recommend De Witt's Colic and Cholera Cure because we believe it a safe and reliable remedy. It's good effects are shown at once in cases of Cholera Morbus and similar complaints. For sale by Snipes-Kinerly Drug Co.
