BRIEF MENTION.

Leaves From the Notebook of Chronicle Reporters.

The weather report for tomorrow, says fair and cooler.

Wheat fell three-quarters of a cent in Chicago yesterday.

The list of examination questions are published on the fourth page.

The Regulator took thirteen horses down the river this morning.

The moral wave has struck The Dalles with great force. There hasn't been an offender in the police court for several days.

A special car containing magnets from an eastern road was attached to the local train today and made the trip from Portland and return.

Gent's, don't forget that you can get your shirts, collars and cuffs laundered in first-class style by the Troy Laundry Co. Office at T. J. McCoy's. O. K. baths 110 Second street. a15 4t

A marriage license was issued by the clerk this afternoon to George R. Moorehead and Mrs. L. A. Dougherty. Both parties are from Antelope where the ceremony will take place.

Three six-horse teams from Klickitat, drawing wheat, unloaded at the Diamond mills this morning. The wheat was from last year's yield, which had been held over to obtain a better price.

The handsome delivery wagon of Pease & Mays is seen again on the streets, after a tussle with the elephant of the Wallace shows. The wagon looks as though the elephant never had hold of it.

The local merchants are busy getting in goods for the fall trade. Every day dray loads of merchandise are unloaded. Our business men expect a large and increased trade when the fall season opens, and are taking time by the forelock.

The fresh breeze that is blowing today will probably bring the scow, loaded with piling for the new steamer dock, up to town. Everything is in readiness to begin as soon as the piling arrives. The pile driver has been put in good working order, and only waiting for something to drive.

The railroad company will run an excursion to the locks next Sunday when the big excursion from Eastern Oregon arrives. The time-table will be so arranged that parties who go will have a whole day at the locks. The exact time is not yet announced. The round trip fare will be a dollar.

Mr. J. W. Enderaby from 8-Mile brought to THE CHRONICLE office a curious snake, which he found in the field. The reptile is colored blue and red—half of one color and half of the other. The line of demarkation is very plain. Its length is about 12 inches. Never having had them, THE CHRONICLE force is not very familiar with snakes, but this is the most peculiar one it ever saw.

The chinamen, who have been employed in Herrick's cannery during the fishing season, took up their beds and walked aboard the boat this morning bound for Portland. The season has not been a very profitable one for the celestials and they go back little richer than they came.

Less than a dozen men appeared at the armory last evening, so the regular weekly drill was postponed. A great many of the members of Co. G are out of the city, either at work in the harvest fields or at places of recreation, so the ranks are a good deal decimated. Next month will see the company with its usual quota again.

Attention is called to the advertisement of St. Mary's Academy, which appears in another column. This excellent institution begins its next scholastic year on September 2d, prepared to do the best of educational work. Efficient courses are provided, under the supervision of thorough teachers. The rates of tuition are low, and the students placed under the best of influences.

The board of fire delegates at its last meeting canvassed the votes cast at the firemen's election, and declared F. Faulkner elected chief and Ernest Jacobsen assistant chief. There was no business of importance that came before the board. It was expected that an appeal would be presented from some members of the Columbia hose company over some action which took place in their rather celebrated meeting; but if such was the intention, the appeal failed to materialize.

Over 700 sacks of this year's wheat have already been received at the Wasco warehouse. Two hundred sacks of last year's crop have also come in. The market has not fairly commenced, but some wheat was sold at forty-five cents. This argues well for a good price when the season opens in earnest, as there are now no outside buyers in town. The new wheat came from points within a short radius of The Dalles, but a few days will see it coming from quite a distance. A great deal of wheat will be handled by the warehouses this season.

John Knight, sheriff of Marion county, arrived on the early train this morning. He came after Ed. Herman, who was confined in our county jail and who was caught disposing of pocket knives in The Dalles. The knives were stolen from the hardware store of Nathan and Marjgold of Gervais. Sheriff Knight informs us that he has one of his accomplices confined in the jail at Salem, having found about three dozen of the knives on his person. Sheriff Driver accompanied Mr. Knight on his return, taking with him Carl Ostlund to the reform school.

Rumored Accident to Charles Hobart.

A rumor spread rapidly over the city this morning that Charles Hobart, a railroad engineer, well known to residents of The Dalles, had been killed in a railroad accident on the Northern Pacific. The news was that the rails spread, causing the engine to topple over, and killing both Mr. Hobart and his fireman. Another rumor said it happened in a collision. A telegram was sent to Cascade Locks, where C. C. Hobart, the father of Charles, lives, asking for information, but the answer came that the father had not received any message. Messages were sent to different points, but up to a late hour no answers had been received.

LATER—A telegram has just been received, saying Mr. Hobart was not killed, as reported, but had his ankle broken. The fireman was killed.

Refrigerator car, 31956, which left The Dalles July 25th, over the O. R. & N. Co. and Short Line, has been heard from. It was loaded with peach plums and small fruits, and from here was billed to Chicago, which place was reached in six days after leaving The Dalles. The Chicago market was found glutted with fruit, and after a day's delay, the car was re-shipped to New York. In ten days from The Dalles it reached the metropolis. The fruit was in excellent condition, and found a ready sale. This experience demonstrates that fruit can be shipped from Oregon to anywhere, and next season the amount of shipments will be greatly increased.

This is the smokiest summer The Dalles has ever seen. The dense cloud hangs over the country like a pall, completely shutting from view the surrounding hills. At some times the other shore of the river is hardly discernible. The tourist travel is utterly demoralized, as the beauties of the Columbia are hidden from view. The fires are much nearer town than a few days ago, as falling cinders have been noticed. An early rain in the mountains would come as a blessing to the people who are fighting with the flames for their homes and property.

The condition of Frank Williams, who was so seriously hurt by being thrown from a horse near the Deschutes, still continues precarious. The accident happened eleven weeks ago, during which time the injured man has never left his bed. Last Sunday he grew much worse, and for a time was thought to be near death, but rallied again, and just at present is resting easier. Unless another relapse comes with a few days, his friends hope to see him started on the road to recovery.
